Dear FCC,

My name is Ben Weigel and I live in Millersburg, IN.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

A free and open internet is the greatest tool we have for the advancement of humankind; intellectually, scientifically, culturally, sustainably, ethically, and economically.

Sincerely,

Ben Weigel
