Dear FCC,

My name is Leon Davidovic and I live in Youngstown, OH.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it the entire internet will turn into a corporate only playground and free speech on the internet will be effectively silenced.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

The Internet is important to me because, as a university student, I need to know that there will not be barriers to entry for public works.

Sincerely,

Leon Davidovic
