Dear FCC,

My name is Zac Oyama and I live in Los Angeles, CA.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it users may have fewer options and a less diverse Internet.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

I find the internet to be an inspiring place. To censor that would be terrible.

Sincerely,

Zac Oyama
