Dear FCC,

My name is Brandon Stewart and I live in Franklin, KY.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

The internet has always been the one place where people could succeed or fail based solely on the quality of their content, and NOT based on money, position, influence, politics, etc. I believe it should stay that way.

Sincerely,

Brandon Stewart
