Dear FCC,

My name is Aaron and I live in silsbee, TX.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because new, innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed.

The internet is what I use to make a living, educate myself and for entertainment. Any restriction would make us just like china or other countries that limit information for the people. The FCC and gov rarely do what right for the people and i understand that. but if you limit our internet we will remove all of you from your positions. all of you. I will make it my mission to legally and peacefully vote you all out.

Sincerely,

Aaron
