Dear FCC,

My name is Mike Wagner and I live in Kettering, OH.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it ISPs could have too much power to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services but not others.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

I don't need, nor do I want, anyone deciding for me what Internet sites I can access. Furthermore, I don't want a price-tiered construct like I already have with cable television, cellular phones, and more. The Internet and access to it is fine as it is. Go do something worthwhile and leave this alone.

Sincerely,

Mike Wagner
