Dear FCC,

My name is Madelyn Rosa and I live in Manchester, MO.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it users may have fewer options and a less diverse Internet.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

The Internet is important to me because as an American, my rights to freedom are being restricted and the internet is something the government should never censor as it will only oppress citizens and cause for future rebellion and distrust in our own country. Respect the laws of the land and the voices of the people.

Sincerely,

Madelyn Rosa
