Dear FCC,

My name is Shuput Ryan and I live in Salt Lake City, UT.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it users may have fewer options and a less diverse Internet.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

The overwhelming shift in this country towards oligarchy is astounding and repulsive. The fact that the head(s) of so many institutions created to protect the American people are run by the clearly interest conflicted lobbyists in disguise will be the fall of this Rome. However, it's not too late on this front. So, please, really pretty please, stop bending Americans over the fence from behind closed doors and do right by the mobs of people that very clearly outnumber the meager number of appointees and delegates in control. Mad mobs sound scary!

Sincerely,

Shuput Ryan
