

7521676477.txt

The Internet should remain open. No one should have too much control. Net neutrality fosters creativity and encourages innovation via startups.