

7521676578.txt

Technology has been getting ahead of our collective management of it. We must slow down putting technological power and resources into the hands of huge business interests.