

Hello FCC,

Please keep the internet a fair ground for ALL companies, big or small. That is how we have achieved the great internet as we know it today. Because on the internet, everybody has a voice, no matter how big your bankroll is. If we allow big companies to pay for priority, it will no doubt have a snowball effect and totally destroy the diversity and equal opportunity that the internet now provides. If Tom Wheeler is not going to accept the voice of the people on this decision, then perhaps it is time we look to another chairman, one who will act on behalf of the people and is not so influenced by money and greed, which we see way too often in today's capitalist society.
