

7521682551.txt

This should be a "no brainer". Yes a carrier should be required to inform a customer when they are about to incur extra charges. That lets us, the customer be in control, not them.

TKE