Dear FCC,

My name is Jocelyn Oblizajek and I live in Sylvania, OH.

Net neutrality, the principle that Internet service providers (ISPs) treat all data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me because without it users may have fewer options and a less diverse Internet.

A pay-to-play Internet worries me because ISPs could act as the gatekeepers to their subscribers.

The internet is one of the only facets in which innovative ideas can blossom. To place restrictions on it is like placing a restriction on the human mind and all that we as a human race potentially have to offer.

Sincerely,

Jocelyn Oblizajek
