Dear FCC,

My name is attorney Michael Ehline and I live in Los Angeles, California. I am also a personal injury attorney, and president of the Circle of Legal Trust. We are outraged at the appointment of Thomas Wheeler as FCC head. How can a pro Net Neutrality president appoint an ISP lobbyist as FCC head? This is a tragedy and breach of faith as far as I can see. Read more here: <http://circleoflegaltrust.com/political-donors-courts-move-to-erode-net-neutrality/>

Net neutrality, mandates that Internet service providers (ISPs) neutrally serve up data that travels over their networks equally, is important to me and my constituents, because without it, ISPs will have their own tollbooth on the freeway that was already paid for with taxpayer dollars. This will allow Mr. Wheeler's friends to determine my Internet experience by providing better access to some services, and not others. This pay to use what I already paid for Internet worries me inter alia, because better, newer, and more innovative services that can't afford expensive fees for better service will be less likely to succeed and it will eventually turn the Internet into the old Yellow pages model.

The Internet is important to me because, as a researcher, attorney, philosopher and activist, I need to know that there will not be barriers to entry for the new ideas and services that I hope to bring to the marketplace for fellow lawyer and consumers alike. If ISP subscribers are able to keep what they already have, insofar as equal load speeds, etc, new and existing companies and new, innovative products and services we can all go on our merry way. We are requesting the immediate removal of Mr. Wheeler as FCC head, and a non political, pro citizen head be put in his place forthwith, and that his directives be rebuked and rescinded.

Sincerely,

Michael Ehline
