Re: GN Docket No. 14-28, Protecting and Promoting the Open Internet
GN Docket No. 10-127, *Framework for Broadband Internet Service

Dear Ms. Dortch,

Enclosed please find the signatures and comments of thousands of Free Press activists urging the Federal Communications Commission to protect real Net Neutrality.

Since the FCC's proposed rules were announced we have seen a groundswell of public opposition to that proposal. We call on the FCC to abandon any unworkable rules based on compromised legal theories, and instead reclassify ISPs as common carriers.

Rely on the internet more every year rather than less —Sherryl Sprunger, Berne, IN

Keep the Internet free!
—Bob Haddard, Springfield, TN

The Internet is a lifeline for our economy. It belongs to the world, not to Verizon. Please, keep the information highway open for all to use freely.
—Ms. Peggy Ross, Decorah, IA

Freedom is most important human achievement. Dont take it from us !
—Dusan Deuric, ,

Stop working for corporations!!
—Cindy Koch, Long Beach, CA

2014
—W F. Noble, BOSTON, MA

I have only ONE high speed internet provider in my area. I have no ability to switch if my internet provider decides to discriminate against the web sites I go to.
—Cliff Carson, Woodstock, NY

Please do the right thing for the majority of American citizens and restore Net Neutrality, please!
—William Mancuso, Ada, OH

Please help protect us from the powerful.
—Robert Strain, Arlington, VA

If the NET is censored then this tantamount to book burning.
—Michael Smith, Winchester, MA

Who is running who in the gov't? Seems like it is surely not the people. Listen to the masses.
—Brenda Bracey, Richmond, VA

This kind of blatant censorship in the "Land of the Free" is a bloody disgrace!!! Hands off the Net!
—Michael L. Dellger, Sheboygan, WI

Please protect our use of the internet. Free of corporate manipulations to charge more or restrict our freedom to use the internet as we are now able to use the internet.
—Michael Bourke, Butler, KS

This is still America - Let Freedom Ring!
—Aleta, Asheville, NC

freedom of the press must be understood to include, in the 21st century, freedom of the airways, in the best possible sense, of course.

—Ann Graham, Wichita, KS

The right thing to do is so obvious, FCC. Preserve net-neutrality so that the Internet can remain the vast wealth of information it has become, for generations to come. Not just a monetized library for ISP's.

—Timothy Griffin, Metairie, LA

Eventually when you rich people have bled the poor people dry they will eventually take to the streets and kill the rich ones. Just saying.

—Colin Dunn, Glenview, IL

Side on the side of us citizens for once!

—Joseph Lomonaco, brattleboro, VT

Kepp the internet open! The way it was meant to be!

—Nestor Moyano, Mount Laurel, NJ

What Happened to Fairness For the Masses?

—Eleanor Kaye, HALNDLE BCH, FL

The free internet still exists, whether you recognize it or not.

—Stephan Lubega, Altadena, CA

FREEDOM

—Carol P., Tahoe Vista, CA

do not destroy the last bastion of unfettered sharing of information!

—Mark Walleman, pulaski, TN

So many customers are already subscribers to DSL. Charging more for connections will only find people unsubscribing and going back to printed material. If that is the goal, then I think they will succeed. This is just plain greed.

—Richard Eng, Hancock, NY

Remember TVA

—Dan Mitchell, Green Bay, WI

Plutocracy is ruining this democracy. Money has always ruled here only Reagan gave it the go ahead and started the gov't on the road to not for the people but only for profiteers. Get a spine and stand up doe us.

—Kenneth W. Winkle, Kenosha, WI

ISPs are common carriers. The FCC's failure to designate them as such is inexcusable and must be corrected immediately.

—Mark Lloyd Baker, Globe, AZ

Stand up for the people for once. Please?

—John Luchsinger, Madison, WI

We are watching!

—Herman Hardy, pittsburgh, PA

Net Neutrality needs to remain a fundamental principle of internet access. It has helped create a truly open, level field for everyone. Striking down net neutrality would change the quality and vitality of Internet activity. Millions of small businesses would be disadvantaged, as well as individual users.

—Katherine Marschall, ,

Lets not let the Big Corporations decide how and to whom we can communicate.

—Dale Ernest Ryder, San Marcos, TX

Restricting our access for information will only harm our future and our childrens future. Open internet is our right as a free country.

—Floyd Dalton, Oak Harbor, WA

I refuse to pay for broadband that I won't be able to use. TIERED internet is unacceptable

—Patty Diana, Glendale, AZ

It is time to take a stand against corporate control of everything!

—Mr. David Lock, Ada, MI

This is not right and YOU KNOW THIS

—Cindy Ragland, Lanett, AL

Already cable network and cell phones are a large part of the average families budget. Giving the wealthy faster and more complete access to the internet will be several nails in the coffin of the middle class.

—MarvisShelby, Tucson, AZ

First Amendment rights are for real human people and should protected.

—JA Dingman, Greensboro, NC

Please don't make another mistake like "corporations are people". Don't ruin the internet for the citizens. Thank you.

—Robert and Janice Gailfus, Puyallup, WA

This deeply concerns, please restore things as they were.

—Geoff Giovan, Charlestown, RI

Broadband is Quite Clearly a Communication Service. Because of the Popularity of the Internet and the use of Cellphones, Millions of Americans have actually abandoned the use of traditionally communication systems, virtually making broadband access the go to carrier. This change is good for the ease of disseminating information, researching new information, and accessing historical and future information. Therefore; this newer and more powerful communications service, which the majority of Americans now use is vital to trade, business, and ordinary day to day exchange of democratic ideas, that no entity or Corporation, shall have to much control over this medium. Net Neutrality needs to Be Restored, and treated like any other communications service, because there can not be any entity that possesses more power over this medium, than the Power of the People, in the United States of America.

—Shawn Sargent, West Yarmouth, MA

Leave the Internet alone!

—Bruce Harris, Springfield, MO

Every time they mention "competition" and they win they immediately collude to raise prices higher and higher for less and less. KEEP THE WEB FREE AND OPEN!!!

—, Rockbridge, OH

Stop the "Greedy Bastards" (CEO's from robbing we the people.) Enough is enough!!!

—Warren William Stouch, Berwyn, PA

I am speechless in a way, it's just the words I'd use aren't suitable for print.

—Gary Glen Barrett, Lampasas, TX

It's not bad enough to have NSA spy on us, now you are trying to take away Ne neutrality????

—Dorothy L. Tartaglia, Silver Spring, MD

I thought our first Amendment protects us from censorship.

—Julie S Viegutz, Parma, OH

Why can't you do anything for the doomed?

—John Adams, Southington, OH

do your job fcc and protect the commons.

—Al Cohen, hummelstown, PA

Protect the Internet Service that is a Valuable Tool for the American People.

—Marc McGuire, Venice, LA

You may as well also track everywhere I go and report it to the NSA.

—Robert Marx, Madison Heights, MI

This will Destroy jobs!

—Brendan R, savannah, GA

Help us, please!

—Steven Rogat, Pittsboro, NC

Do your job. Who on the FCC Board are being paid off? We will find out?

—Christopher Mootham, Granite Bay, CA

Stop corporate control of the internet. The internet is for all and should be equal access for all. The telecoms will make their investment in infrastructure back many times. Don't let their tale of woe sway you.

—Brian Galford, Sharon, MA

We must have net neutrality. Loss of this is a loss of yet another of our freedoms!

—Anne Curranj, Sarasota, FL

Stop trying to take away our freedoms!!

—Justin Bilyj, Lakewood, OH

Don't give business everything

—John E Muth, Saint Augustine, FL

With VoiIP, the Internet is a telecommunications service and should be subject to common carrier rules.

—W Flanagan, Oakton, VA

Clearly broadband internet has evolved to become a utility, necessary for almost everyone to function in our society today. It is a telecom service.

—Sam Hay, Mooresville, NC

it is not the govt we have to fear. it is the mega corporations and global oligopolies that control govt that will deprive us of our liberty

—T S, River Grove, IL

THIS IS AMERICA !!!

—Ed Moss, la mesa, CA

ISPs cannot be trusted to self-regulate and act in the best interests of the people. They have shown this time and time again.

—Steven Richmond, Madison, WI

No homogenized, censored Internet.

—Roseann Dudrick, Boulder Creek, CA

Disabled people have restricted access already. Now, they will pay for expensive service that is not 100% accessible.

—Ray Boling, Raleigh, NC

the net should be for everyone equally. and it was created with that in mind. stop big ugly govt from changing that. appeal that stupid judicial decision

—Jean Public, not available, NJ

We don't want corporate greed to take away our rights.

—Alex Sponza, Covington Township, PA

There should be a firewall between content providers and service providers to ensure maximum competition, and prevent monopolization.

—Anthony Doherty, Round Hill, VA

Say no to this. We've lost enough freedoms

—Charlie Radl, Sauk City, WI

Please stop this action of internet inequality. Why give those with money more power to control the flow of information to the less fortunate? Strive for internet equality and neutrality and harness the internet's power for the greater good of its users, the citizens.

—, Jupiter, FL

Save the Web....keep it neutral!

—Josephine Irvine-groves, richmond, OH

Why, all of a sudden, big business has the ability to overturn net neutrality? Rules need to be strengthened so as to limit all telecommunications companies to limit our access to the internet.

—Melvin Bautista, St Michaels, AZ

It is the FCC's responsibility to keep the Internet neutral.

—Gregory Rossi, Waterford, MI

NOW

—Ed C Later, Royal Oak, MI

Restoring net neutrality is essential to an open internet for all. This is far too important and the FCC must act to ensure everyone has equal and reliable access to the internet.

—Joan Davis, Palm Bay, FL

Free speech and free assembly are Constitutionally guaranteed. The internet is a PUBLIC forum where people meet; it is not a private money making corporation. Allowing corporations free reign over what people can access in a public forum is unconstitutional. It is like allowing the water company to deny a family a sip of water.

—George Motisher, Greenville, SC

This is particularly destructive to Senior Citizens living on small incomes from Social Security. Many of us are restricted on travel and contacts. This is just another way to further isolate them. Put a stop to this!

—Sue Sue Baldwin-O'Dea, Godfrey, IL

I will quit my computer I don't need it that bad. This is just another and the rich gewt richer

—Pauline Priestley, Fenton, MI

An open internet is democratic, allow it to be.

—Patt Doyle, Heisson, WA

We already pay a lot to use the internet and we don't need these greedy bastards to make it cost us more. Stop them, please.

—Barbara Kantola, Niles, MI

The internet is freedom...stop the oppression!

—Carlos Bernier, Philadelphia, PA

what ever happened to freedom of the press? Or free speech fot that matter! Please stop this take,take,take attitude that corporate Ameica is doing to us. We are americans and every day we lose the right to something that was one intolerable to think of, What is happening to us? NO I STAND WITH ORG!!!

—Kim Stewart, Waukegan, IL

FCC, dudes and dudettes, what the hell? GO GET'EM! :D

—João Gonçalves, Lisboa,

you want people in the US to finally get off their asses and start a revolution? probably not. don't take away net neutrality.

—Donald a brown Jr., sterling, MA

No more SOPAs or PIPAs! Keep the Internet open to everybody!

—Joseph Horowitz, Portsmouth, NH

—Steven Hayworth, Ypsilanti, MI

We rarely, if ever, watch the news on television anymore; we get it on the internet. I don't want my server deciding who I can watch, at what price. Same goes for shopping...it's so much more convenient to go where I want on the internet. Will this action kill off the smaller vendors? No fair! There should be one basic price for access to the internet, and no one deciding WHAT we visit online.

—Marianne Bodine, Monroe City, MO

The judges involved in this piece of corporate largess need to have their heads examined. If broadband isn't a communications services, what the hell is it?

—Bruce Farnum, New Boston, NH

The internet should be as open and free for information access as our public libraries are for modern books and literature.

—Blitz Carthey, New York, NY

we the people FCC

—Francis Hall, Duluth, GA

Enough already. Cut this bs and let people have their internet at lower rates and access to the sites we want.

—Barbra Morman, Mount Pleasant, TX

PLEASE DO NOT LET THEM DAMAGE MY INTERNET MORE THAN THEY ALREADY HAVE !!!!!

—John E. Robie Sr., ORLANDO, FL

Net neutrality is essential! you cannot have a tiered system that will work. this is simply about gree and avarice by big corporations. Stop this now! The internet is for EVERYONE!!!

—Kathleen Kitch, Willow Creek, CA

The Government, Corporations and 1 per centers have taken away most of our personal freedoms while using our tax dollars against the 99 per cent. Open Internet access is one of the only freedoms we still retain. Please stop this attack on personal freedom???

—Gary Lee, Owens Cross Roads, AL

These companies depend on public infrastructure and public airwaves...they should be held to a public standard of performance and regulation...not their own business preference.

—G Kron, Conklin, NY

What is the FCC good for if not to protect actual people from greedy, sneaky corporations like Verizon?

—Patricia Victour, Espanola, NM

Please take the necessary steps to make broadband networks open, accessible, reliable, and affordable for everyone.

—Donna Abrahamson, Bismarck, ND

We must keep net neutrality because it will slow down any social and economic progress for the 99%

—Kim Kaufman, Los Angeles, CA

Stop bowing to special interests

—, Howell, MI

SERIOUSLY!!

—Ms. Lorna Emerich, Spokane, WA

The Internet is for the public and private corporations have no business in dictating.

—Robert Fingerman, Monteagle, TN

Stop Corporate FAVORITISM !!

—Johnes Ruta, New Haven, CT

The internet is one thing these corporate monsters have not been able to take control of, yet. If they win, we loose, information that is relevant will no longer be accessible, only their corporate buddies' messages will be allowed to be heard. This main information tool will cease to be useful to humanity and only serve its corporate gatekeepers.

—Pedro Cibavicius, union city, CA

Big money should not be allowed to rule the internet.

—Anne McManus, Bayport, MN

Broadband networks must be kept open, accessible, reliable and affordable for everyone.

—Bob Walters, Mesquite, NV

Net Neutrality is crucial!

—Tadd A Morgan, Seattle, WA

Restoring Net Neutrality will keep the market open.

—Ken Tower, Boise, ID

It is imperative to keep an open internet for innovation to strive like the last 20 years.

—Robert K VanVoorhis, Hanover, MI

The rich and powerful already have too many privilages in the USA

—Walter Birdwell, Port Isabel, TX

Stop the scumbags from sensoring freedom of information and truth. The American people no longer watch and believe the government controlled pathetic and corrupt mainstream news.

—Mike Myers, shoemakersville, PA

Enough!

—Barbara Cody, Thousand Oaks, CA

Free internet means a free society! Don't suppress the internet and our freedoms! Think of all the great innovations and inventions that have developed from the free internet. Don't cripple our economy further with restrictive laws! Please remember, the prosperity derived from an open internet is taxable, and that helps everyone. Thank you.

—Robert Miller, Tulsa, OK

Do not allow corporations to strangle my access to the internet. Reclassify broadband Internet access as a telecommunications service.
—Linwood Sasser, Simi valley, CA

This is like giving a few corporations the right to put toll booths on any stretch of any road they want. OUTRAGEOUS!
—Charles Waugh, Boring, OR

Please stop corporate take over of our Internet !!
—Tom Delehanty, Socorro, NM

Please reclassify broadband internet access as a telecommunications service. Thanks!
—Jean-Luc Lo Cicero, Dayton, OH

Remember that little "of, by, and for the people" jingle???
—Thomas Knecht, SLC, UT

The internet belongs to everyone. Don't give the corporations dominion over our lives. They destroy and dismantle everything they touch. It does not need to be one long continuous data mine and advertisement. Leave it for the innovative and unsurpassed communication tool it is, not the nightmare it will become if you allow this ruling to stand.
—Laura Haskell, Denver, CO

It is time to stop a corporate takeover of our democracy.
—Gwen G. Mataisz, Pitkin, CO

Enough already! Restore and preserve Net Neutrality.
—Sandra Rasich, Santa Fe, NM

Leave the net alone we need to see and read the real facts someplace the news organizations put their spin on things we need to read the truth someplace and that place is the net. Leave my internet alone I pay enough for it.
—Robert Guzzy, shavertown, PA

Enough with serving corporations instead of the citizens and taxpayers!
—Harald Conradi, Los Angeles, CA

Please restore Net Neutrality rules.
—John Hartman, Tulsa, OK

Please restore Net Neutrality rules.
—Nicholas Hartman, Tulsa, OK

The internet is fabulous as it is. What purpose, or rather whose purpose does it serve? Certainly not the public's. Restore Net Neutrality.
—MP Paula McMinn, Oklahoma City, OK

Please restore Net Neutrality rules.
—Roseanne Hartman, Tulsa, OK

I am researching online daily to write a biography replete with American history. I depend on the Internet.
—Carole Dianne Smith, Winnetka, IL

If the FCC doesn't act to restore net neutrality the citizens of the world will be screwed one more time.

—Darrell Schmidt, Rose Hill, KS

Too many of our rights have been decimated in recent years by CORPORATE POWER--it must STOP. NOW. and here is a good way to start...

—Allyson Drucker, North Haledon, NJ

We Need Net Neutrality.

—Ronald Kuriloff, mALVERNE, NY

Don't ruin the internet!

—Manu Evans, ,

Leave the internet alone. It is the last of the truly free marketplaces.

—Laura, Dallas, TX

Completely unacceptable!

—Gabriel Blanco, New York, NY

the Internet has become the business equivalent of a public highway, essential infrastructure that must not be blocked or sold away.

—Nancy Parker, Caldwell, ID

Without the general population using it, there is NO internet!!

—Barbara Doucet, Newnan, GA

As much as broadcast communication was in the last century, an open and unfettered Internet is VITAL for exchange of data and information in the 21st century. Please re-establish "Net Neutrality" rules. Thank you.

—Michael-Leonard Creditor, La Jolla, CA

Stop favoring big and bigger businesses that are systematically destroying the freedom of America, which they could not be doing without the FCC's help.

—Marya Roddis, Chama, NM

Let's make it clear who the FCC is supposed to be working for, WE THE PEOPLE!

—Raun Norquist, Sag Harbor, NY

Ridiculous. Restore net neutrality!

—Jade Angela, Memphis, TN

Please, for once, uphold the interests of the majority.

—Allan King, Duiluth, MN

Protect free speech! It is important for democracy!

—Luanne Baker, New Town, MA

You've killed enough American Business with the NSA scandal that is now affecting the high tech industry. You've killed manufacturing. If you don't stop this idiocy, you will kill the stupid telecoms, because we will all sign up for the brazilian internet to escape censorship. Don't you get it? These numbnuts don't understand what their greed will do to them
—Gina de Miranda, Austin, TX

This will destroy open access to the internet. What a huge mistake.
—Jerry Sawyer, Stratford, CT

These fucking crooked corporations must have all of you public servants in their back pockets!
—MA Kinnaman, Eads, CO

It's time our Government to take a active roll in protecting the Internet for it's people. It's also time that people who use the internet everyday stand up and demand that our government do something to stop big business.
—Frank Endicott, Copperas Cove, TX

If you have any interest in preserving any part of democracy, you will restore net neutrality. Stop the US slide into corporate oblivion.
—Peter Carrington, Haslett, MI

I am already a serf for the incompetent thugs at Time Warner!
—Richard Marcley, Albany, NY

The Internet was created by taxpayer funding. It should be open to all without restrictions from corporations!
—Arthur L. Friedman, Rego Park, NY enough is enough

—Tairre Christopherson, Milwaukee, WI

I can't believe you would allow freedom of speech hijacked by corporations and those with money to pay.
—Katarina Cerny, Beachwood, OH

Leave the internet ALONE...
—Jarid Sigsbee, Waterville, NY

Also make bandwidth capping illegal... The internet should be unlimited.
—Jonathan Barron, Oxford, GA

DO SOMETHING THAT WILL ENDURE THIS TIME!
—Anthony Pasco, Spring Hill, FL

RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY, DEMOCRACY NOW
—Mercy Myers, st. paul, MN

The internet needs to be free and open not the tool of big brother don't silence america's voices

—Ms. Julia Dashe, Oakland, CA

The Internet is for everyone without having to be rich or anything else.

—Katlyn Stranger, San Rafael, CA

We have something we use and love. Leave it the way it is.

—Diane Hendricks, Olney, TX

Don't destroy free speech. Net Neutral is Necessary.

—Jerry O'Malley, Missoula, MT

The transmission of internet packets should be a PUBLIC UTILITY, not something controlled by corporations for profit.

—Mr. Peter Belmont, Brooklyn, NY

Because broadband Internet IS telecommunications.

—Lisa Lederer, Pompano Beach, FL

This breaches our freedom speech

—Mark Morano, Boston, MA

Don't let the the big telecom companies kill net neutrality.

—Jeanne Sipahigil, Liberty, IN

We are held hostage and robbed by the cable and cell phone corrupt corporations; we cannot afford to be exploited by those companies for access to the internet. Keep the internet and speech free and open and accessible to all.

—Robert Griffin, Reedsville, OH

This is BS!

—Brice Mijares, Modesto, CA

U.S. broadcast airwaves have already been given to corporate criminals, resulting in a blatant corporate bias in 'reporting' of 'news', the internet must not suffer the same fate. Free and open communication is essential for democracy.

—Ron Weinberg, La Mirada, CA

don't touch the internet !

—Curt Leibowitz, Munster, IN

This is vital to the health and well being of a free nation. This is the beginning of censorship when fees can be imposed by big corporations for their profit at the cost of freedom to educate ourselves at little cost.

—Ruth Kellogg, Dublin, CA

Net neutrality has to be maintained, monopoly is not the answer. Do the right thing and stop this unfairness.

—Martin LeMaire, Lewes, DE

I can already see how Google manipulates my search results, when I search for news, I get the same news on multiple websites and there are no alternative news sites listed. It is clear that the multinational media conglomerates are using the internet to manipulate my access to the news. We need open internet not controlled by billionaire corporate interests

—Jaesa McLin, Metairie, LA

Get the greed out

—Jim Shepherd, Rives Junction, MI

Keep the Internet free!

—James Kapetsky, Wilmington, NC

Don't let cable companies limit available content. I pay for a complete, freely available internet. Stop ISP's from tiering available content, the way providers do with cable TV. Keep the internet freely accessible, without restrictions imposed by ISPs with their own agendas. Broadband internet is a telecommunications service, and should not be treated the same way as cable TV.

—Laurie Laidley, Pawcatuck, CT

Suddenly, it feels like 1981 has really arrived. Protect our access to the internet and our right to think for ourselves!

—Carrington Petras, Verona, VA

An open internet is important.

—Gary Albright, s, WA

Whatever is happening to Liberty and Justice FOR ALL?

—Lee South, Yantis, TX

FCC start treating broadband like a communications service, and to restore its Net Neutrality rules.

—Willie Edwards, Tacoma, WA

I do not want the Government entering my home without a warrant.

—Robert L. Beck, Miami, FL

It is imperative to preserve Net Neutrality, as it is a vital principle protecting our democracy and a free press.

—Kenneth Ruby, Salem, NH

Net Neutrality rules are imperative to our so called Democracy!!!!

—Lynn Miller, Portland, OR

We can't allow the courts which are currently "owned" by big business to ignore their true responsibility which is to PROTECT the people,, NOT cater to the very small but filthy rich group who are unethically greedy and care nothing about the majority of the people.

—Daniel Hulseapple, Middletown, NY

We can not let the control of the Internet be stolen by corporate interest, this is vital infrastructure that gives all of us a way to participate in directing the way we live!!

I want net neutrality because I want to live in a free country.
—Laurence Topliffe, Kirkville, IA

We must allow the internet to remain open and unhindered in its operation.
—Jenni X, Los Angeles, CA

As a Verizon customer, I will be sure to cancel my service if this unjust law stands.
—Earl Yarrington, Pasadena, MD

Preserve the open Internet.
—Suzanne, St Davids, PA

You were right in the first place to make rules protecting net neutrality. Please re-classify the internet as a utility of public interest as was the old telephone system. That's all you need to do and problem solved! Please, please.
—David A. Bedford, Fort Worth, TX

It is disgusting that 'big money' is taking control of our country...it's not in the best interests of the citizens. SHAME ON THEM!!!
—Edward Maeder, Greenfield, MA

Want a revolution on your hands? Screw with Net Neutrality and watch it happen. All of you will quickly learn how hard it is to get a job in this lousy economy.
—Curt Andersen, SUAMICO, WI

The Internet was developed with tax dollars. It belongs to the tax-payers. It is not more free money to corporate welfare queens. They didn't develop it. They don't own it. WE DO!
—Katherine Trimm, Tucson, AZ

Support CITIZENS, not corporations !

—Pamylle Greinke, Peconic, NY

It has only been since the widespread use of the communication offered by the internet that true freedom of speech has been possible. We must live up to our American creed and not only do no harm to this free expression but we must insist it be kept free for ourselves and our posterity. Without free speech there can be no freedom. Our forefathers knew this. We must never forget it.

—David Scott, Yakima, WA

why let greed kill everything?

—Veronica Alleyne, Rochester, NY

This country was established as a FREE country for and by the people, ALL THE PEOPLE. What happened? Corporations are not the people. They are run by a select few who wealthy people who make decisions for that Corporation, not the people. KEEP THIS COUNTRY FREE FOR ALL THE PROPLE.

—Glenna Shenan, Whitewright, TX

The Internet is an equalizer in communication and information gathering. It needs to be open and free of hinderance from corporations.

—Carlton Baker II, New York, NY

Don't let this happen!!

—Nancy Farha, Wichita, KS

You cannot fix this issue by ignoring it.

—Tyler Heald, Phoenix, AZ

Haven't the greedy scum, cloaked in suits of deception, taken enough? Don't let these evil bastards have ANYTHING to do with control over the internet.

—Frank Jarvie, Mayer, AZ

The innovations that boost business do not come from large, stifling, greedy corporations. They come from people who use the internet freely for the common good. IF YOU WANT U.S. BUSINESS TO FLOURISH, YOU MUST RECLASSIFY THE INTERNET AS A TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE FOR EVERYONE.

—Judith Petty, Chelsea, MI

This is ridiculous.

—Jasmine Rivas, Miami, FL

The crushing of net neutrality will directly affect my livelihood.

—Edward Giusto, Candler, NC

It is a real stupid idea to consider blocking Net Neutrality. It would eventually start to degrade our economy, and I know those big money corps don't want that. This could have a devastating and far reaching impact. Don't be stupid again.

—Dotty Skeens, Asheville, NC

Is it not time to stop the "underwriter ads" on listener sponsored radio as well. How about representing the "consumer" and not the corporations?

—Anthony Albert, Corvallis, OR

We will fight and fight hard but you have the power to put an end to this evil.

—Joseph Barlow, Indianapolis, IN

Keep the internet free. it belongs to the people, NOT corporations.

—Lynn Price, Humble, TX

Stop big corporations from taking what is not theirs. Help us save our economy.

—Robert Wolfe, Mantua, OH

Enough is enough. The Internet must remain a free and open venue for ideas and information. To do otherwise would be to censor for control and profit.

—Sean Murphy, Vero Beach, FL

internet access - like the airwaves, should belong to the people. Companies like AT&T have NO RIGHT to charge consumers, nor to control content or access.

—Jonathan Hall, San Francisco, CA

If the price of the net and the speed of it's usage changes. it will interrupt it's success...if profits are more important than usage, it will have a negative in the marketplace.

—Laurie Buckley, North Hollywood, CA and the rich just keep on a-gettin' richer.....

—J Talbot, austin, TX

This will not stand.

—Patricia Willenborg, Glendale, CA

Preserve the open internet; please.

—Myron P, Wayne, NJ

enough is enough Stop Big Businesses from taking over the internet and charging the people more money for access that we have a right too! We already pay for the internet. We do not have to pay more money to have access to certain sites.

—Julie Howard, Lakewood, WA

Is there anybody in a position of power left that cares about the individual instead of a corporation? Exactly where do your loyalties lie?

—Luanne H, Evans, CO

Leave the Internet alone. NO COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENT!!!!

—Mitchell Poulouin, Wilmington, DE

This is unarguably ridiculous.

—Dustin Coyle, Pocatello, ID

Is this the America of Freedom or the America of Oligarchy? Oligarchy is Repression!

—Michael Bean, Minneapolis, MN

It is crucial that Net Neutrality be restored. Thank you for doing what is needed to make that happen.

—Gladys Schmitz, Mankato, MN

Protect open internet.

—Aaron Cordero, Weslaco, CA

please restore Net Neutrality keep the INTERNET open the big Corporations are controlling every thing that we do and are getting away with it because to many people don't speak out

—Francis Loring, Emmetsburg, IA

Keep it Free. Thank you.

Another corporate grab of the commons - this is appalling!

—Elaine Kalantarian, Navarro, CA

We an Internet that is open, accessible, and affordable to everyone. The Internet plays a crucial role in the lives of families, small businesses, and citizens each and every day. That's why the FCC needs to do its job and protect affordable, open Internet access for all of us.

BLOCKING FREEDOM OF SPEECH FOR THOSE WHO CANT AFFORD TO PAY THEIR PRICE!!! #EQUALRIGHTS #JUSTICE #LOWINCOME #ECONOMY

—Trae Smaron, WOODBURY, NJ

The telecoms always should have been common carriers. Reclassify them now.

—Brian Waak, Aurora, IL

Fighting to save the internet is crucial!

—John Chase Maxwell, Washington, DC

As an Internet content provider for work and knowing the value of smaller businesses and start-ups not to be charged extra to get premium access or be shut out due to lagging speeds that customers might not be willing to shell out extra for. As a person who streams Netflix for programming for the family, I don't think I'd be willing to pay more for both Netflix and a higher tier of streaming service via my ISP. This goes for online gaming, as well as other constant streaming services. I stand behind these statements, Keep the Net Neutral!

—Brian Sledd, Paxton, MA

The impact of the internet on the US and world economy and culture is greater than the interstate system, the air waves and public utilities; and it was developed with public funds. You must not allow private corporations to co-opt this resource any more than they already have.

—Mr. Murray Jankus, Morrisville, PA

I don't want my future to be controlled by the will of Verizon and AT&T and such companies' absolute and all consuming greed.

Utterly ridiculous that they think their is enough ISP competition to let the market handle this.

—Joshua Saunders, Knightdale, NC

Do your job for that PEOPLE of this country not the corporations.

—Robert Barnard, Pittsburgh, PA

Maintain freedom of speech; keep the Internet free and neutral - ISPs can't even clean their own houses, how could they take care of the entire net?

Keep the internet open.

—Randle McReynolds, Spokane, WA

Restore Net Neutrality

—Natalia, ,

KEEP THE INTERNET FREE

—Mr. Norman Sands, mokena, IL

FCC must step up and protect the Internet for use of all Americans, regardless of income. Corporate greed must not be allowed to endanger the free flow of communication that invites participation by all. Verizon's agenda is 'the Ugly American Way in spades. Use your authority to protect the Internet from those for whom profits and pure greed are doing great harm to one of the cornerstones of American Democracy.

—Harry Blumenthal, Eureka, CA

Over-privileged legaleze know-it-alls, hands off Internet operations.

—Ramsay MacInnes, Cherry Valley, MA

I don't have to pay more to make a phcall Pizza Hut than I do Domino's. Why should ISPs be allowed to charge me more to visit pizzahut.com than dominos.com?

—Edward Hennis, Gainesville, FL

Always money, money, money ruins everything

—Jason Brody, Escondido, CA

Foreign political action committees & corporate funding buy politicians' loyalty. Support term limits, public financing & third parties. When American's choose the lesser evil...Democrat or Republican... They are still choosing EVIL Mercy for all life.

—Mike Jaureguy, South Chatham, MA

Stop attacking the public commons for the sake of the wealthy.

—Robert King, San Francisco, CA

Internet connections are a utility. We wouldn't let the electric company decide I can only have so much electricity. Why would we let the ISPs decide how much internet access I can have.

—Sonja Horstman, Arlington Heights, IL

the internet is a free and open concept above the crass ownership concepts of power mongers who seek to destroy it's very nature. Protect the internet from these forces who are driven by greed and the desire to control everything. Stop this NOW!

—Sandra Garratt, Palm Springs, CA

This is the 21st century and we have the technology to provide good connections for every single household if we want to, but unfortunately, those who pay out the big money to those who make the decisions are still pulling the strings. People in the USA pay more than any other civilized countries and receive much less for their Internet dollars, same goes for the cell phones.

—Ellyn Bryans Darrah, Reno, NV

The scenario outlined in paragraph two of the letter to which I've just attached my signature contains a horror story. Too often, it seems that all our major corporations care about is making more and more money and reducing people at large--their customers in many instances--to pawns in an unequal and thus unfair scheme to make money the pass key to what is (or at least was) a free and open Internet. Please take action to stop this horror from establishing inequality of access & use as an impregnable fortress belonging solely to the rich and the well-connected. Thank you.

—Michael Bishop, Pine Mountain, GA

For the Internet to succeed, it has to be equal for everybody and every site. That is what made it great and important and also wonderful - the fairness. The internet should not be put into the hands of giant telecom corporations who will decide what you can see and what you can't. If this is not reversed, I'm worried about being able to access my own site.

—Peter Brown, Philadelphia, PA

Please don't let a few sleazy corporations take over the Internet.

—Stan Benton, Von Ormy, TX

Net Neutrality or riots and death!

—Levi White, Lakeland, GA

While they also claim that areas with lack of service providers can still seek other options, that's not always true. Providers claiming to be in my area, do not yet have services available where my home is. They've been saying this for a decade. I have one provider and it's terrible at that. When trying to telecommute during the recent snowstorms, they've essentially throttled speeds, making it more difficult to work. When complained to they state that I can use their "business class" service which is exceedingly more expensive. They're not just messing with people watching movies, they are hurting people's ability to earn a living.

—, Milford, OH

Monopolistic corporations should not be given the power to control what information we receive.

Someone stand up for what is right, not the most profit.

—Haley Flowers, Corsicana, TX

We need NET NEUTRALITY in this era of corporation takeover!

—Maryanne Woelfer, Ellicott City, MD

ISPs who treat various kinds of traffic differently are no longer "common carriers" and do not deserve the common carrier legal protections either. FCC should enforce Net Neutrality as part of the implementation of common carrier protections - and if an ISP implements traffic controls that violate net neutrality, then they also exempt themselves from common carrier protection and should be legally liable for all traffic carried afterward, since they are explicitly able to "pick and choose" which packets they like. ISPs who "control" packets should be liable if those packets represent illegal traffic such as hate speech, certain forms of pornography, planning for criminal acts and such. FCC must rule on the combined implementation of Net Neutrality and Common Carrier for ISPs - and explain to these powerful lobbyists what protections ISPs will give up IF they push the no-net-neutrality agenda.

—Robert Murphey, Pasadena, TX

An open Internet is virtually the only force standing between us and a closed police state like the former Soviet Union.

—Thomas Wark E. Wark, Las Cruces, NM

People find ways of exchanging information, even in oppressive societies. Does the FCC want to promote freedom of information for all citizens at the lowest cost or does it want to favor commercial interests to the disadvantage of the citizenry? It is time to declare unequivocally that the internet will remain neutral so as to maintain a level playing e-field in the Information Age.

—Oliver Seely, Lakewood, CA

The Internet has to be treated as a natural monopoly and governed under anti-trust laws. The FCC needs to do whatever is necessary to make this happen, otherwise, corporations like Verizon and Comcast will abuse their power over its infrastructure to double-dip and favor their own products, however inferior.

—Richard R Gingras, Quinton, VA

Protect our First Amendment rights rather than putting big business in charge of communication networks.

—Eliza Strode, Easthampton, MA

Freedom is why our country was founded. Don't threaten what we've gained.

—Penny Ordway, Philadelphia, PA

In a free world accessibility matters. Large corporations should not be able to dictate what People read and see on the internet. Money is Not the only consideration. The welfare of the general public IS what matters.

—Bruce Hlodnicki, INDIANAPOLIS, IN

Hands off the internet!

—Tom McCorry, Mariposa, CA

Treat the broadband as a communications service and assure Net Neutrality rules to protect the public.

—Andrew D Rowles, Chicago, IL

Please take back your responsibility to insure that the internet is open to all -- not controlled by a few communications giants.

—Joan Johnson, Portland, OR

Wasn't enough to spy on us now you want to "allow" us YOUR version of propaganda!

—Mrs Carolyn B Kenney, Benson, NC

We need net neutrality. It's what gives the internet it's real power.

—Richard D Stewart, Mill Valley, CA

They can quash dissenting viewpoints by throttle access to websites. YOU KNOW THIS ALREADY> Make the declaration.

—J Wiggins, Little Rock, AR

No more oligarchy! The `net is a publicly-financed public commons and should be rigidly protected as neutral in EVERY WAY. There should also be a government alternative, as there is in most other countries such as France, to any communications or utility provider-- and they have to compete with their well-run, reasonably-priced government-subsidized alternatives. Whatever happened to a FAIR market?!?

—A Ward, Eugene, OR

GREED--GREED--GREED is destroying America. All the ugly-souled, inhumane, & corporate controlled marionettes are coming together not to be kind, nice nor to make PEACE. May they all reap what they sow.

—Miss Anita Cannata Nowell, Jefferson, TX

Make the Internet content neutral.

—Max Lent, Webster, NY

When, exactly, was the First Amendment repealed and who do I get to shoot for doing it. That is, if treason is still a capital crime I would gladly do my duty.

—David Black, Tucson, AZ

Please protect our free speech from the Tel-Com monopolies. By the way, it is your job!

—Dennis Hall, Fort Pierce, FL

Please restore Net Neutrality.

—Carol Kaploe, Kingman, AZ

The Internet has become a "utility" like water, electricity, etc. It is too essential to modern life to be throttled and Balkanized by corporations. Please reclassify the Internet to accurately reflect its need to remain open for all to use.

—John W. Luther, Rolla, MO

The Internet is a public utility, not a domain to be ruled by corporations. I want my government to keep the internet open for everyone.

—Mark Kane, Des Moines, IA

Protect Net Neutrality. Don't cave in to corporate intentions to take over, throttle and destroy the internet as we know it.

—Jeri Khajeh-Noori, Clearwater, FL please save us, the general public, from the telecom blood seeking sharks like verizon

—Errol Thomas, Simpsonville, SC

No discrimination please! If you need to block or charge, then block porn

—Shu'ayb, ,

Ever since I began signing these petitions regarding Net Neutrality, morning calls through my local Area Code 703 service provider--Verizon--have not been going through, but are met with the recorded message: "We're sorry. Your call did not go through. Please hang up and try the number again." Thirteen times alone over a 45-minute period 08:45-09:30 a.m. EST Thursday, 23 January. I wonder if other petition-signers are experiencing similar "technical difficulties"? Maybe the FCC should investigate this, too!

—Steven J. Vogel, Falls Church, VA

Dear Greedy Corporate Pigs: STOP GOUGING US AND CONTROLLING US; THE NET MEANS FREEDOM!

—Joseph, Westminster, CA

I just retired from ATT this ruling gives them a lot of power along with other communication giants. Their interest is merely in more profits. Information is power this ruling gives too much control to big corporations for profits and power. Please do not take this important information highway away from the general public. KEEP THE INTERNET OPEN!!!!!!

—Susan Clouser, Springdale, AR

Put the People First!!!!

—Pamela Russell, Oak Ridge, NC

The internet is a communications service. You must reverse the attack on our internet freedoms.

—Jeanne Shaw, Denver, CO

Freedom of expression is founded upon freedom of impression. Use your authority as an organ of the ideals of free speech and just action to promote a world where the thoughts of every man are free to be expressed and the it is the will of the individual which controls which thoughts are taken into the sanctity of the human mind.

—William Getman, New Haven, CT

Stop feeding from the teat of the corporate cow and represent the interests of the American people.

—Ronald Roberts, New Windsor, NY

Not only should the FCC protect the web immediately (it is a publicly-financed and created commons), it should EXPAND the rights of citizens by guaranteeing a high-quality government alternative to all utilities such as cable TV, the internet, and cell phones. They do this in most European countries that are successful. Taxpayers paid to make the web, don't let big corporate steal it.

—E Fredric, Eugene, OR

Beware of he who would deny you access to information, for in his heart he dreams himself your master.

—Mark Ludke, Denver, CO

the American public is depending on you!

—Laura P, Chambersburg, PA

The internet is used for communication, for example, for phone calls, text messaging, and email. The distinction between communication and information is arbitrary and artificial. Thus the FCC should rule the internet a part of our communications infrastructure, and regulate the behavior of the big ISPs that essentially form a cartel. Thank you.

—Kent Wilson, Glenview, IL

Do the right thing and take control away from the big corps. and give it back to the people. That's who you really serve!

—Michael McLeod, White Hall, WV information must be free and available to all people

—Giuseppe Nida, Loranze,

Today I heard on public radio that the Attorney General in Virginia was fighting for the rights of the people. It occurred to me that I have never heard of a government official fighting for the the rights of the people. Seems all they do is take our rights away and screw us everyway they can. How sad is that. You have the power to do something thing for the citizens in this country that belongs belongs to everyone, not the elite rich.

—Julie Weaver, Mount Vernon, ME

This isn't a joke! Your very own families will suffer from this as well so do something about it now! Please don't let this nation down, much less yourselves! Thank you and get back in there and kick some butt!

—Andy Johnston, East Otis, MA

Net Neutrality is essential for Democracy to flourish!

—Gina, Ankeny, IA

Please PROTECT consumers from powerful companies like Verizon. SAVE NET NEUTRALITY!

—Frances DeMillion, Kennett Square, PA

Internet is my primary source for communicating, don't put a price tag on it for big media. Serve the public not the greedy corporations.

—Jack Cogswell, Fairhaven, MA

No more half measures

—Brian Ross Edwards, Fishers, IN

Remember the People of the USA, don't bend to the corporate oligarchs. jkg

—John Gillespie, Arlington, TX

Enough of all this tyranny! Who do you think you are..it's time for us to take a stand!

—Lynn Tyler, Odessa, FL

It is critical to do this since not only does it prevent a wholesale takeover and preserve competitive diversity (endangered), but it also would remove the incentive for corporate theft by lying to the public about "digital embezzlement" where they automate the "squeeze" on pricing to get as much as acceptable independent of the cost to the websites while extorting the websites for quality of latency as well.

—Jason Hoobler, Cincinnati, OH

But of course.. the United States of American Corporations is still trying to reduce the citizens quality of life so that a CEO can have a $25,000,000 Bonus.

—Dennis Sulava, New Kensington, PA

At the moment I enjoy unlimited bandwidth and as much speed as I need from my I.S.P. for a basic fee. In the U.K. we have differing price and access policies, but at least we can swap around by our own choice. I resent the prospect of this freedom being capriciously altered by Verizon, or any other outside agency. It takes away all sense of secure and fair dealing.

—Lucus Greenwood, , leave the internet alone, last bastion of free speech in this country.

—Richard Caputo, Spokane, WA

Please don't let net neutrality fall through the cracks on a technicality. Thanks

—John F Schroeder PhD, Rio Rancho, NM

The Internet just like the broadcast air wave spectrum belongs to the U.S. A.'s citizens and is not the property or include the right to censor by the telephone companies! Please restore net neutrality immediately or face Senate and House hearings on why you at the F.C.C. are allowing telephone companies to censor and control the internet!

—Byron Bostic, Waterford, MI

Here we go again ! Big Corporations trying to monopolize & steal the poor peoples last DIME !!!!

—Mrs & Dennis Roderiques, Pinellas Park, FL

If the FCC won't protect the majority of consumers who are already being overcharged for internet service, how long do you really think the internet will remain viable? As more and more end-users are priced out of the market, fewer and fewer will actually use the internet.

—R Cameron, San Antonio, TX

Reinstate net neutrality. Protect the internet.

—Stephen Dempsey, Cochranville, PA

Enough. Big telecom needs to be brought down to size now.

—Jesse Green, Dubuque, IA

The internet has been one of the last bastions for the First Amendment. This decision by a narrow minded court would remove the internet from the protections of that amendment. Since the internet IS a massive form of communication, it squarely falls under the purview of the Federal Communications Commission and must be solely regulated you. Please reassert your rule of law and make your regulations clear and to the point permitting all forms of speech, video written word or other forms of communication be able to flow unhindered and unedited by any corporation, subsidiary, employee, designee or other persons or other bodies designed to impede the flow of ideas.

—J Adam Bailey, Gill, MA

The Internet belongs to ALL OF US...not to the telecoms's! Stop this atrocity now!

—Rita Larkin, Addison, IL

Why would private companies be allowed to control anything on the internet???? What legal justification could there possibly be to permit that??

—Chris Kinder, Mi Wuk Village, CA

FCC needs to protect us from them.

—Melvin Taylor, Sacramento, CA

This decision will not stand with American People! We demand that the FCC treat broadband like any other communications service and reinstate the Net Neutrality rules. In case you have forgotten, it is the world wide Free Internet and belongs to "We the People" and is not the property of any government to regulate.

—Brian Mahany, Clearwater, FL

Please protect us all from the damaging effects of this court's decision. Please don't allow large corporations such as Comcast and Verizon to decide what we can and cannot view and at what price!! What a travesty this would be!

—Barbara Arlen, Corvallis, OR

Unrestricted internet (not controlled by corporate or nationalist governments) is a basic ground for free speech in this day and age

—Scott Clift, Portland, OR

The internet of the 21st century is the telephone of the 20th century . Long past to protect and regulate the internet as a public service.

—Allan Fabrick, Austin, TX

We don't need corporations (who are NOT people, my friends; they are Republicans) deciding what websites we can access. Damn the arrogance of these wealthy a$$holes.

—Patty Ridenour, Dayton, OH

This cannot be overstated enough. Preserving the open internet in this day and age is absolutely vital. You need to reclassify broadband internet as a telecommunications service right now!

—Kyle Emch, Charlottesville, VA

Enough fascist control, the internet must stay free!

—Randall Dollins, Kansas City, MO

People all over the world depend on the Internet remaining neutral. Giving telecoms the kind of power they now have may kill it entirely. Oh, not right away, but there is a point at which the typical canned information or entertainment available is just too boring to even consider.

—Dianne Faucher, New York, NY

When are Judges going to do the right thing?

—Terry Reid, Minneapolis, MN

Freedom of communication is primary to life in a democracy. The other end of the scale is imprisonment of political dissidents.

—Dennis D'Asaro, Middleburgh, NY restore net neutrality, please! We have enough haves and have- nots already - the gap is getting wider!

—Barbara Osen, Bellingham, WA

WE DON'T WANT OUR INTERNET PRICE GO SKY HIGH SO FCC SAVE NET NEUTRALITY PLEASE!

—Charles Roberts, Detroit, MI

I DEPEND upon an open Internet for my tiny business - I do not want my ISP CONTROLLING what I may and may NOT see on the Internet - THAT IS JUST PLAIN WRONG....

—Patricia Guthrie, Chalfont, PA

Please leave the freedom to exchange information over the internet alone!

—Neal Helfman, Scottsdale, AZ

The Internet is a way for poorer people to stay contacted with family and friends. Please don't take that away from us.

—Yvonne Farquhar, Sarasota, FL

First we are paying for use of the internet and yet they want to charge us for each place we want to go. Like the telephone or TV that we don't like already because it is full of boring commercials that they repeat over and over again. A fee upon a fee upon a fee. This is not fair trade for Netflix or any other services that we might wish on the net. It is trying to take our already meager income and "steal" from us further so the fat CEO's can live off of us with limited work.

—Pamela Patterson, Oroville, WA

Net Neutrality is imperative! Why force misinformation on the Citizens of the United States?

—Patricia Leppala, Crescent Valley, NV

Nationalize the cable system. It's as critical to the economy and safety of the U.S. as the railroads and highways.

—Scott Gibson, Montclair, NJ

What good is a closed internet, none!!!

—Mercy Drake, Mesa, AZ

It is we, the taxpayers, who paid to develop the internet, and no private company should be able to limit or prevent our access to this resource.

—, Minneapolis, MN

This is an easy fix. There was an article on the website of Bloomberg BusinessWeek that described the fix. There isn't any new legislation involved and already has the support of the supreme court. Of course, the big telecoms aren't going to like it, because it will keep them from bundling the internet like they do their cable services, which are hideously expensive.

—Ms. Ruth-Ann Radcliff, Penn Valley, CA

Here is the First Amendment of the Constitution, read it. Pay particular attention to the FREEDOM OF SPEECH part. It says nothing about abridging that freedom through digital platforms. It says FREEDOM OF SPEECH. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances. You are not Congress, but you are carrying out their wishes. And above all you gather your mandate to rule from the CONSENT OF THE GOVERNED. I don't consent to having my First Amendment Rights Curtailed!

—Stefanie Sellars, Simi Valley, CA

This is corporate greed.

—Bob Hibbits, Gig Harbor, WA

This is crucial to prevent. If this were to be let slide companies like Time Warner Cable, Verizon, and Comcast will be in full control over what we see, watch, do and hear, effectively creating a tool to control what we think, and what we'd do about it. This needs to be stopped, posthaste. This goes beyond Shaping and tiered data plans, this affects our freedoms in very severe ways, ways I don't very well comprehend yet, and wish not to experience. So I urge you to intervene, regardless of your connections to them, or you will have rioting in your hands.

—Dale D. Timms, Inola, OK

We need a full peer to peer internet.

—Mr. Christopher Aquilino, Peekskill, NY

Without your help, the open web will fade into oblivion. Please, please, protect us from ISPs who will discriminate against certain sites. Without you doing so, malicious ISPs will block competitors, critics, and any controversial sites. Please don't allow us to be censored in this way!

—Joshua Smith, Cortland, NY

Utility monopolies in the United States have been regulated for decades. It is appropriate for the FCC to enforce net neutrality as part of those regulations. Net neutrality is the best thing for the people of the United States and the internet.

—Amos Eaton, Santa Rosa, CA

Freedom is supposed to be important to Americans. Don't let corporate behemoths squash internet freedom.

—Rosemary S Kean, Dorchester, MA

we are grown adults...politicians and corporations are obstructionist controllers of people...they all need to be regulated and not by themselves...they are turning this country into a joke....

The internet is broken until this ruling by a radical right wing court is undone.

—Christopher Naze, Portland, OR

My mother and I are trying to fight against Duke Energy because we have arsenic in our well water and I am a 20 year old who has had urinary track problems now since I was 16. So we know first hand what and pollution to your water supply can do to your health. I firmly believe that the our polluted well water led to the death of one of my guniea pigs and one of my neighbor's cats. We have got to stop polluting our water. Everyone should learn from the West Virginia leakage that clean drinking water is a very precious item!!!!!! How is that Liberty company was NOT inspected for over 20 years? Why are chemical companies being allowed to get away with such callous indifference to human lives and health?

—Nicole Morales, Belmont, NC

Please protect a free and open interent.

Extremely bad decision, NOT IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST, but very much beneficial for the CORPORATIONS!! Do your job and stop bowing to the corporations!! HAVE YOU TOTALLY LOST YOUR MINDS???

—Madolyn Jenkins, Fredericksburg, VA

Please, please do not make the Internet a 'business' that is controlled by large corporations. They will be able to control access and content, and that will destroy the real value of this free communication media. PLEASE, keep it open and free.

—Robert Kowal, Plainwell, MI

The Internet should be and remain NEUTRAL!

—Dave W. Rice, Glenview, IL

Net neutrality is working. Please don't leave it to corporate america to dictate internet rules.

—Kevin Woodworth, Little Elm, TX

Karma is real;)

—Shaun Walker, Chandler, AZ

Gov't by business for business. What about the citizens and consumers??

—Michele Neely, Santa clara, CA

How can this have been their decision? So the guys over at verizon can just go, well I don't like this website so I am going to slow it down? Excuse me? How dare they ? No, they do not get to make those kind of decisions.

—Karen Pittenger, Arvada, CO

We need the internet as it was intended--no impeding or slow-downs.

Be brave and smart. Override this TERRIBLE court decision!

—Laura Boyajian, Phoenix, AZ

You MUST uphold Net Neutrality. Corporations do not own the NET.

—Robert J Sauer, Hickory, NC

Adding more cost to an already overburdened populace, is scandalous.

—James Patterson, Austin, TX

FCC you are our guardians against further control of our lives from Corporate greed. Act in the peoples behalf. It is not to much a stretch to see high dollar investors picking and choosing the political bent of their choice for preferential treatment through their corporat skills. The democracy of our communitations infrastructure hangs in the balance. Do not let money stifle our voices.

—Irwin Schpok, Manchester Township, NJ

Broadband is part of the Commons.

—Lou Mathews, Seattle, WA

Please make the Internet a public utility. Thank you.

—Ann Collins, St. Louis, MO

Destroying the open internet would destroy the country.

—Mr. James Sherpa, Ithaca, NY

Restore Net Neutrality!! Corporations shouldn't tell us what to do.

—Ms. Kim Kensler, Toledo, OH

There is absolutely no excuse for allowing companies to gouge American citizens. Our ISPs have offered a level of bandwidth (that is extremely low by developed world standards) for a set price and now that consumers are beginning to use more than a small fraction of it those companies are looking for congress to give them a way to renege on the promises that they have made. I do not see how anyone could allow this in good conscious.

It's time for fairness to prevail

—Ms Margaret Ann Marlowe, Leander, TX

It was tax dollars that made the internet. We deserve free access as a return on our investment.

—Scott McLaughlin, Millville, NJ

Tax payer money started the internet.

—Micheal Westbrook, Chisago City, MN

The internet is such an important tool for children and adults. One of the beauties of it has been how free it is. Please treat broadband as the communications service it is and restore net neutrality rules.

—Joan Allen, Surfside Beach, SC

The "2%" already has all the wealth. Don't create a communications "98%," leaving us to the tender mercies of mega-corporations.

—Ray Perkins, Owenton, KY

Enough of corporations violating the rights of Americans...

—K Christensen, Baldwin Park, CA

Is 'someone' blocking this site too?

—Larry Phifer, Hot Springs, AR

To the FCC - start treating broadband like a communications service and RESTORE it's Net Neutrality!

—Nancy S. Nevells, Gorham, ME

This can't be real???? Are you kidding, how can they control this. They didn't create it in the first place!!!!

—Kent Grier, Wichita, KS

The loss of freedom and unbiased news from all opinions of all party's is vital to world democracy and freedom, after all we see how our government controls the big 3 state run liberal and anti conservative Christian fairness in reporting both sides equally. I urge all Americans to boycott the one sided media and the Hollywood corrupt and violent reprobates who have supported one sided news reporting.

—RC Lewis, Milton, IA

let's see what you can do for the average working person.

—Charles Roaste, salt lake city, UT

Come on -- you really need to reconsider!!

—Sylvia Humphreys, Yucaipa, CA

the US is not a dictatorship, do not give control to the few who will abuse the power

—Randy Platt, Tonawanda, NY

Please restore New Neutrality. This most definitely is a communications service. Thank you!

—Mary Margaret Switlik, Wichita, KS

America already pays more for substandard speed access to the internet than many other developed countries. Without net neutrality the bad situation will be made worse. The only beneficiaries will be a handful of telecommunications companies at the expense of consumers.

—Craig Fausnacht, Uniontown, PA

Without this neutrality, the wealthy will have another huge advantage they don't need.

—Paul Muns, Long Beach, CA

An open internet is the only way to insure a freedom of speech, press, and sharing of ideas. To enable Corporations to attempt to suppress that is criminal. Restore Net Neutrality immediately.

—Darren Griffiths, Milwaukee, WI

As a budding internet entrepreneur, I find it outrageous that any work I do must now include a fight for equal footing on the platform of the future, even though the internet was built using tax dollars and public infrastructure. It is as though my factory won't have access to the publicly-funded and community-built roadways... unless I pay even more for the access road between my front door and the street. It's hard enough to build a new business and compete against huge multinational conglomerates, and I and people like me are not asking for a handout, just a fair playing field. It is the FCC's responsibility to keep the internet neutral, and allow everyone the opportunity to compete on a level playing field.

—Gary Houser, Palm Springs, CA

Please save and protect our internet from destruction!!!

—Laura Adams, SEBASTOPOL, CA

I'm one of the "little guys" you're supposed and NEED to protect!

—Patricia Araujo, Burlington, VT

Restore Net Neutrality!!

—AG Gilmore, Walnut, CA

Tim Berners-Lee created internet for the expansion of free thinking and expression and open our stubborn minds, summoned by corrupted leaders in governments and multinational enterprises. Who are you to close it and censor speech freedom in Internet? You're not going to snap on our mouths and eyes shadowing the truth under smoke curtains. If you threatens an open Internet, you are threatening democracy not only in your own country but another democracies around the world. Growing surveillance is a crime in its own and somebody have to stop it, for the benefit of all mankind.

—Ignacio P. Garcia, ,

Protect our constitution. Preserve freedom on the net

—Martin W Doherty jr, Charlotte, NC

OMG this is horrendous - nobody but a tiny percentage of rich greedy SOBs want this

—Cheri Henderson, Asheville, NC

Preserve net neutrality or I simply will not buy anything on the internet. I already don't go out to movies, shopping malls and large grocery stores - thanks to the NRA, religious fanatics and their gun-carrying allies. I lose, businesses lose . . .

—Mr. Harv Buchman, gobles, MI

Stop the theft of the internet

—Ellen Barron, Santa Cruz, CA

We need this communication to be kept free and neutral. Not another big brother herding us into their structure.

—Marilyn Britton, Peterborough, NH

We continue to allow big corporations to amass ever increasing profits at the expense of the general public and it needs to stop. Corporate greed knows no bounds so it is up to you to give them boundaries.

—Gregg Wynia, Evans, CO

no 3rd party should be able to bias the internet in their favor ..

—James Wray, Afton, VA

The internet works because it is a free thinkers paradise. Corporations seem to ruin everything in our world, let's not ruin or information portals we all depend on.

—Matt Whitaker, Sioux City, IA

Freedom of speech. Get it?

—Don Cerow, Santa Cruz, CA

It's time to regulate Internet access like the modern necessity it is, and not let it be held hostage by monopolies like telecom companies.

—James Marshall, Berkeley, CA

Whatever the Big Telecoms promised you, you're dreaming if you ever think they'll follow through. They're just using you -- and once they get what they want, they'll kick you to the curb. In fact, once the Big Telecoms begin to use the power you're giving them, the first thing they'll do is lobby to get rid of the FCC entirely. Of course, then you could become a lobbyist, I suppose. Or was that your intention all along? (Of course it is.) Traitors..

—James Suthers, Burbank, CA

the library is free

—Lorie Beall, San Leandro, CA

Please keep corporate interests from controlling the internet. It's one of the last bastions of free exchange of information. If you let those people dictate our access as they please... it will be ruined forever.

—Shea Tanner Harvey, Napa, CA

The is both our democracy and economy you are dealing with heere.

—Richard Anthony DiMatteo, San Diego, CA

Verizon is an especially bad corporate citizen, with extremely aggressive debt collection practices and a long rap sheet of complaints for malpractice. None of these cable companies tell you what you are actually buying either. I have data transfer speeds "up to 15Mbps". We all know what an "up to 90% off" sale really means; a few teaser products to justify the large print, then whatever the company likes for everything else.

—David Carter, redlands, CA

A free and open internet is very important to me as a senior citizen. It's sometimes difficult to get out and about and the internet keeps me connected to the world. Please do not do anything to limit my access!

—Joanna Hoelscher, Elmhurst, IL

INTERNET FREEDOM SHOULD BR OUR RIGHT!

—Peter Curia, Scottsdale, AZ

The Internet is too important to leave to chance and the discretion of corporations to determine policy and fairness to individuals and other businesses. The FCC must take control of this issue.

—Jeffrey Galvin, Rockville, MD

FCC must keep our Net Neutrality rules, or else it becomes under the control of the private sector, destroying public usage.

—Jeff Franjevic, Great Falls, MT

This is a far more important issue than most people realize.

—John Villere, Colchester, VT

There is plenty of bandwidth on the Internet. This is robber-baron-like profiteering and gouging at its worst. There is NO NEED for rulings like this. No one (save for the big telecomm giants) were being harmed.

—Norman Pettit, Auburn, CA

Time to do something important, take action on behalf of the people the FCC is supposed to serve.

—Chris B. Doob, Woodbridge, CT

The Internet has become a major avenue for knowledge in every sense of the word. If telecom companies rule affordable access the Internet will become a method of communication only for the "rich".

—Delores Porch, Gresham, OR

A free and open internet is a great spur to growth.

—Hannah L Banks, Newton, MA

...and to the plutocracy for which it stands...

—Mitchell Diamond, Sunnyvale, CA

Enough is enough!

—Neville Chandler, Pompano Beach, FL

Why don't corporations or the federal and state governments practice transparency?

—Evans Guthrie, Covelo, CA

This will not stand. When you start charging these ridiculous prices, the people will revolt or find another option.

—Greg Westby, Brooklyn, NY

I'm tired of corporations ruling my life.

—Leroy Frankel, Longmont, CO

I'm not sure when folks started calling American office holders 'decision makers,' but isn't that ass-backwards? Seems to me the decision makers are the PEOPLE, the officers of government are PUBLIC SERVANTS, highly paid and solemnly sworn to do the bidding of the PEOPLE, according to the letter and intent of our Supreme Law...or did I wake up in another country or something this morning?

—Rick Weddle, Honokaa, HI

The internet must remain neutral!

—Durango Mendoza, Urbana, IL

This is within your area to regulate to keep the Internet Free of corporate interference, so do it!

—Paul Horne, Boynton Beach, FL

Access to an Internet protected by the principle of neutrality is a fundamental human right.

—Artis Klavins, New York, NY

End Republican corruption of the internet. Keep the internet open and free from monopolies.

—Joel Carlson, Lacey, WA

Net connectivity is now an essential requirement for communication. Constant unrestricted access to all of the internet is an absolute necessity. How can you allow providers to limit the access of users. No one limits the provider companies' band width. Why do the courts then allow the providers to micro manage our access to the net?

—Bob DeWitt, Dallas, TX

This is clearly not in the public interest, and only serves corporate greed. Stop it now.

—Joseph Ferri, Charleston, SC

Broadband is the last hope for retaining democratic freedom of speech for all.

—Lisa, Ancram, NY

Too expensive already!!

—John Roney, Gilbert, AZ

This censorship and sale of the internet must be stopped!!!

—Larry Buffington, Ellenwood, GA enough of big business running our lives through the government and buying our "representatives".

—Bill Gisbrecht Jr, Los Angeles, CA

my small business relies upon clients' easy accesss to our website.

—David Copson, Shipman, VA

First, media consolidation, then citizens united, now corporate control of the internet. Flying down the road to Facism.

—George Chianese, Philadelphia, PA

ISPs provide a SERVICE and must not be allowed to regulate access to CONTENT.

—J B. Wilson, San Francisco, CA

What ? another sale out to the corporations ? I can` t believe it.

—Don Webb, St Peters, MO

Human rights.

—JamesEric Eric McGee, Buena Park, CA

Let us not copy China! Net Neutrality NOW!

—Susan E Kronenfeld, Somerville, MA

Please restore net neutrality!
—Evan Solberger, San Diego, CA

This must be taken care of.
—Tom Walsh, Burbank, CA

We demand fast, secure, open Net. Net neutrality improves consumer confidence and participation. = revenue for business and Nation.
—Bruce Eggum, Gresham, WI

Get them
—Carlo Fiore, Chalmette, LA

Without regulations, citizens become prey and money interests become boss. I don't think my country was intended to be this way. King George lost the revolution.
—Thomas E Shaw, Reno, NV

Restore Internet Neutrality !!
—George Jivelekas, billings, MT

Remember AT&T? No more monopolies!
—Jan Harrison, Tucson, AZ

This may be the last truly open and democratic forum left in the entire world. For the USA to kill openness is a major travesty of our way of life. We need to be leaders of the world in what we do, not what we say. Restore Net Neutrality.
—Richard Sawransky, San Francisco, CA

Free the Internet NOW!
—Vincent Zapicchi, New York, NY

do your jobs for once. People before Profits.
—Robert Knill, Chicago, IL

No corporation should be allowed to control the internet.
—John Nilsen, Springfield, OR

They want to kill all messages but the message of corporate greed. Corporate Fascism is on the march, jackboots steppin' high.
—Gill Fahrenwald, Olympia, WA

We know that FCC wants to rule our internet and for this country to become like China with the way they restrict the internet. We don't live in China!!!
—Miss A Braswell, Bradenton, FL

The internet provides free speech at its purist. Please, please do not let big money and special interests destroy this great American institution.
—Paula S. Jordan, Lake Lure, NC

Take the Internet back!
—Clyde Summerell, Jacksonville, FL

Big money is calling the shots in every direction...The people are waking up...

—Brian Putman, Boulder Creek, CA

Why would anyone want to live in a society without net neutrality? Unless they were selfish rat-bastards who think exclusively in terms of "me uber alles."

—Christopher F. Vota, Eastampton, NJ

It is tire ring to stop these large Co. and Our Gov. from gaining and maybe lusting for Power and as the Quote goes Power cor-ups and absolute power cor-ups absolutely.

—Diane Emerson, burleeson, TX

Is this another chance for industry to rob the people. Why would politicians agrre to thi$?

—Fred Ernst, Homer Glen, IL

If the FCC fails us, what do you think we will have to do to avoid enslavement to corporate take-over of our lives?

—Lawrence E. Fraley, Reedsville, WV

By the way, ISP stands for Internet Service Provider. Does the FCC employ anyone under the age of 30 so they can explain the importance of net neutrality?

—Nita Graham, Fairview Heights, IL

The ISP monopolies are already out of control. I have ONE CHOICE for internet service where I live in los Angeles. We need more regulation, more competition, now.

—Randal Miles, Los Angeles, CA

The communication highways of this nation should not be privately controlled. They need to be closely regulated if not actually a governmental entity.

—Richard Martinez, Johns Creek, GA

Allowing providers to make decisions regarding priority of content opens the door to abuse. The internet is important internationally to enable people to obtain information freely. The US must continue to be an example to the world that freedom of information is more important than money and/or profits.

—Barbara Pohl, Chicago, IL

Please prevent big corporations from manipulating free and equal access to web services.

—Mr. John Coleman, Ithaca, NY free and open

—Michael Langlais, west warwick, RI

Restore the Net Neutrality rules

—Hans T. Pottinger, Lawrenceville, GA

restore Net Neutrality!

—Peggy Klekner, Harvard, IL

We don't need any daddy's to take care of us!!!!

—Josh Kronske, Bozeman, MT

This is just plain wrong. The court decision if not remedied amounts to a license for thievery on a grand scale. Please stand up and do your job to look after the interests of all of us, not just those who seek to maximize their own wealth at the expense of everyone else. Thank yo.

—Anthony Longman, Camarillo, CA

These firms have already been given an advantage in parts of publically owned bandwidth. They owe something back and should be required to serve public interest inexchange for beneficial access to a public asset.

—Kathryn M. Tominey, Benton City, WA

My cable company already controls what I can watch on TV, unless I pay them exorbitant amounts for dozens of extra channels I never watch. Why have we done this to ourselves? At least let's not do the same thing with the Internet. Talk about how to stifle the web entrepreneurship that has helped drive our economy recently! Please restore net neutrality.

—Sheryl Griffith, Red Hook, NY

your job is to protect the communication systems from becoming an oligarchy run by the big corporations. The judges in this case are dead wrong. They must have been bought off by the telecom companies.

—Bill Crymble, Carbondale, CO

Even though I don't live in the USA I will be affected by this so I sincerely believe we need net neutrality!

—Peet van de Sande, ,

It's about time the corporations started playing nicely with the citizens of this country. We need Net Neutrality in order to move forward in business, the arts and music, and our busy private lives. Open communications via the Internet are crucial to the health of our society.

—Jon Dainty, Peoria, IL

This is the land of the FREE and all greedy plots to rob the citizens for profit by taking away internet neutrality is WRONG! Our government officials should always stand with the citizens and against the greedy.

—Barbara Haener, Chesterfield, VA

I am so disappoited in my country. I can't wait to leave for good.

—Lucas Merriam, Apex, NC

Don't let the assholes win again!

—Jackson Hawk, Rogue River, OR

Please take this seriously and stand up for our rights!

—Abby Bormann, Marysville, WA

Please understand we need a net neutral internet- we the people don't worry about Verizon & the other big outfits-they get plenty with all their muscle. Start ups & little people need access.

—Judy Robertson, Moneta, VA

Ben Franklin said ...unless we hang together we will assurdily hang separately

—Eddy O Sullivan, ,

The only reason we have the world and technology we have right now is because innovation and freedom of speech were exercised. To attempt to clamp down on the creative process is to stifle it. Big Telecom would like stagnation of the imagination, but that's against human nature.

—Boris V Leonov, Seattle, WA

This has been an ongoing battle for years. It is finally time to take control and reclassify the internet access as we do telecommunications.

—Tom E. Newman, Torrance, CA

If this is allowed millions of people like me---middle class or poverty-- will not be able to use the internet. Another example of the Aristocrats saying that the rest of us do not matter. we are burdensome people of no worth. Do we really want to return to the 17th Century? Do we want to watch most of us going through the garbage cans of the Aristocrats for food and clothing? Do we want debtors prisons again? This is where we seem to be headed.

—Janet Cooney, Albuquerque, NM

Net neutrality is absolutely essential for freedom of speech. Please act in behalf of public interest and not the corporations, again.

—John Neff, Leavenworth, WA

Please the FCC to start treating broadband and to restore its net neutrality rules . Thank you

—Liu Wai Ling, ,

It's time to put an end to corporate corruption.

—Bill Lindner, Greenbrae, CA

Don't listen to the ISPs, make internet access a public good.

—Chad Hillesland, Tulsa, OK

Please don't let corporations take over yet another aspect of our lives

—Joe Kusiak, CHICAGO, IL

Net neutral Now

—Ann Watters, salem, OR

Don't sell us out to Verizon & Comcast!!!

—David Goldberg, St. Paul, MN

You are crippling American's ability to connect, collaborate and compete in the world markets. Your recent ruling seems so Anti-American.

—Ivan Womboldt, Palm Springs, CA

Verizon has already forced me into a "package" in order to get Internet service. This costs me almost $90. /month. All I actually need is the Internet - there are far less expensive telephone and TV options. But in this area your choices are either Verizon or Cablevision and the prices are the same and their packages are the same, so really the consumer only gets the choice of where to send his money.

—Chris Peck, Long Beach, NY

I am disgusted and terrified by this latest step towards what can only be called corporate fascism. A world without net neutrality would be disastrous. Please, please restore it.

—Meredith Phelan, Frederick, MD

Big companies control too much of America, the NET should be free to ALL!!

—Ann Sabra Valdick, Mill Valley, CA

The airways and internet belong to the People of the United States not Verizon. Both the cable and airways are part of the national communication infrastructure. We are paying for access and should not be limited by Corporate USA.

—Mike Schneible, rockville, MD

We the people not large telcom need net neutrality.

—Judith A. Reilly, Pagosa Springs, CO

The internet must be protected as a public good.

—Lissa McCullough, Los Angeles, CA

To costly already, every other country does it better !!

—Robert Travaline, Bridgeton, NJ

Net Neutrality is part of what is keeping democracy alive today. It must be preserved.

—Ryan Provonsha, Lynnwood, WA

Net Neutrality Now!

—Charlotte Duncan, Arlington, TX

I want my freedom from the bullies. The internet was a gift from the scientists of the world. Give it back now.

—Lauri Zaker, santa rosa, CA

I believe the FCC is corrupt along with the congress and all media, but if this will stop this horrendous act of sabotage of free speech, then I sign

—Leslie Harris, Mt Marion, NY

Please keep the internet open and free.

—Frank Fredenburg, Milford, PA

We have to have net neutrality or our democracy is gone.

—Sarah S White, Syracuse, NY

Please fix this issue it is not right to charge for a service I already pay for...

—Jeremy Wicke, Wausau, WI

Corrupt Judges need to put the needs of the people before corporate greed and control.

—Lloyd Zimmerman, Ferndale, WA

Don't take away our internet

—Edna, Choctaw, OK

The internet is where free speech and press currently exist. This is important to keep our freedoms.

—John Toeppen, Livermore, CA

No one company or group of companies own the Internet. Keep the Internet neutral for all Americans.

—Carl Gann, Fox Island, WA

This is ridiculous! We need real net neutrality. Please use your powers to regulate internet services using common carrier regulations. Internet services ARE a utility, the most important utility these days!

—Christopher T Loch, Minneapolis, MN

We ARE the people!! YOU represent us!! Restore the Net Neutrality rules!

—Gloria Quigley, The Villages, FL

enough of the big companies like Verizon, Comcast, etc, controlling our internet and TV. With the changes made a few years ago with our TV's our gov't forced us to now pay cable companies whatever they want. Do the citizens no longer matter in this country!

—Barbara Sharon Headley, McMinnville, OR

Killing the open internet is WRONG!!

—Toni Caldwell-Clark, Kansas City, KS

Why is it that most laws are for the corporations and not the people?

—John Ferrari, Hoosick Falls, NY

Do the RIGHT thing!

—Christian McCarty, Seattle, WA

The Internet does not belong to you or anyone else and should not be for sale. If this goes through, we know who got paid.....

—C Swenning, Richmond, CA

Time for you to take action.

—Nathan Sullenberger, Greensburg, PA

The reclassification as a lowly Information Service under "W" shot Net Neutrality in both feet. The only way out of this unnecessary mess is to reverse the fatally flawed reclassification. If there was ever a telecommunications system on planet Earth, it is the Internet!

—Mark Walker, Albuquerque, NM

The Internet belongs to the people, and not the corporations.

—Roland Buck, Arlington Heights, IL

I'm paying for access to the internet, not for someone to tell me what I can or cannot view. That's MY decision to make!

—Tamera Postles, Lincoln, DE

Just more evidence that big Corps manipulate & BUY the Gov't that is supposed to run America FOR the PEOPLE yet the politicians are just prostitutes for big business @ the American public's expense!!!

—Demian Lyman, Conway, SC

Let the "Free Market" thrive on a Free Internet. Don't sell the Internet to the highest bidder.

—Regis White, La Plata, MD

I am sick of big business infringing on my rights.

—Theresa Laning, Chesterland, OH

Neutrality!

—Paula Heady, Lake Elsinore, CA

Keep it open

—Mike Donovan, Livonia, NY

Big business and special interests MUST be stopped from controlling the internet- NOW

—Vaughn N. Anderson, Saint Petersburg, FL

Don't hand over the internet to the corporate usurpers. They have too much power already.

—Russ Pataky, Wichita, KS

Stop the greed and allow us to be more competitive. Remember that the internet was started and funded by the government (people's tax $) and not by these greedy CEOs.

—John T. Fombang, Humble, TX

fluid communication is the sign of a great civilization. Controlled communication is a sign of communism.

—Vickie Moyle, Virgin, UT

Thanks to you we get slower or banned internet and much higher bills. Just what Ma Bell and Verizon want. Thank you so much.

—Patrick J Murphy, Inola, OK

PLEASE STOP VERIZON !! NOW VERIZON IS VERY VERY EXPENSIVE !! Will be worst !! STOP THEM... I WILL HELP ON ANY THING ... THANK YOU...

—Alberto GS, El Paso, TX

Reclassify ISP's as common carriers and enforce net neutrality for all connections

—Adam Bettencourt, Saint Louis, MO

Broadband networks are already communications services, so it only makes sense that they are reclassified as what they are: telecommunications services.

—Angela Bivona, Edmonds, WA

Net neutrality is a founding principle of the internet. Please preserve it. Thank you.

—Dan Souder, Washington, DC

Restore Net Neutrality!!!!

—Mr. Ronald Gelden, LONGMONT, CO

The concept of Net Neutrality must be upheld.

—Philip Lipari, Colonia, NJ

Net Neutrality rules need to return. Corporations have shown they cannot handle this much power without serious greed!

—Brooks Rollyson, Waterford, MI

The airwaves are the property of people under the Constitution just as the National Parks and forest and grazing leases are. We have allowed the telecommunication industry to use them not destroy our constitutional rights to freedom to use our airwaves and privacy. You represent the people not corporations no matter how many judges say a corporation is a person, They are not, they are a business entity for the people not to control the people.

—John Pfersdorf, Tucson, AZ

Keep the internet accessible and free from manipulation by corporate decision

—Karen Krongold, Oakland, CA

Europe has far cheaper and easier access the web than the US. Which makes them freer than the "Land of the Free." Treat the internet like you treat the airways. They belong to the people not to private money so should have to give equal access to all parties.

—Jill Parker, Sacramento, CA

What's the point of the constitution and free enterprise if we keep kicking it in the throat.

—Matthew Lawliss, Dannemora, NY

After you have achieved a complete corporate takeover of our government, you will no longer be useful. The pain you dish out to others will become yours. Are you ready for that? Or have you convinced yourselves that you are somehow exempt from the greedy clutches of America, Inc.

—J Fields, Jacksonville, FL

Net neutrality is absolutely vital to maintaining the free exchange of information that is central to democracy.

—George G. Stradtman Jr., Elkins Park, PA

Leave the Internet alone. It should already be a magic wishing - bowl for all the citizen surveillance you could possibly want, as well as targeted marketing. How much money do you have to make? There really is only so much.

—Roland Norton, Saint Louis, MO

I'm tired of not having First World infrastructure and prices — what good has your so-called "competition" done, except to make a few vastly richer?

—Mary A. Keeler, Seattle, WA

The internet has become a fundamental common resource that all Americans share for communication, commerce, entertainment and news. Allowing differential pricing structures will allow larger corporations a disproportional control over resources that are now fundamental to our lives. The internet should be controlled by people not corporations. Thank-you.

—Eric Grimm, Portland, OR

Net neutrality is essential for a democratic country

—William R Ferrell, Tucson, AZ

The day after the court's decision, I noted that some non-commercial sites i visit loaded much more slowly than the commercial ones, one site taking almost 2 minutes to load when the previous day it was immediate. This has continued to today...

—Robert Waldbauer, Wind Gap, PA

Having already FORCED millions of Americans to purchase analog TV at the control of TV stations which previously had been FREE to consumers, It is NOT in OUR best interests that you do the same with the internet. Keep the internet an open access communications resource for EVERYONE

—Rick Nevitt-LaMantia, Capitola, CA

FREEDOM

—Mark Wulk, Albany, OR

This needs to happen.

—Jim Shimmin, Cheyenne, WY

Government can not seem to find enough money to help kids get a decent education in school, maybe they can just allow people to at least access the internet. That will not cost it money.

—Lorna Paisley, East Dubuque, IL

If you let private industry control this consumers will be screwed. Look at what Europe is doing and follow their example.

—Alex Solomotis, Columbia, MD

You MUST reclassify broadband internet as a telecommunications service NOW. Especially in rural areas such as the place where I live, internet access is already limited by the lack of competition, limited numbers of providers, fees that exceed those in large cities for service that has a small fraction of the speed and reliability necessary to conduct daily business, and an egregious reluctance to improve the infrastructure. If America is to have a real economic recovery, its citizens and small businesses MUST have access to a free and open internet 24/7, and not be obligated to contribute to the outrageous profits these companies are already making. The internet today is the equivalent of the TELEPHONE early in the century. Economic growth in the real world (Not Wall Street) is absolutely linked to a free and open internet for EVERYONE. Assert the authority you legally have to assert control over America's vital telecommunications infrastructure.

—Betty Jean Buckley, Power, MT

thank you

—Jack Tips, Austin, TX

How many times do the citizens have to tell Congress to support Net Neutrality? As a member of the higher education community, fast easy access to the internet is indispensable. The big telecom giants are already engaging in deceptive advertising by suggesting they provide high internet speeds but then state in the fine print that they only promise "up to ..." that high speed. In reality the consumer may only experience VERY slow speeds--less than was possible via old modems of years ago.

—Jacquelyn Coven, Valparaiso, IN

Allowing telecommunications companies to control access to the Internet is comparable to China's control of the Internet.

—Dr. Dennis Seager, Milwaukee, WI

FCC needs to renew following their mandate to regulate the "airwaves" by virtue of their falling under the Interstate Commerce Act. Because this agency has not [been able to] fulfill its obligations in the post-Newton Minnow period (in many cases through pressure from other government departments with more power [and that are more highly influenced by the industry that FCC is supposed to regulate rather than being regulated by], we have come close to allowing the resurrection of a "Ma Bell"-like entity that would make the original AT&T look like an ineffective weakling -- as it would encompass all of the old Bell System as well as: the major entertainment and information empires, cell-phone, cable and internet access, what's left of publishing, etc. -- in other words a few non-competitive corporations that have been given the capability of limitless self-promotion and image perfecting with the ability to stifle alternative ideas, viewpoints, policy proposals, etc. One situation sums up how unprotected from an information monopoly/plutocracy we have been for almost 1/2 century: In the mid-1960's, CBS started playing around with cable transmission in densely populated regions (essentially exploring its potential); they hooked this cable experiment to a few local TV stations and called the new division Viacom. Within a few years, it was determined that CBS' continued holding onto and expanding Viacom further would violate anti-trust laws, so CBS was forced to divest. Fast forward 3 decades and you see Viacom (which had become a huge presence in cable channels and, by then, also owned Paramount) launching and subsequently completed a take-over of CBS (its erstwhile parent). And nobody at FCC or elsewhere voiced any concern about this being a monopoly threat (as it certainly WAS -- and a far larger one that split Viacom from CBS decades before. This is a great example of how the public's interest has fallen to the wayside when large corporations want to become even more monopolistic in our current society. Unless we want to end up living in a corporate, capitalist plutocracy, oligarchy, monarchy, we'd best relearn how to play by the rules of Democracy and put Capitalism back in its secondary role of providing flexibility of manufacturing and funding to protect (rather than displace) Democracy.

—Dr. Mark D. Tolpin MD, Millburn, NJ

No one should own the internet.

—Eric C Rader, Manteca, CA

Stop and reverse the rise of fascism in America! Stop and reverse the rise of the American fascist military/police state! Preserve the free and open internet!

—John and Martha Stoltenberg, Elkhart Lake, WI

C'mon guys. Step up, and kick some sand in those bullies' faces.

—David Menefee, Hayfork, CA

Restore Net Neutrality. Protect us from more future oligopolistic Internet Service Providers.

—Edward A. Curley, San Bruno, CA

Everyone deserves access to the internet whenever they desire it.

—Donald Morrison, West Windsor, VT

do not let big business and government control this platform for freedom. The internet lets many speak out and be heard, that if controlled, they will be silenced!

—Thomas A. Guaraldi, Houston, TX

Do you work for Verizon, Comcast, Google or we citizens? (I'm afraid I know the answer.) I'm asking you to defy your "owners" and regulate them.

—Robert E Flynn, Minneapolis, MN

Verizon has class action lawsuit filed against it for illegal third party billing. Were you aware of this or were you napping?

—LJ Orszulak, Chicopee, MA

The Internet is for EVERYONE, not just those who can afford it.

—Brent Feeney, St. Louis, MO

Please give us back Net Neutrality!

—Steven Lugo, Ashby, MA

This is the results of Corporate Media taking control of our government. We MUST get money out of our politics or this will only get worse. This is a matter of controlling our free speech. Speech is free for ALL and ONLY People Are People.

—Katherine Wuthrich, Chicago, IL do not screw this up!!!

—Robert Garrod, Tigard, OR

Can't stop the signal!

—Christopher Tobias, Pittsburgh, PA

Only cowards and addicts to money and power are afraid of freedom of speech.

—Thelma Follett, Bellingham, WA

Please restore the previous Net Neutrality rules. Make ISPs play fair!

—Carol Vallejo, Stockton, CA

Keep the Internet Neutral.

—Dan Rynberg, Yarmouth, ME

Quit with the greed!

—Gary, Kihei, HI

We can not let the corporations take complete control over creative thought, or there will be no turning back for humanity. Please rescind this and allow for creativity and individuality.

—Ma Comm Gary R Casebeer Ma. Ed, portland, OR

The internet IS a communication service. If it is not treated as such, the problems it will cause will eventually overwhelm the industry. How could you not realize this? PRESERVE THE OPEN INTERNET NOW!

—Paul Alexander, Los Lunas, NM

Disgusting that Verizon can buy off this country. RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY!

—Bruce Johnson, Carson City, NV

keep our networks open

—Tevet Tee, Los Angeles, CA

The FCC is supposed to work for the people, not the corporations. You know what the right thing to do is, SO DO IT!

—Tim Blaes, Hendersonville, NC

This is a frontal attack on the last hope of American democracy and free-enterprise. This country will not survive corporate fascism without a genuinely open media.

—Cole Viscichini, Steubenville, OH

Please side with the American citizenry on this and enforce strict net neutrality!

—John Sacko, Santa Barbara, CA

This is the underhanded greed, that hinders our nation. Must everything only be for those who have wealth? It is unfair and unconstitutional to hinder communication, it is part of the second amendment. Please do not allow this to happen. I am a disabled person who counts on the internet to do things normal people can go to places to do. I can not get around like everyone else. Please do not do this. I live on SSI and can not afford to pay more for internet service or access. Have a heart.

—Janet Deynes Rodriguez, Bronx, NY

The Internet IS NOT entertainment! The Internet is essential as newspapers and broadcaster diverge from the Public Interest.

—Robert Spies, Portland, OR

The American People are tired of having government or large corporations dictating what they can and can't do. If this is not changed, other changes on a grassroots level will emerge to circumvent or neutralize these rulings.

—David L. Mefford, American Fork, UT

I am a Veteran, Active Voter and TaxPayer. As a Veteran I put my life on the line for Democracy. Please help stop the plutocratic take over and save American Democracy and the middle class.

—James K Hadcroft, N. Falmouth, MA

This hit to the open internet is like the ones to limits on campaign financing (i.e., Citizens United) and the voting rights act, Democracy itself has taken another hit; but in this case, Mr. Wheeler, you can do something.

—Albert Adato, Brooklyn, NY

There's too much intrusion on written content and opinion as it is. Agreed there are abusers, but this must remain an internal problem, not to be adjudicated by private interests.

—Ross Chamberlain, Las Vegas, NV

it not bad enough the nsa wants to store all digital data but now the phone companies want to control which data gets thru and when leave the internet unregulated and as free and open as possible

—Rob Hilbun, Paia, HI

Restore Net Neutrality .

—Ellen and John, Midlothian, VA

Defy corporate interests. Keep the internet free and unregulated.

—Roxana, New York, NY

Please preserve the open internet; reclassify broadband Internet access as a telecommunications service; restore Net Neutrality rules.

—Catherine Hunt, Piscataway, NJ

Internet for the people, not the corporations

—Ron Meier, Appleton, WI

Keep the internet free.

—Nathan Lalum, Minneapolis, MN

The Internet has become a vital part of everyday life, and it's usefulness depends on it's uncensored freedom. You MUST stop that from being taken away!

—David Desautel, Sequim, WA

Please do not allow the internet to become yet another piece of corporate property. Fight back against the judges' ruling, and ensure the lasting neutrality of the internet. We can't do this without your help!

—Benny Lichtner, San Francisco, CA

Please put the people first, NOT corporate profits!

—Karen Kirchoerfer, Orefield, PA

Our freedoms and democracy are being eroded and the pace is speeding up. People are finally waking up to this and are fed up.

—Deanna Booms, Pueblo, CO

This really needs to stop. We will not rest, we will not quit.

—Daniel Miller, Webster Springs, WV

Please keep the NET open and FREE for all who use it. Huge corporations should not be in charge of the NET. This is not fair to all people in this country. Please do the right thing and keep it free and OPEN for all.

—Sherrie Pizzo, Elmira, NY

I want Net Neutrality back without interference of corporations!

—Patricia Moran, Rio Rancho, NM

In this day & age everyone is so dependent on the internet, that this will seriously curtail our rights to fast, open communications via our computers!

—Virginia H. Bennett, Honolulu, HI

We, the people of the world, are all born free!

—Jose Venegas, ,

Ludicrous!

—M T, Mount Holly, NJ

Please protect our freedom to access an open internet.

—Virginia Massie, Pierre, SD

hi

—Aalghafa, ,

Don't take their money. Protect the rights of the American people please.

—Lowell Levinger, Inverness, CA

Just do it.

—Ms. Elisabeth Pelham, Galveston, TX

It belongs to all of us and we all use it. No one should have special preference.

—Lana Wilson, Tucson, AZ

FCC, Please stop big business from taking over the internet. Make sure NET NEUTRALITY is reinstated. Don't let the appeals courts stop us from an open, accessible network.

—Gabrielle G Weddle, Aloha, OR

We can not let the internet devolve to cable TV

—John A. Lucia, Peoria, IL

The only reason to take our freedom away is to protect the big cooperations and censure us for their financial and power gain. What ever happened to freedom of speech?

—Diana Day, Monterey, CA

KEEP THE INTERNET OPEN AND FREE OF CENSORSHIP !!!

—Victor M. Villa, Lomita, CA

The internet is a public resource and not the property of private enterprise. The internet is part of our daily communications just as the airwaves are for TV, radio and telephone services.

—Jerry Matsui, Seattle, WA

This is outrageous. We can do so much better than this lack of regulatory policy that should be in place for the common good. We can do so much better.

—Reverend Sandra Mackie, Gettysburg, PA

It is time for the FCC, et al, to take control of the Internet and provide net neutrality for all Americans. Enough with corporate and big money control of information.

—James O'Connell III, Westminster, CA

Keep. If companies hands off our freedom!!!!

—Richard Anderson, Vista, CA

We do not need the introduction of intentional economic bias on information accessibility. The default should be unbiased flow through information channels. Information content sources can decide whether or not to put a price on it.

—Paul J Bredderman Sr., Clifton Park, NY

Power corrupts. Absolute power corrupts absolutely. Excessive corporate influence has become pervasive throughout all areas of our government. It is past time to rein it in and reclaim our country as a democracy.

—Patty Barga, Indianapolis, IN

Keep the web neutral is owned by all citizens and all content should be equally accessible to allow choice. To not do so, is to promote digital censorship and clearly curtails freedom.

—Susan Longley, Charleston, IL

Please stop underhanded tactics.

—Bernie Martinez, Rialto, CA

Contrary to the court's assumption, most of us do NOT have a choice of ISPs, and allowing them to block or charge for content would harm everyone.

—Fred Granlund, North Hollywood, CA

The internet was developed with taxpayer money. It belongs to the public!

—Jill Johnston, VADER, WA

My taxes paid for the development of the internet. I pay my ISP to deliver content. I should be the one in control of what content gets delivered.

—Debra Harris, Skokie, IL

Dear Sirs and Madams, I honestly feel a need to remind you that we the people own those air waves, anything that you monitor is owned by us, these people just rent the use of those services, but should not be allowed to control their content, or our ability to use them freely. Thank you.

—Terry Mair, Midway, UT

don't give away our communications channel - they do not have the right to control the content we send thru their 'pipes' !!!!

—Veronica Roach, Vernon, NJ

Why must we the people suffer because we want free speech. It is in the constitution that we have a right to speak. Why take it away.

—Rebecca S Stephens, Tallahassee, FL

Lets get together and write some Net Neutrality Laws ASAP!!!! Then some Digital Privacy Laws!!!

—David Neckolaishen, Aurora, IL

The courts again have been bought by big business and made a terrible, unconscionable decision and the Internet will no longer be free; It will be available only to those who can afford it like the outrageous fees monopolies like Comcast require to view PUBLIC SIGNALS IN REMOTE AREAS. HDTV has been a disaster and remote areas no longer receive signals from major 'local' stations without paying for it. This will be the end of the Internet for many like TV. Remember Ameritech? They made huge sums of money but they also lost many customers in the process.

—Mr. Paul T. Jackson, Enumcalw, WA

Is anyone taking money or favors under the table that cannot see the benefits to the all, including the Judges, that the free access to internet provide; and includes public schools. The internet services are already making enough money to sleep all day and see their bank accounts grow. WHY DO THEY WANT MORE TO PICK-POCKET THE VAST MAJORITY? What are they really gaining?

—Blanca Thompson, San Rafael, CA

keep profiteering out of our cultural utiities

—Dave Lang, Vashon, WA

Stop this now!

—Peter Beatty, Casper, WY

The internet was created for people, not for corporate leeches.

—William Tepper, Rochester, NY

Do NOT let Big Telecomm step on free speech!

—Kris Lewis, Lexington Park, MD

Big telecom is acting like a big bully. Like the big banks, it's time to break up big telecom

—Karl Meller, Minneapolis, MN

How about representing real people -- not big corporations -- for a change?

—Barry Hamilton, Albuquerque, NM

Neutrality is best for everyone.

—Brian D. Bertien, Burtonsville, MD

The internet is the best common carrier we have in the 21st century. Keep it open to all.

—Patrick Vingo, Norwalk, CT

I look forward to your reply.

—David Gustafson, Moline, IL

FCC do your job and keep the internet neutral.

—Roy Robinson, Spangle, WA

There is no good reason for bills to be so high.

—Leana Bosley, Wylie, TX

It would be best for all internet users to leave it the way it was. Net Neutrality.

—Albert Bechtel, Seattle, WA

The internet is for the people, it is NOT for private use for profit driven companies. They can establish their own nets.

—Jerry Amos, Hollis, NH

I AM A INTERNET USER ALONG WITH MY FAMILY & FRIENDS AS WELL TO. THEREFORE I AM STOP PUTTING A STOP TO YOU THE FCC,. TO TRING TO BLOCKING DISCRMINATE,AGINST WEBSITS, APPLICATINS SERVICES. THANK-YOU S.K.G.

—Sharon Gallenberger, Spring Valley, CA

Internet = Freedom of Spech. Kill the Internet, and you kill the constitution, all for the sake of corporate greed.

—Thomas Matthews, Ben Lomond, CA

The internet should be any company's proprietary data link.

—Donald Weigt, Madison, WI

I communicate through the internet VoIP is an example. FCC keep our lines open and neutral.

—Sherrylee Felger, Port Orford, OR

Please!

—Richard Stockton, Bothell, WA

The courts are supposed to protect our freedom - I served 21 years with two tours in a combat zone. The courts must stop BIG MONEY from taking away our freedom and that means access to the internet at my choice not that of BIG MONEY!

—John L Grand, Green Valley, AZ

On the one hand... freedom and democracy. On the other hand... corporate control and Fascism. Those are your choices, Mr. Wheeler. Choose wisely.

—Meredith Sheane, Missoula, MT

RESTORE IT NOW !!!

—robert J. Davis, santa Rosa, CA

Blocking/censorship by corporations according to THEIR whim or to enhance their bottom line is NOT acceptable. Americans want a FREE and open internet, not pay again for another 'cable TV or satellite provider'!

—Joy Sullivan, Newton, NJ

Eliminating net neutrality is just WRONG! What about that do you not understand?

—Joe Touchette, Richmond, VT

This is America...please restore net neutrality NOW!

—Debran Reed, Elk Grove, CA

Keep the internet out of the control of corporate greed

—Robert Carroll, Cocolalla, ID

We need net neutrality .

—Ivan Sizemore, bartlett, IL

Protect our nation's communications infrastructure from GREEDY, CONTROLLING corporations!

—Robert Pound, Concord, CA

Keep the Internet Open and Free!! Now Corporate Contolled!!!!!! For All People!!!!!!

—Joshua Heffron, NYC, NY

This will be a real blow to our freedom!!!

—Larry Lapuyade, San Anselmo, CA

This is a threat to free speech itself.

—Curt Gebhart, Woodside, NY

It is imperative we have net neutrality.

—Tim Allen, Seattle, WA

Internet is a utility. It is a public good.

—Peter Shaw, Portland, OR

Let go of the strangle hold of control. And let freedom take root.

—Christopher Skylar Bolton, Durango, CO

Protect the people from corporations. That is why you are there....

—Chris Hooper, Austin, TX

Please don't take any more from "the rest of us" as we have already given more than enough!!!!

—Rebecca Hickey, Portland, OR

This bullshit will not be taken lightly, letting big businesses strangle citizens is practically treason, stop.

—Vincent Fayle, Fairfax, VA

The current ruling will inhibit innovation and generally contradicts the principles on which the Internet was founded. Consider the history and keep Net Neutrality. Keep the power of the Internet out of the hands of a select few.

—Karen Carney, Spencertown, NY

Net neutrality is essential to keep a level field for small businesses and new businesses, and continue a healthy competitive and innovative business environment

—Felipe Lara, Los Angeles, CA

Without Net Neutrality, the phone companies will be able to price internet service like they now do for cellular service and like cable companies do for cable television service. They could charge you more if say, you wanted to shop at Amazon or stream Netflix or even if you wanted to stream your favorite NPR radio station. Without Net Neutrality, full access to the Internet will only be available to those who are wealthy enough to pay for every website they want to visit. This is another tactic by corporations to maximize their profits at the expense of the hard-working middle class.

—Larry Bathgate, Mill Valley, CA

Penalizing those who can not or chose not to support major internet suppliers should not be subject to reduced accessibility or speed.

—Douglas Caine, Rochester, NY

Please support Net Neutrality.

—John Flaig, San Jose, CA

Once you corneil the freedom of the airwaves the next thing you will censure our freedom of Expration , freedom of the press and so on .

Don't do away with the most fondamental rights of the human race .

—Marion gross, Beverly hills, CA

Protect the open internet

—Mike Casey, Bloomfield, CT

Getting information not controlled by big business is already work. Stop them from further limiting information vital to our rights to choose and to act in our own interests.

—Virginia Brown-Nolan, Silver Spring, MD

The internet is high enough now. If you pass anything to make it go higher I will have to drop mine.

—Harley McNeal, Davenport, IA

U.S. taxpayer monies developed the Internet, just as they pay for road, bridges, and other aspects of our infrastructure. Broadband Internet access is a service. Treat it as such.

—Sarah McKee, Amherst, MA

Keep the Internet neutrality policy in place.

—Max Keene, Northport, AL

Please reclassify broadband as a telecommunications service and restore Net Neutrality.

—Karen Keating-Secular, Rego Park, NY

America needs open internet

—Andrew Kroese, Lincoln, NE

Don't let others still the freedom of small business to compete with big business

—Steven turner, Selma, VA

Welcome to communism

—Marion Cavanagh, Cortez, FL

Censorship like this is communism in the making in the United States. It must be stopped or what little is left of our democracy will totally vanish.

—Jason McGuire, San Ramon, CA

In this land of the "free" we still need at least some semblance of "freedom of speech" and are entitled to a modicum of privacy, eh? Or do I misread our constitution/bill of rights?

—Kevan Vance, Melbourne, FL

Stop this OUTRAGEOUS power grab!

—Mr. Tom Van Wagner, Nevada City, CA

I don't want an oligarchy running the country.

—Mark Volovar, Venice, CA

Keep the playing field level to all.

—Tim Kilbride, Louisville, CO

We are passing the point of very unpopular bills passed by Corp-(effort)-Congress, and Election time... when new blood may be that at boiling point.

—DeWayne E. Benson, Blaine, MN

Restore Net Neutrality

—Floyd Van De Vere, Monterey, CA

The internet belongs to the public - NOT to corporations and we should have the freedom on what we see, who uses it and who we access it. It does not belong to certain corporations!

—AnneMarie Lewis, Spokane, WA

Why are our rights being stripped away all in the name of greed?

—Susan Boyce, Myrtle Creek, OR

The Internet belongs to all of us, and it should, therefore, be protected from manipulation by non-neutral parties.

—Michael Anderson, Bellingham, WA

Information is power and it's clear that the monetary power brokers don't like all of us to have a piece of the pie. This is a tipping point in time. Humanity wants an evening to occur. Don't let the minority enslave us by dumbing us down. We deserve to be able to access it all. Keep the NET neutral.

—Elaine Dolan, Seattle, WA

NEWS FLASH "America turns Communist"

—Connor, Macclenny, FL

Internet is a telecommunication format and falls under FCC regulations. Please do your job and keep the Internet open. Don't let the other lame people in office dictate what is clearly the job and task of the FCC to regulate telecommunications which also mean putting a stop to any monopoly on data and or theft to data by the NSA.

—Galane Flores, La Crosse, WI

Tom Wheeler, You don't want the destruction of the free and open internet to be your life's legacy. Google the destruction of the library in Alexandria - do you really want to be that guy? JH/Indiana

—John Hubertz, Fort Wayne, IN

American actions to protect net neutrality are critical to maintaining open access to the internet world-wide-

—Richard Lyons, ,

The rest of the world is laughing at you right now. How can you truly believe you are helping the world, let alone your own citizens if something like this goes through?

—Corbin Stack, Reinheim,

The Internet was created to be a means of free expression and it must remain so. Please do not let ISP's or telecoms to control our access, speed, or content from the Internet. Internet is a telecommunications service and should remain free from corporate manipulation, over pricing, and political ideology.

—Ron A McCullough, Nashville, TN

It makes no sense to censor the Internet! Why do it when in the end everyone will lose?

—Vivien Britton, Bandon, OR

Are they determined to steal every single thing we have?

—Doug Westendorp, Minneapolis, MN

The internet must remain free for all people and must take the necessary steps to make broadband networks open, accessible, reliable and affordable for everyone.

—Kenneth T Parker, Klamath Falls, OR

I live in an area with one HSI provider. I choose not to subscribe to their expensive cable service. I'm worried they now have the power to cripple services such as Amazon Instant Video, Netflix, and Hulu. This is completely unfair, as this will almost force users to pay more for internet or subscribe to their cable service. The majority of big ISPs are also television providers. This could be a big problem.

—Joshua McCoy, Shelton, WA

Don't let the big telecoms take over the internet!

—Kevin M Ingraham, Vallejo, CA

The internet may be the last of our surviving "commons". Let's not privatize it - just to let mega-corporations sell what was once free back to the people.

—William R Knight, Palmer, AK

Please restore net neutrality. It is vital to any democracy to have it. Otherwise, only those who can afford to pay more can get more information and get it faster. It allows providers to censor the Internet also. Please restore net neutrality now!

—Carmen Hendershott, New York, NY

the internet is NOT YOURS!!!! It's everyone's and everyone has the right to experience the internet unfettered by your corporate shroud.

—Marshall Ross Winkler, Scotts, MI

Please do your job-- support Democracy and protect citizens from the ravages of greedy, immoral corporations!

—Kevin B Havener, Chicago, IL

The internet is and should have remained a "common carrier." Period. Please restore net neutrality now.

—Jane Vieira, New Bedford, MA

YOU HAVE THE AUTHORITY TO REGULATE the internet to RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY. Simply RECLASSIFY BROADBAND INTERNET ACCESS AS A "TELECOMMUNICATIONS" SERVICE.

—Glen Anderson, Lacey, WA

The FCC has been failing us for years and it is time to step up to protect the citizens from unfair costs and media consolidation.

—Zenda Boss-Hall, Bellevue, WA

Please do what is right and honor the peoples' voices!! Please don't allow our freedom of speech to be taken away!! What does the United States of America stand for anymore?

—Flora Solano, Albuquerque, NM

I am paying for a service I'm not receiving. Comcast advertises fast speed for internet, yet can't produce it, or won't produce it. This is false advertising. For you to allow Verizon to slow down users' apps or stop Netflix is a crime. We call this Crime, Extortion, or Black mail, along with false advertising. We pay for a product and expect to get it. How a purchaser decides to use what they purchased should be up to them. Many of us don't have the time to watch T.V. but at times may want to watch a Netflix movie and that should be up to the purchaser and not be forced to upgrade at the cost of $200.00 a month, just to watch a movie. You are supposed to represent the people, not the conglomerates who bribe you. Where is this country going to? Oh-ya to Verizon and the ones who pay you the most. You're not representing us the American people, sorry I forgot your pay-off. Thanks for nothing, this time you proved who pays the most gets the most.

—Jerald Boger, Spokane, WA

It's time to end the duopoly on broadband!

—Will Mahoney-Watson, Lake Oswego, OR

Keep the Internet Free and Neutral. It is the last media we have left that hasn't been taken over by government and megacorporation propaganda ministers.

—Barry Mead, Tempe, AZ

Please clarify and rectify FCC's position so that the internet stays unimpeded. Thank you.

—Charles Blackmore, Gresham, OR

Evenhanded and transparent, go!

—Mr. Alan Young, Hilo, HI

The internet should be as free and as ubiquitously available as radio.

—Nan Clancy, Saint Marys, OH

PROTECT YOUR CONSTITUENTS! If you're looking after a corporation's well being over the well being of the people you're supposed to be representing, you are bought and paid for and no longer deserve to serve.

—Jon Enge, Los Angeles, CA

The blatant takeover by Big Business of every aspect of life is intolerable, and the courts support of it only shows that justice may be blind, but she's not poor anymore.

—Eric Jacobs, Boise, ID

The internet must always be as free as the mind.

—Tyler Raymond, Folsom, CA

America is built on connectivity - that's why we need to make sure the Internet is open, accessible, and affordable to everyone. The Internet plays a crucial role in the lives of families, small businesses, and citizens each and every day. That's why the FCC needs to do its job and protect affordable, open Internet access for all of us.

—Joyce Hansen, Ferryville, WI

This ruling is truly alarming.

—Merideth Genin, New York, NY

America is built on connectivity - that's why we need to make sure the Internet is open, accessible, and affordable to everyone. The Internet plays a crucial role in the lives of families, small businesses, and citizens each and every day. That's why the FCC needs to do its job and protect affordable, open Internet access for all of us.

—Jerry Hansen, Ferryville, WI

Internet is an established aspect of modern living. Everything from car maintenance, real estate, job hunting, child care, hospital linkage to your doctor and your medical records, food delivery, weather.com, breaking news, you name it, the joys and the perils of everyday living in the United States and throughout the world is obtainable on the Internet. In one way or another we are already paying for it. Internet provider service, cost of computer and printer, scanner, fax, cell phone, camera, everything including how to access local police and fire station is now on the Internet. Cutting service is like cutting off your own head.

—Suzanne Cerny, El Cerrito, CA

"WE THE PEOPLE" want the internet to stay free for us all.

—Dale Howard, Huntington, TX

Once again corporations are intruding into citizens space. I ask our FCC to restore the Internet to citizens.

—Marjorie Johnson, Espanola, NM

Please take the necessary action to construct legislation that will withstand scrutiny to ensure the internet is available to all regardless of ability to pay. Let's not enlarge the have and have-not divide.

—Edith Smith, Mount Airy, MD

Save democracy net neutrality!

—Guy Zahller, aptos, CA

This issue is vital to the preservation of democracy in the United States. Do not hesitate to do all in your power to retain and strengthen net neutrality.

—Jamie C Thompson, Sparks, NV

Perhaps we can also get a ruling that ethnic minorities should have to pay higher utility rates ??

—Duane L. Leavitt, Buckfield, ME

keep the Internet Free and Open.

—Joseph C Pianta, Erie, PA

The voters must come first.

—Sam Russo, Rochester, NY

Please do not lay down and let the Telcos hack up the internet into privately run subnets.

—Stephen Price, Medway, MA

I truly believe that net neutrality is essential to the health and well-being of our democracy. Please do everything you can do to protect it!!

—PJ Carter, Corvallis, OR

Protect the Internet!!!

—Adrian Fernandez, Brawley, CA

Enough is enough. I will pull the plug, because I can and really won't have a choice. I would also drop my Verizon cell phone if they do this.

—Elizabeth Sturm, Vulcan, MI

I'm sorry, but it seems almost every gov't agency is filled to the brim with controls that DON't serve the interests of the people.

—Kirk Taylor, Yelm, WA

This really needs to be addressed. The internet should not work like a cable TV where you have to pay for content you dont want to get channels you do want. A level playing field for the internet is key to keeping information freedom.

—matthew Joy, Anchorage, AK

With this ruling there is no one who can protect the citizens of this country from ISPs that block or discriminate against websites, applications or services. What happened to freedom of speech? Freedom to go to any legal website regardless if the company is not being its greedy self and not making money from the website, or their ability to block websites that they feel are not in line with their viewpoints? This IS WRONG!

—Michael Bilecki, brookhaven, NY

Thank you for doing the right thing.

—Carole Moore, Zephyrhills, FL

What does it take to get the FCC to take care of the people instead of the special interests? Will you please just do your job and look out for the PUBLIC?

—Michael Arentoft, Atlantic Highlands, NJ

Who voted for this we need names

—Kenneth Grant, PORTLAND, OR

RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY and protect our nation's communications infrastructure.

—Stephen Dvorak, Mountain View, CA

Do what is right for the people, not the corporations.

—Rudy Avizius, Cherry Hill, NJ

Broadband is a communications service. Blocking communication is CENSORSHIP!

—Karen, Granite Bay, CA

Why would anyone allow discrimination? I'm expecting you to make sure no one is discriminated against with this ruling. Step up and preserve OUR open Internet please. Dawna Brown

—Dawna, Yorktown, VA

The net must be free for all !

—Kurt Sjolander, Park Falls, WI

So...why don't we all do the unthinkable and shut down our comuters for a day? I mean...where would that leave the NSA?

—Linda Hosay, Columbia, VA

Many of us use the internet in conducting business, it must remain free and untaxed, either by government or by corporations.

—James S. Dorr, Bloomington, IN

Please do all you can to insure Net Neutrality. Of primary importance is the availability of information that is an alternative to the corporate-controlled media outlets.

—Glen Kappy, Albuquerque, NM

Discrimination, a lack of support, corruption, etc. all lead to one alarming outcome.... if nothing is fixed, fixed properly without delays or tricks....

—Andrew Weaver, Castaic, CA

You must act boldly before all of our freedoms are destroyed and we become a nation of mindless sheep -- oh yeah, that's exactly what the corporatocracy wants -- but you have the power to change that bleak forecast.

—Brenda Balanda, Inverness, CA

Please let us keep one remaining freedom.

—Helen Wasson, Seward, AK

This should be common sense.

—Sara Hunsaker, Mc Leansville, NC

Whats going on in America??????????????

—David Charles, Pac Pal, CA

Treat broadband like a communications service!

—Alice Trexler, arlington, MA

The internet IS a telecommunications service!!

—Karl Smiley, Blodgett, OR

Start treating broadband like a communications service, and to restore its Net Neutrality rules. This is very unfair to the disadvantaged, who need it most.

—Jane Waldman, Chicago, IL

Allowing Verizon, AT&T, and other giant telecom companies to control the internet is beyond madness. PLEASE take action now by reclassifying broadband as a telecommunications service -- which is exactly what it is.

—Russell Engebretson, Norman, OK

Let's get this done NOW!!!!

—M Leszczynski, Lapeer, MI

The internet is critical to our survival as a free and democratic country. Do not act to benefit the robber barons who control so many other parts of our country. Make a decision for freedom. The future of this great country is at stake.

—Susan George, Hazlet, NJ

RESTORE Net Neutrality rules!

—Rod, Tempe, AZ

Please side with the powers that would ensure our freedom rather than our slavery...Do what is right...Thank you...

—BSN Lucas Moon Derhy RN, Denver, CO

In an electronic world, net neutrality is undoubtedly a foundational principle for any democratic society.

—Margaret Merrill, Blacksburg, VA

The people own the internet, not the telecom companies.

—Daniel E Kovacs, Ranchos de Taos, NM

Net Neutrality is vital to a growing economy. Allowing Telcos to take over control of the Internet will prevent vital economic growth and stall our economy, and line their pockets with cash. PLEASE RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY NOW. Treat broadband like a communications service, and to restore its Net Neutrality rules.

—William Hall, Berkeley, CA

THIS IS FASCIST BULLSHIT. WE THE PEOPLE ARE SICK AND TIRED OF COMPROMISED JUDICIAL AND LEGISLATIVE "MINIONS" DESTROYING OUR FREEDOM. GODDAMN TIRED OF IT. THIS ADMIRALTY LAW IS AN UNCONSTITUTIONAL ABOMINATION

—Jeffry Benning, cheektowaga, NY

!Open communication for democracy

—Deborah Sullivan, Pittsford, NY

I am a Verison customer but this is not right. The internet and mobile devices are already expensive don't make it even cost even more.
—Molly Walker, Austin, TX

It is time this country was ruled by people not greedy corporations,
—Cheryl Schuelke, Sultan, WA

Net neutrality is too important to our democracy not to maintain. The Internet was founded on the taxpayers dollars and we should continue our ownership of it.
—Victoria Python, San Francisco, CA

I BELIEVE WE HAVE BECOME THE PEOPLE THAT WE DISRESPECTED. Our actions propel US, to our blindness of destroying everything we need to live, for MONEY!
—Neil Stecker, TAMARACK, MN

The Internet belongs to everyone. Corporations should not be given the power to regulate it's content. This isn't China!
—Jeff Thompson, Minneapolis, MN

Yes, FCC people, perform your PUBLIC SERVICE job in the way the PUBLIC---the citizens of this country!---pay you to do!!! Listen to THE PUBLIC! We demand our constitutional right to free speech in all its forms and that includes the Internet, which was NOT created by a large corporation for its own profit! FCC PEOPLE, RECLASSIFY THE INTERNET AS A TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE TO PRESERVE ITS OPENNESS AND EQUAL ACCESS TO ALL!!! IT IS THAT SIMPLE TO DO THE RIGHT THING!!!
—Sharon J. Rohrbach, Nevada City, CA

Why on earth should a few big corporations be allowed to control the internet? It was basically created with government money and research for the use of people everywhere, not just a select few.
—Le Hunt, Port Wing, WI

Preserve an open and free internet!
—Wayne Young, Golden, CO

Once again our Courts betray us by siding with big money Corporations at our expense. I am tired of hearing about these deaths by a thousand cuts. America is a laughing stock in the rest of the world, we have our government bought and paid for by big Corporate lobbyists!
—Mary Doino, Santa Fe, NM

Is there freedom in blocking and slowing the internet, utilizing major corporation ISPs to implement the dirty work. If corporations are involved in these types of decisions, will we as Americans find ourselves a slave to their every whim? Yes, we will. These corporate tyrants will spy on all those who do not follow or meet their corporate authority. Will they then imprison those who will not trust or follow their sick decisions? Net Neutrality is essential for every persons internet futures. Who have we become? And who exactly will we become as these decisions are made for us without our "The Peoples" input? Wakeup before its too late, where are our freedoms headed? Better to fight back, then to let the power players commit these types of public violations, right...
—Howie Harkema, McMinnville, OR

They'll start charging for how many 0 and 1's we use
—A Andaloro, St louis Park, MN

Tax payer money built the Internet - NOT private companies. It has been, and should remain as part of the rich commons that we all share and leverage alike!

—Hans Rupert, Rockford, IL

You must act now! Net Neutrality is as much a cornerstone as is the guarantee of free access to common carriers. Let's not drop back into the dark ages! ACT NOW!!

—Peter Leaf, San Francisco, CA

Stop this arrogation of more power by the communications corporations. Enact stricter regulations to protect the internet for everyone, free and open access.

—Edwin Hiley, Athens, PA

Please do not cooperate with the corporations as they continue to steal our liberty. For all that the courts say, corporations are not people.

—Hugh McFadden, Bozeman, MT

The internet needs to remain open and uncensored for all.

—J Agata, Sebastopol, CA

Please do not sell us out to the big corporations.

—David James, Auckland,

This must be changed to restore our freedom of speech.

—Doloris Mikkelsen, Sutherlin, OR

Please do not sell us out to the big corporations.

—David, ,

We demand true leadership of authority from FCC to rein in corporate telecommunications industry's arrogance, over-the-top greed, and way overstepping its power grabbing intentions. Unacceptable! We need prompt correction of FCC agency's past mistakes ~ now.

—Petra C. H. Gampper, Corte Madera, CA

My god is this serious??? like we don't pay enough already for the internet and now this?

—Rajbir Kaur, Tracy, CA

It's time for the new FCC leadership to correct the agency's past mistakes and to reassert the agency's clear authority over our nation's communications infrastructure. To preserve the open Internet, the FCC must reclassify broadband Internet access as a telecommunications service.

—Robert Wical, Culpeper, VA

Internet is our daily mail. Don't read it, don't censor it, don't delay it!

—Dirk Bruehl, Salisbury, PA

This would be disastrous. Please do not give the internet away to BIG MONEY. They already have almost everything else.

—Nancy Hoblin, Woodstock, VT

Restore Net Neutrality and regulation of greedy corporate scum.

—Pete Wilson, Pahoehoe, HI

The reality is... if you do not give net neutrality, the internet will be consumed by spam and eventually be completely useless for all of us. we should all be connected not separated.

—Gary Ammirati, Los Angeles, CA

There is no democracy without net neutrality. The fat cats don't give a cramp about democracy.

—Vincent J. Patti, Long Beach, CA

DONT LET THEM CONTROL OUR INTERNET.

—John Shockley, Ravenna, OH

In the old fairy tale, greed killed the goose that was laying golden eggs!

—Cuyler Brooks, Lilburn, GA

Keep Big Telecom from turning the internet into even more of a cash cow; blocking certain websites for profit would be a new form of poll tax, and very undemocratic, indeed.

—Larry Bright, Ypsilanti, MI

Stop this power grab by the "Big Brother" Telecom mega corporations.

—Tim Milam, Mission, TX

This ruling is unacceptable, granting corporate interests open season on consumers. The FCC's mandate is to PROTECT CONSUMERS, not help the corporatocracy expand its greedy empire by limiting the indoctrination of internet users to THEIR cant.

—Liz Amsden, Los Angeles, CA

The internet is a communications service-Restore net neutrality rules

—Jon Rosenblatt, Piscataway, NJ, NJ

Dear Big Business, Enough is enough. Cut your bullshit out this second.

—Chris Brace, Acton, MA

The American public must not and will not be beholden to and treated unconstitutionally by giant corporations. They clearly care little about our rights and only care about lining their own pockets. This fascism must be stopped!

—Ryan Cek, Cleveland, OH

I am sick of Greed and Stupid! Fix this!

—CL La Freniere, Campbell, CA

The ability to express my opinions and share information is NOT a commodity that can be valued by a monetary price!

—George E. Milkowski, Chicago, IL

I do 100% of my job hunting on the internet. What good would my computer be without the internet. I need Net Neutrality.

—Johnny Shrieves, Raleigh, NC

I have no cell phone. I refuse to get one due to how the corporations treat their consumers and how MY government representatives let them get away with it. I WILL cut the internet cable and do without if necessary. If you hand the internet to corporations and let them turn it into the cable TV model, I have NO interest. We have 500 TV channels and pay too much and ALL that's ever on is repeats! I'm done with corporate and government!

—Harold Anderson, seattle, WA

There is a very good chance I will completely give up the internet if prices go up . I'm retired and don't need an extra cost . As of now I don't have cable tv or dish or a cell phone , I'd rather spend the money on something else .

—Dan LeMieux, Green Bay, WI

it is time for the new FCC leadership to correct the agency's past mistakes to preserve the open Internet, I though J.P. Morgans, John D. Rockefeller an similar (includeing W. Gates) were over.

—Galo Enrique VILLARÁN MORALES, ,

The issue is just not about a financial windfall for corporations (government guaranteeing corporate profits). It's about Total Information Awareness, which did not go away with Poindexter. Telecoms like Verizon will now have the power to control the flow of information--not just buy tier-charging customers for content, but by blocking information they don't like. We have enough control of information through corporate media that cooperates with government. Enough! This situation is crucial to a free press, which many want to undercut and destroy. The web is essentially the last bastion of free flow information. The U.S. must not go the way of Egypt and so many other countries that are banding together to control the masses by controlling information and making exposure of government and corporate criminality a criminal offense. Restore Net Neutrality. NOW!

—Jennifer Reed, Ashland, OR

FCC: protect Americans with your granted authority.

—Michael Grish, Austin, TX

leave the internet free instead of under the hands of the new world NAZIS.

—Blakely Diller, Newark, OH

There should never be any thought about NOT having a free and open 'net'. Restore Net Neutrality now.

—Patricia Vargo, Murrysville, PA

I believe the Koch Bros. already own way too much of the U.S. Why you too?

—Richard Myers, Madison, WI

media ownership is a responsibility that cannot be politicized. Such action should be made illegal and subject to criminal penalties in addition to fines.

IT IS DISGUSTING THE MANIPULATION OF A FEW INTERNET COMPANIES..IT IS DEAD WRONG..RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY RULES N O W

—Orpha Dess Wilson, REDONDO BEACH, CA

Enoughs, Enough! Stop the greed mongers, are they not making enough money already?

—Stacy Huggins, Venice, FL

The innovation that net neutrality fosters has helped make America #1. Giving a few corporations that would profit from charging for access or limiting access will KILL that innovation and is a prescription for MEDIOCRITY.

—Stephen Pew, Gresham, OR

The ruling is corrupt. If the FCC does not fix this then we the people will!

—Bill Dugan, Salem, OR

We already pay too much for what access we get, we shouldn't have to pay more for basically the same service.

—Jocce Sundgren, Sandviken, CO

Don't let AT&T, Sprint, T-Mobile, Verizon or Xfinity imitate CHINA, IRAN AND NORTH KOREA! Manage the AMOUNT of traffic, fine; censor by CONTENT, ORIGINATOR, or ADDRESSEE, this is UN-AMERICAN!

—Allan Richardson, Marietta, GA

It is unthinkable that you, of all people would allow the decision by the appeals court to infringe on every person's First Amendment rights for even one second. Do whatever it takes to reverse the appeals court decision, and restore Net Neutrality to the internet. Thank You!

—Cody Cowdin, Hartland, WI

The ESSENCE of the Internet is telecommunications: most of what passes over it could pass over the telephone (though far less conveniently).

—William Todd, Strafford, NH

Take the GREED out of Our Internet!!!

—Gerard F Gaudin, Metairie, LA

The FCC was not created to help Verizon and other corporate entities, it was to oversee communications in this country, keeping things fair and honest. Net neutrality is a no brainer, it's good for all, not just for Verizon. We need our government agencies to help all citizens, not just corporations.

—Gary Kelly, Beacon, NY

I need a free and open internet for nearly all the business I do. This kind of power belongs to many individuals and not to global corporations.

—Josh Capistrant, Saint Paul, MN

Screw these corporations!!

—Michael J. Rosner, Wichita, KS

These judges would condone censorship on the internet!!

—D C, Eugene, OR

Don't let big companies control this in order to get richer!

—Jean Dowell, Cincinnati, OH

Stop giving the giant corporations all of the power over the people. I am tired of our leaders allowing the powerful to gain more power while the everyday man gets less and less control over their own lives!

—Maria, Ashburn, VA

The big Telecom companies will price many Americans right off the internet and jeopardize the future of our country just to make a larger profit. The internet should be regulated like every other utility that is needed in this country.

Keep Verizon away from my interwebs! They have enough damn money already!

—Amber Keeney, Pacifica, CA

I've been on the internet a long long time. Started on BBS services at 400 baud in the 80s and watched it grow into what it is today. The internet is maybe the most important means of communication there is. I mean look at what it's morphed into. Yes there are some bad elements but that's just society in general. DO NOT DESTROY net neutrality. Please protect it. You will kill not just innovation. Tom don't let big business squash the little guy. I've dealt with Verizon before and they are crooks.

—Joe Baldrige, Ringgold, GA

Please restore the net neutrality for The People. Be a hero! Thank you.

—Mari D'India, Portland, OR

Are you with the people or the money!! Trust me, it's best to be for the citizens of this great nation.

—Mary Ayers, santa barbara, CA

Free speech includes free access to all information available, including all that is available on the internet.

—Donald E. Britt, Princeton, MN

Protecting, not taking away freedom is what government is supposed to be doing.

—Nicole Alicea, Ypsilanti, MI

How can we rely on the "free market" to properly provide for everyone with a "multitude of options" when many of us have either no options available, or merely 2-3. I cannot rely on AT&T and Comcast (my only options) based on their previous dealings. And look how they've already used a free market in general...slow speeds, fictitious bandwidth caps, etc.

—Robert Olszewski, New Britain, CT

Serve the people not the corporations

—Dave Jaeger, Frisco, TX

Protect Free Speech - not Corporate profits!

—Elaine Becker, Roanoke, VA

Enough with the Internet censorship.

—Michael Rubezin, , providers owe 'we, the people' for the use of our airwaves. they already charge too much. stop the monopolies!!!

—Star Star, Somersworth, NH

Americans do not want molonpolies determining their access to public information. Freedom of information? Not under monopolies. Net Neutrality is essential to our democracy.

—Diane Brine, Groton, MA

Don't let these corporate bullies take over OUR INTERNET for their devious purposes!!!

—Gary Spivey, Tucson, AZ

Internet is COMMON CARRIER just like Telephones!

—Val Sanfilippo, San Diego, CA

We already pay our ISPs for the internet. It should be kept open and uncensored.

—Sandra Lynn, Modesto, CA

You are supposed to be working on behalf of the public trust to ensure our freedoms, not allowing multinational mega-corporations to control and stifle our communications access. I urge you to stop this blatant power grab in it's tracks, and to serve notice to the telecom companies that our open internet is not for sale!

—Red Clark, Windsor, CA

We are already too close to a full-on totalitarian capitalist surveillance police state like China. We don't need ISP's playing Big Brother with internet content on top of our run-amok, extra-Constitutional McGovernment.

—Sulyen Mason, Atlanta, GA

Tired of the rich trying to get richer at our expense !

—Cory Edwards, Spring Valley, CA

The Internet should be open and not under the thumb of corporate control, deciding what the public can access. Restore net neutrality.

—Josephine Polifroni, Danville, CA

We're mad as hell and we're not going to take our internet freedom and neutrality being taken away by big corporations like Verizon!!

—Linda I Hixson, Ludington, MI

Keep information free!!

—Matt Fitzgerald, Denver, CO

European ISPs are cheaper and faster than ours already. Imagine how much slower our ISPs will be if the proper telecommunications classification is not imposed. Do we want the rest of the world to leave us in the dust?

WE WILL SEE : ON WHICH SIDE IS THE : FCC ?

—Edward F. Kapun, Yonkers, NY

Corporations are taking over vast terrains of the commons--our commons, our heritage. You are in the job to protect our rights and property--do your job.

—Judy Schriebman, San Rafael, CA

It's time our government stood up for the people it is supposed to serve instead of helping the corporations return our country to a de facto slave society where citizens have few or no rights, just taxes and responsibilities.

—Nancy Erickson, Elkton, MD

Knowledge and truth are hallmarks of a good and healthy society and country, please do the right thing, uphold freedom of access and speech on the greatest tool of our age.

—Kenneth M Brodeur, Escondido, CA

As a freelance writer/editor, I make my living in large part using sources from the Internet. If I had to pay for some big Internet package (I write across a number of areas), it would be impossible to work anymore. No company should own the Internet, It must remain open to all people without discrimination against the not-wealthy.

—Amy Henry, Northampton, MA

It's absolutely sickening that they're doing this. Just leave the internet alone - it's one of the only things the lower and middle class have just as reliably as everyone else, but having to pay extra for something we've always had is just pathetic. Korea has faster wifi than us, and Japan's internet speed makes ours look like a children's toy. Stop trying to make a profit on something that'll just hurt us over all.

—Donnia Reed, Kelso, WA

The judges in this case were ROGERS and TATEL, and SILBERMAN. Silberman points out, "[The FCC] conclusions are littered with “may,” “if,” and “might.” For example, according to the Commission, a broadband provider: • “may have economic incentives to block or otherwise disadvantage specific edge providers” • “might use this power to benefit its own or affiliated offerings at the expense of unaffiliated offerings” • “may act to benefit edge providers that have paid it to exclude rivals” • “may have incentives to increase revenues by charging edge providers” • “might withhold or decline to expand capacity in order to ‘squeeze’ non-prioritized traffic” So... I would ask the judges - and now the FCC - what happens when these "might" and "may" predictions bear fruit? Are the American People simply obliged to EAT IT?

—Mr. Cameron Atwood, Thousand Oaks, CA

The free internet may be the last defense we have for a free society. We need to defend it to the last man, woman and child in the country. No more tea in the harbor, just Verison cancellation slips.

—Dawn Fazende, Mount Shasta, CA

Big Telecom is filthy rich enough!!!

—Malcolm Moore, Portola, CA

In our distressingly fragmented society, we need the internet's unifying easy and free communication that we may become a nation of understanding.

—Susie Humphreys, Washington, DC

The Judges who made the decision to trash the internet are secret cult members who are plotting the overthrow of the Government. Where do YOU stand?

—Michael Accardi, Sunland, CA

This seems to be a concrete abuse of freedom of speech by limiting and slowing speech by large telecom corporations.

—Dan W Martin, Lyons, CO

Close the floodgates, protect net neutrality.

—Gregory Andrew Nasif, Brookline, MA

As we observe the ever increasing income disparity noted by OXFAM and mentioned at Davos, like public transportation, the internet is an equalizer. This will exacerbate the already alarming disparity in access to knowledge and products throughout the planet.

—Vicki Gold, Mount Shasta, CA

Please reverse Michael Powell and declare Internet service providers to be common carriers. The D.C. Circuit decision left that to you as an option, and you would be derelict in your duty not to do so.

—Pete Dolack, Brooklyn, NY

This will break the Internet and the economy if allowed to stand. Fix this travesty immediately.

A net neutral internet is a one size fit ALL is NOT a neutral internet because everybody does NOT even WANT the same internet that some other internet user might want. A child will want just a LITTLE internet and an adult might want to hunt for a LOT of information and a business will want a different type of internet. So a ONE SIZE will NOT FIT everybody like Obama wants to FORCE everybody to have.

THE FCC IS CORRUPT AND BOUGHT OUT BY BIG CORP ALONG WITH THE REST OF OUR POLITICANS AND PRESIDENT !!

—Toni Garmon, Dawsonville, GA

Gutting the concept of 'net neutrality' is like telling people, "You can drive on this road--but you can't stop at that store or that office because they're competitors. (Or we just plain don't like them.) But oh, yeah—not only do you still have to pay taxes, there are tolls as well!"

The deck was already stacked in favor of the big guys before this injudicious judgement!

—Brian Williams, Tucson, AZ

The internet need to remain free to all. ISPs in the US have an unbelievable choke hold on access already, charging Michael than providers in other developed countries. Please do not stole their greed, but protect the citizens, whose tax dollars developed it in the first place.

—Mark Malamud, Gaithersburg, MD

The cost of having the internet IS RIDICULOUSLY HIGH now. We are being pushed more and more to use this system rather than the mail. Our legislatures NEED TO STEP UP and protect the consumer's NOT BIG BUSINESS. This is the only way they can be forced to be FAIR. People of moderate and low income will NOT BE ABLE TO ACCESS THE INTERNET at the pace and rate we are going now.

—Marce Olsen-Lester, Oklahoma City, OK

the internet was created by the government with tax payer dollars and given to the telecoms for free yet we get stuck with paying for it again in higher rates then any other country with lousy service in top of that

—Jeffrey Brown, sT Petersburg, FL

The American people pay you, so you work for them. Now do the correct thing for the American people.

—Debra Leeann Kelleher-Sullivan-Sullivan, altoona, PA

Telecommunication and Cable companies need to be re-regulated, competition has whittled choices to a few monopolies that are free to price gouge. I just dropped Time Warner cable because they double my cable bill from $50 to $100 last month. No explanation other than my promotional period ended.

—George Raymond, Palm Springs, CA

Our elected politicians need to remember that they are public servants paid for with taxpayers money to protect the interests of the community not the greed of morally bankrupt corporations

—John Cooper, Melbourne,

If there is vital (for the good of our country or mankind) need for certain businesses to have super speed, why can't it be seen to without penalizing the whole populace? This just looks like another greedy way to make money at the expense of those who do not have the means to fight it. Don't we already have a big enough separation between the haves and have-nots in our country today? What is going on in our country? This is a very sad commentary on our values. Let's raise our voices and also exert any power we have to keep things fair to all our citizens.

My expensive broadband isn't a telecommunications service?

—Daniel Robert Snodgrass, Manchester, NH

"They" have already started blocking which websites and who I can google up. Images and public information that was available just 4 weeks ago have been removed. I was wondering if it what just me and why the censors had it in for me.

—B C. Groves, Denton, TX

Either you're for an open Internet, or you're for giant telecoms hijacking the Internet for their own profits and political purposes. So, FCC, will you finally take the necessary steps and treat broadband like a communications service to keep our Internet freedoms intact???

—Gayle Janzen, Seattle, WA

There are 300,000,000 people out here waking up to what is happening in America. They are gradually learning there is a fascist agenda in place by the government. They are not going to be happy about this.....

—David Groome, Jonesboro, GA

Taking away Net Neutrality sounds unconstitutional--a violation of the First Amendment.

—Matthew Richardson, Minneapolis, MN

It's no stretch to call ISP's "communications services" that fall well within the FCC's control. The early growth years, when special concessions were made to facilitate the birth of a new industry, are over. That industry is now mature, and takes its place next to telephone services, radio and television broadcasting (all of which it also provides). Time to regulate them the same way.

—Steve Ditore, Seattle, WA

Corporations must not be allowed to take over the internet. Our democracy depends on it. Please restore net neutrality. It's the right time and the right thing to do, as soon as possible.

—Nancy Hoop, Kittery, ME

I ALREADY pay a sky high price for internet/phone service even with a low income discount! Stop giving/allowing conglomerate/monopolies the unfettered power to destroy what's left of real journalism & the means to get TRUE & important information. It UNCONSCIONABLE & treasonous to allow corporate money to BRIBE judges for decisions that favor GREEDY corporations! An informed citizenry is NECESSARY for a functioning democracy.

—Cathy Consoli, Whittier, CA

Leave us alone

—Ken Burritt, Albany, NY

"The ruling also ensures that Big Telecom giants have the right to squeeze every possible cent out of you and your family – it's like a license for price-gouging." If the Obama Administration truly believes in consumer protection, they need to take a stand against this and restore Net Neutrality.

—Deborah Cate, Philadelphia, PA

FCC MUST IMMEDIATELY START treating broadband like a communications service, and TO RESTORE its Net Neutrality rules.

STOP THE CONTROLS

—William Engroff, Trenton, NJ

Net neutrality should not even be an option. Protect a free and open internet from corporate control and censorship.

—Shawn P Owens, Dayton, OH

Monopolies want everything to remain just the same - always - so that their money-making strategies stay intact. Monopolies are always resistant to change even when change could create new opportunities. Remember the old black telephones that were solidly attached to walls? The monopolies protested that third party handsets would bring down the entire system. Look what opportunities were created! New industries! New jobs. New wealth. Let progress do just that - progress. Avoid feeding the unimaginative monopolies with the benefits of tiered pricing.
—David Hopp, Durham, NC

Quit catering to big business and protect your constituency. Quit being finger puppets for the rich and the elite. Have you forgotten the phrase "For the people, by the people and of the people" in the Constitution? Maybe you should reread it so you understand WHY you were placed in office! Quit pointing fingers, YOU are the problem.
—Paul Groh, Gulf Breeze, FL

Save the Internet. The whole appeal of the Internet is opening communication to the those who don't have a lot of money and power.

CORPORATIONS SHOULD NOT RUN OUR COUNTRY !!!! Along with Citizens United they are buying their way into controlling our lawmakers, our (your) commissions, our lives.
—G Scott Clemson, Las Vegas, NV

Please make the above reclassification a reality. The internet should be open, accessible and THE SAME SPEED for ALL!!!
—Kristie Knoll, Brentwood, CA

For whom do you really work?
—Darryl Pellegrini, Aiea, HI

By the way, once you rein in the giant telecoms, be sure to also rein in yourselves. Consumers need freedom from the tyranny of the telecoms, but it doesn't need a whole lot of rules and regulations from the FCC either. So take it easy as you reclassify broadband Internet access as a telecommunications service, and begin to assert your authority in that area. A little bit of regulation, directed exclusively at large corporations, will go a long way!
—Thomas McElroy, Charlotte, NC

telecom bills are already sky high and part of reason the middle class is being destroyed and sucked dry by the corporate elite.
—Charles Blume, Indianapolis, IN my tax dollars helped pay for development of the Internet. That's reason enough alone to keep the Internet open and neutral

—Edward Thornton, Swarthmore, PA

As Americans we already pay more than most of the planet for slower connections. Give us a break!
—Terri Moore, Columbus, OH

Corporate Internet providers can not be allowed to run the Internet any way they want. This would be the end of free speech for everyone except the very rich, and the corporations. Money would be all that counts. After all corporations are only about making as much money as they can, and this gives them a free hand to squeeze the public all they want.
—Anton Sober, Reisterstown, MD

Soon, USA is going to from land of the freedom to land of the 3rd-world-country-type-internet, falling behind all of the other countries with fiber internet. Don't you guys see that allowing big ISP corporations to slow our internet down, will slow education down? It'll slow advancement, it'll slow the knowledge pool access, it'll make our country less connected, less accessible, all because you guys allow lobbyists to control our government and our technology limitations. So sad. You think we don't see what lobbying is doing to the country. Sooner or later, the country's going to fall, and worse things are going to start to happen. Think of the country's future generations. Not just yourself and your own family's future money. Don't let selfishness control your decisions.

—Karen, Minneapolis, MN

Freedom of speech from the Constitution; freedom of choice from God. And GIGO means Garbage In Garbage Out. I elect to not go to sites that are degrading from MY perspective. I do not want anyone making decisions about what's good and what isn't from their perspective. That is a very slippery slope. Leave the Internet alone.

—Kaisu Kallio Lemke, Lady Lake, FL

STOP THE CORRUPTION, LIES AND DECEIT. OFFICIALS ARE ELECTED TO WORK FOR THE MAJORITY WHO PUT THEM IN OFFICE AND THEY TURN AROUND AND STAB US IN THE BACK SELLING OUT TO SPECIAL INTEREST. THAT CREATES UNREST AND CHAOS. THOSE IN POWER ARE THE CAUSE OF MOST OF THE ILLS FACING OUR PLANET TODAY. THEY ARE EVIL TO THE MAX!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! WE WANT TRANSPARENCY AND THE SAME ETHICS AND JUSTICE. WHITE COLLAR CRIME HAS REACHED UNPRECEDENTED LEVELS AND FOR BILLIONS STOLEN ONLY A SLAP IN THE HAND - SHOULDER AS APPROVAL FOR MORE HIGH MANAGEMENT TO RAPE AND PILLAGE FROM THOSE WHO NEED IT MORE. SOMETHING IS TERRIBLY WRONG AND SICK. SICK PEOPLE MUST BE PUT WHERE SICK PEOPLE MENTALLY BELONG!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! WE DEMAND ACTION AND CORRECTION OF THIS MAJOR PROBLEM. NOW. THANK YOU

—Gabi Sen, Healdsburg, CA

You have an obligation to lead the world in a positive way. If the founding fathers would have known about the internet, a free and independent internet would be part of the constitution.

—Tony Sippl, ,

Allowing a 'big telco' to police a system using a pricing mechanism is connectable to encouraging crime. Price gouging is a crime - it is not 'business' but the improper use of an advantage to thief money without the return of a mutual advantage. It is also an incursion on the right to freedom of expression - where it costs extra for people to do and say as they feel appropriate.

—Nicholas Tomlin, ,

Big business want to control the internet and make lots of money for them self!!! Stop them now!!

—Rolaine Smoot, Riverview, FL

This is not just about net neutrality, this is about free speech. The ability of the American people to communicate freely with one another without having to pay telecom companies extra money (besides the money that we pay to access the internet) just to have our voice heard or hear the voices of others.

—Matthew Roberts, Tijeras, NM

This is another power grab by the 1%. Please stand up for democracy.

—Ms. Jenise Porter, Tucson, AZ

An open internet is akin to the free press that our founding fathers championed. Now that our independent press is almost non-existent, an open internet is the only option left that resembles what we were once guaranteed by our constitution. Please take the necessary steps to make broadband networks open, accessible, reliable and affordable for everyone. Restore Net Neutrality rules.

—Jean Sullivan, Seattle, WA

Please remember that your decision affects the internet freedom of people beyond your borders as well as those in your country.

—Robin Trouchet, , let the land of the free stay that way please. just like freedom of press and free speech, we need a free internet to keep going forward in the 21st century. Rush you for your time and attention to this matter.

—Sandra Gentry, Killeen, TX

The internet was created using tax dollars. Why should the ISPs now be able to control how we use it? Especially since I pay my ISP $75 a month for the service already. It's nothing but corporate greed.

—James Bowling, MARTINSVILLE, VA

The Internet belongs to everyone, equally.

—David Hull, Wilmington, DE

What were you thinking? Broadband IS a Communications Service, plain and simple. What part of that is so hard to understand? As such, net neutrality is important and should be restored. It is not the first time the judiciary have overstepped their bounds or made errors in judgement and this stands right up there with "Citizens United" and the repeal of the Voting Rights Act. C.mon guys, get it right!

—Gunter Steffen, Menlo Park, CA

Do not abdicate your authority.

—Steven E Jackson, Irvine, CA

Too little information from too few independent sources is a mechanism used by dictatorships to keep societies closed and uninformed. Why should our Nation, which espouses freedom of thought, legalize such a mechanism--namely permitting large telecom corporations to selectively block users thus weakening net neutrality--that further diminishes it ? The greed and scheming cowardice of telecom corporations like Verizon, Comcast and AT&T places democracy, both its spirit and its practice, in measurable peril--measurable in a loss of freedom and measurable in the profits these corporations seek to reap by imposing dictatorial controls on the internet.

—Mitchell Struble, Philadelphia, PA

Our Bill of Rights, containing Freedom of the Press, should be understood to include the internet.

—Elizabeth Zenker, Arcata, CA

Please rectify the ludicrous technicality that led to the appeal court's decision. Broadband Internet access is a telecom service. Let's make it so.

—Patrick Bosold, Fairfield, IA

—James M Doster, Troutman, NC

I have enjoyed the freedom to go to any web page, do facebook applications, watch streaming videos on netflix since 1999, please don't let companies change the freedom of the internet.

—Cindi Dean, ghkfj, NY

This used to be considered such an outlandish and bizarre idea that it was considered an email hoax. Unfortunately, time has moved on and it's now a real threat. Please make sure that this idea remains just a bad idea and not a disastrous reality.

—, Boulder Creek, CA

Do not allow corporations to censor the internet! The internet must remain open to all users without some company deciding who's website is more valuable (to them) by slowing down those it doesn't like. Restore Net Neutrality.

—Sheila Chambers, Brookings, OR

As usual, corporations want to bleed us dry and yet kill innovation. After decades of cash-cow-ing their profits, someone else must come along and try to break up their monopoly. Allowing a few companies to control the Internet is like taking a hip neighborhood, raising the rent, the cool stores go out of business, and you are left with Starbucks and Banana Republic-boring and generic. Young people want choices, they will not be happy with limited choices. Citizens are leaving cable because of this very business model. We paid for no commercials, we got less and less content and more and more commercials. We are sick of it and have cancelled our cable! Don't them destroy the best chance America has to create new jobs.

—James Bradley, Media, PA

Please let the internet remain the last free frontier, where all can express themselves freely and openly.

—Grace Engler, Yelm, WA

It seems those three judges ought be impeached since they are obviously not protecting the public but rather the big corporations who are already raping the public with outrageous monthly fees that are triple or more charged in other countries. There will be no doubt that the FCC is also in the back pockets of Big Media, as their decisions have not been for the benefit of the general public. If the FCC does not restore Net Neutrality, this will be proven without any doubt!

—David Ross, San Francisco, CA

—Dawn Laughlin, Canon City, CO

This is an important issue. Blocking access to sites is what they do in communist countries, not in America. Restricting free information for money is the same as locking up libraries, or only letting in people who can afford the huge price. We must keep the internet free. This is America, not an Orwellian fulfillment of prophecy. Please!

This is a disgusting, anti-American money grab by the already abusive telecoms. The internet was designed to be free and unfettered, not to be cordoned off to the highest bidder to extract a pound of flesh and every last penny from subscribers. You must restore net neutrality and our flagging democracy.

What the hell is going on in this country?!! We have no rights to know that GMOs are in our foods, now you want to regulate what we look at on the internet! This is no longer a free country it's a fascist state!!!! Watch out you big corps because we are going to vote out every damn Republican and Democratic person in Washington that seeks to fill their pockets with bribery money from controlling corporations. We are taking back our country!! And we are taking you all down!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

—Vickie Hocking, Minneapolis, MN

The internet is for the public!! Not for the profit of the big money companies! Like AT&T Bright house, NBC, CBS etc.

—Ronald Winters, Deland, FL

Please protect us and keep communications open, accessible and reliable.

—donna Hortsch, Lake Oswego, OR

Please let the internet be an open world forum. Like the roman empire's forum, America and other nations now rely on the commerce and daily communication of uninterrupted flow of data. Internet companies who can manipulate the flow of data (as well as any large monopolistic utility or conglomerate like a country) could want to censor for economic reasons. This is just deadly, nefarious, and cheating based on today's income tax environment. Therefore, the government and modern commerce to grow gross domestic product, requires not interfering bodies of the internet; for it is a great bargaining chip with the Vatican and ease of use for the poor to rise through the ranks (and survive.) Please allow net neutrality to continue and enhance its freedoms through the law and moral necessity by for profit corporations to survive (if not just to break-even.)

—Anthony Ostertag, Raleigh, NC

This is where it needs to start to protect the free americans that depend on the internet to hold the politicians and powerful organizations accountable. without this we will be rolled over and made into slaves ignorant of how much we are being mistreated and misled.

—Ryan Hartmann, Murphysboro, IL

Another example of corporation co-option of government. The Justice (?) De[artment -- what a laugh. Citizens United (that's rich) and now this. FCC do your job and work for the people, not the corporations.

—Skip Roache, Oakland, CA

This is incomprehensible.

—Rochelle Radlinski, Manistee, MI

Permitting the end of Net Neutrality would be mind numbingly stupid: stupid socially, stupid economically, and stupid in ways we can't even imagine because the things Net Neutrality makes possible will not ever happen.

—Eric Skalwold, Ithaca, NY

What happened to laws about monopolies? Seems this would be a case of making the phone companies into a monopoly.

—Cecelia Cook, Pawleys Island, SC

This decision was BS. The last thing the Verizons and other big corps need is the ok to screw us for more money and decide whats good for us! Free the internet once again.

—Donna Estes, TOLEDO, IL

Let's take the money out of these corporations, and put it in the hands of the government. I propose that the Internet be taken over by the U.S. Government - operated by the Government, and all revenues allocated to the Government, in order to provide for the People a service to the commons that is as vital today as police and fire services, as well as land, sea and airborne infrastructure. Do not allow these big corporations to steal ALL of our money. If net neutrality is allowed to die, then the Government might as well sell-out its People, and privatize EVERYTHING (including infrastructure, all community services, all "public" property and facilities, and National Defense EVERYTHING - even water and air.

Consider that the ISP's probably have first-hand knowledge of what the clandestined TPP plans are, and it has nothing to do with "trade". Also consider the "ulterior motives" which could very well be to "block" or restrict access to independent polling or petition sites who have political news or views that oppose their own. There's any number of ways, and no holds barred, to steer the public in a direction of THEIR choice. It is the last vestige available to the world where communicating with each other without being "censored" by a 3rd party whose only interest is money and control of something they have absolutely right to "control".

—E Muriel Schlecht, Tewksbury, MA

If email isn't telecommunications, what is it? If text chats and voice calls and video calls all performed on the internet aren't telecommunications, define them for what they are. I DARE YOU! People conduct business and make their livings, support their families and feed themselves on what they make online. Stocks are bought and sold online, These are but a few examples of what makes the internet telecommunications and business/personal communications and therefore exactly as private and personal as the U.S. Mail... FIX this and make it stay fixed!!!

The strength and promise of the Internet is that rich and poor have access to this technology. Limiting its use to only those who have more financial resources deprives our country the benefits of diversity.

—David Neuendorff, Toledo, OH

I equate this latest development for service providers to the telephone company now having the ability and right to filter telephone calls. The party calling you has not paid for priority treatment? Then their call doesn't get through, or goes only to voice mail or is delayed until later. Oh, but you've paid up front? Your call goes through. Please fix this mistake and take your clear authority over our nation's communications infrastructure. Preserve the open Internet, keep control out of the hands of service providers.

—Craig Wyckhouse, Moraga, CA

—Frank Ackerman, Walnut Creek, CA

Net neutrality must be restored NOW. Without it, the internet as we know it will never be the same, and our rights will only be further tarnished.

—Sara Tamson, Danville, VA

I'm concerned by this FCC action. If the FCC does not protect communication services for our citizens then it should be replaced with an agency that will. ISPs obviously restrict data transmission to what is paid for as a commodity, but allowing them to discriminate what content we can readily access beyond parental type restrictions we request is dangerous in that it is a ready tool for censorship.

—Brian Ashman, Saint Paul, MN

My goodness, will you once stand up and do the obvious right thing? Eliminating internet neutrality is such a bad decision. It only benefits internet providers and hurts everyone else. I already pay my internet provider about $100 per month to access the internet. That should be enough. Please restore internet neutrality and benefit all American users.

—John Shuttee, Conroe, TX

I should not have to tell you how bad an idea it is to give monopolies even more freedom to stifle innovation. Ending net neutrality is bad for the economy, the nation and especially the citizens of this great nation who have embraced technology only to see it used against them.

—Douglas Howell, Bar Harbor, ME

Ted Cruz go home to Canada, you hoser.

—Robert Perkins, Round Lake, IL

What a sad day this could be for a country that celebrates freedom....

—Bruce Krohn, Sandy, OR

Please protect our nation's communications infrastructure and take steps to eliminate the digital divide in low-income communities.

—Suzanne Ludlum, Oakland, CA

keep the internet open for the people!
—Paul Shabazian, Granada Hills, CA

If we stand up for a free and open internet right now while we still have it, the battle will just be harder to get it back once we don't have it anymore. These new policies may not seem so bad right now, but I promise you that they won't stop here. The question is how much of our freedom are willing to let them take? How much are YOU willing to let take? What will you say about this to your grandkids?
—Paul Davis, Enumclaw, WA

Communications should pass freely without anyone controlling them. John Peter Zenger must be rolling in his grave.
—Richard J. Derespina, Brooklyn, NY

I feel that an open internet is an essential tool, in this high-tech era, for the preservation of democracy.
—Stephen Vandivere, Centreville, VA

Bring back NET NEUTRALITY. The air waves should be open and free to the public not a corporation.
—Tracy Gordon, LONG BEACH, CA

We are a Republic and have freedom of the press in the First Amendment. We need to go back to that. We the people not we the corporations. We are not North Korea and people are tired of big corporations doing whatever they want. They could lose many customers if they do this. It is wrong that they would slow down favorite websites or stop Netflix. Then people will just leave these companies. There's enough small companies that will protect our rights on the internet and give fair prices.
—Celine Suchanek, Northfield, MN

Since when do think we can't hear what we want on the internet? We're all not little children here. Rob

—Mary Jane Pullen, Wallingford, CT

The Internet is fine as a free quick tool for the general public to find information.
—Debbie Sikes, Bryant, AR

The internet is a communications service. We don't need the huge communications corporations telling us what we can see on the internet. They should know, but obviously don't care that many of us are actually intelligent. They don't have to censor our internet for us. Maybe they have something better to do, like run their own business.

—Gary Crakow, Mesa, AZ

The Court's ruling is setting a dangerous precedent. Information should not be censored. Please stand up to protect our communications. Thank you.

—Janet Humann, Rio Rancho, NM

Stop this nonsense Now!

—William Boutin, Marysville, WA

Restricting broadband is a restriction of free speech. ISP's should not have the power to discriminate against websites.

—Anne, Ashland, OR

I depend on the internet to get information on political news on which I can take action, including news that is critical of a company or the government. Thus the open internet is extremely important to me. So I request that you establish Open Internet rules that are on solid legal footing.

There is nothing more important than ensuring that our nation's telecoms don't ruin the internet as we know it by making it legal to run an internet protection racket.

—Stephen Dawley, Fredericksburg, VA wonder how and why you come to that decision that effects millions of people but when the good ole boy net work and other benefits come into play i guess we the people take a back seat-hope it don't back fire on all.

—Tony Hanners, webb, AL

Public money created the internet the public should have control over what they access not a few corporations! They do not own it and should not have control of it!!!!

—Tina Mizhir, Port Chester, NY

What are we freaking China or something. They control the internet for political reasons and we are allowing control of it so some companies can make more money. The end result is still the same, we obstruct the free flow of information. THAT IS SO UN AMERICAN. Please don't allow this.

—Hazel Lofton Gregg, Upper Marlboro, MD

America is a land of ideas and information. Corporations should not be able to control what ideas and information are available. That is tantamount to censorship by affordability.

—Amy Wright, Millville, NJ

Please prove to me that that the nation I live in is not "of the corporation, by the corporation, and for the corporation". You are there to protect the people, not just the rich and powerful, the people.

This is scary to think about. Our local newspaper (Press Democrat) ran an editorial about it today (01/24/14)

—Patrick Hamilton, Cotati, CA

anybody ever hear about freedom of speech in the U.S.A? Used to be one of the founding principals of the U.S constitution. Used to be that people were people & corporations were something that people that made products employed people & gave us something to invest in for retirement. Government agencies need to step up to corporate greed & protect our rights. Even more so because our Supreme Court has been bought & sold to the demise of our constitution of giving corporations the same rights as living breathing human beings. Is the FCC going to stand with the people they are supposed to serve? or follow the steps of greed & corruption that our supreme court has caved in to?

I'd like to point out that the bulk of the infrastructure of the Internet was built using PUBLIC funds. No one should be getting preferential treatment for any reason regarding content delivery (except maybe the Government)

—Patrick Ciriello, Newbury, VT

Already having issues with my provider Slowing my connection in an already slow area, Neighbors are as well. Its uncalled for and un-American! Get this straightened out!

—John Cummings, Aberdeen, WA

The internet is functionally a public utility, and it must be strictly governed by the principle of net neutrality. No access-provider company has the right to enclose portions of the internet, and give preferential treatment based either on willingness to pay or ideological alignment with the access provider. This principle is far too important to be subject to negotiated agreements by Verizon, Google, or anyone else. The internet is a public commons, and cannot be carved up into fiefdoms governed by access providers for their own financial or ideological goals. FCC must use its full statutory authority, including the accurate reclassification of internet service providers as telecommunications providers, to ensure that net neutrality is enshrined formally in law. The existence of net neutrality in practice is already beginning to erode under the commercial machinations of ISP's, and will collapse entirely soon without FCC action.

—Jim Steitz, Gatlinburg, TN

This is not your company's internet. The web belongs to the people and you have no right to interfere with it.

—David Roy, Atlanta, IL

I'm not sure why it even reached this point (after submitting Net Neutrality rules without enough bite), but we can still get this done. Or the FCC can fail and disappoint like so many other areas affiliated with government.

The danger is that those in power will control all information. Are we to become another China?

—Annette, Genoa, OH

It's bad enough that ISPs charge ridiculous amounts to access the internet. To allow them to determine which content gets provided at what speeds is unconscionable. Please treat broadband connections like connections to wireless phones, as a communications service.

—Leland M. Talbot, Millville, DE

Free speech for the Internet! Start treating broadband like a communications service, and to restore its Net Neutrality rules.

—Sal G Janover, Bigfork, MT

WE must defend the Internet at all cost!

—Michael Moore, West Jordan, UT

It's a question of freedom of access.

—LuMarion Conkliin, Flagstaff, AZ

To allow the richest corporations to decide what and when we get to see on the Internet is a travesty to the whole concept of having the Internet. If you do not stop this take-over, then people like me will likely stop using this communication tool altogether and believe me, I will urge everyone I know to stop using it, too. Freedom of speech seems to come to my mind--of how this would LIMIT this freedom.

—Caroline Johnson, Sacramento, CA

Countries that have limited their citizens access to the internet are controlling their people. Are we in America or China? Please don't let this happen in this country!

We're using the Internet to fight Verizon and other companies that are trying to take it over and make it into their own private toll road. So it's now or never. Stop them before we're crippled by their move or crawl around groaning and lamenting after they take over.

—John Young, San Benito, TX

Without net neutrality the Internet is much less valuable to the citizenry as a resource. The free flow of information at the same speed for everyone should be paramount.

—Andy Dral, Redwood City, CA

We need an open and free internet - anything less is unacceptable.

—Nancy Kosnar Hartman, Louisville, CO

To not fix what the judges did in their decision for Verizon is absolutely ridiculous. The internet is for all. You must keep it that way. Fair and equal access for all.

—Barbara Nadel, Milford, PA

Education, entrepreneurial achievements and fast, effective communications for communities in need are all seriously threatened by restricting Internet access and prioritizing commerce over the common good. On this present course, the Internet will become one more method of corrupt exploitation that will ultimately erode American liberties and fair access to the resources which are designed to benefit everyone.

—William Underwood, Sparks, NV

I am 81 years of age, and the internet is barely affordable to me now. Please help maintain the integrity of open communications for all the people in this country and around the world. Telephone companies like Verizon already make plenty of money providing telephone service and internet connections.

—Dr. Loren P. Johnson, Goldendale, WA

If the FCC's role is to insure fair and equitable use of shared public communications resources, then the FCC has a responsibility to the American people to insure open access to public Internet destinations just as it would public airwaves. Please assert

—Douglas Shelton, San Diego, CA

Please help the cause, the internet in general is the greatest communication medium mankind has ever had, a free and unregulated internet is key to us all advancing as a human race and shall never be regulated except by the end users. Third party regulations of the internet is an encroachment of the peoples free speech rights and should not be tolerated. Please do not let the telecom companies the power to do what they want with the internet. I am a senior citizen and the internet is one of my only connections to other people. If the rates or controlling of which sites are viewable and which sites are not or if they should be throttled in speed to discourage connection to sites is implemented, I would not be able to afford these things. It is my opinion that it should be unconstitutional to impose censorship on our usage of the internet.
—Richard Seyfried, Salem, NH

The Internet should be exactly what it was designed to be - open and free.
—George Hartman III, Louisville, CO

The Verizone victory in court and the court's ruling on this case are absurd. It's time to guarantee net neutrality rules.
—David J. Lafond, Holyoke, MA

Please do what you need to do, including redefining what an earlier FCC did, to protect our net. Content providers need to have an arms length distance from media providers/ISPs. Then everyone will treat content fairly, being unable to guarantee their own content unless they guarantee all content.

It is only through a well informed citizenry that any democracy has hope to survive and yes even evolve and prosper. With this hope comes the necessity for net neutrality, corporations cannot be intrusted with the right and or power to stare our democracy down whatever path they see fit. This is the job of the people by the people. FCC RESTORE NET NEUTRALITY NOW!
—Ranard Penn, Los Angeles, CA

Leave the internet free!

—Deborah doyle, Laceys Spring, AL

The little people in this country (of which I am one) are relying on you, the FCC, to represent us in the struggle against the big money telecom companies like Verizon. We have no other advocate, and the internet is a wonderful communicative device that the average person really enjoys. Please don't let the big companies ruin it like they have cable TV and the phone companies. The FCC is in place to regulate communications for the United States citizens. Thank you!

—Lorin Dale Whittington, Lenoir, NC

The Internet has become an integral part of our freedom and is akin to the air we breathe and both must remain free. The Internet was built by Users worldwide, all the people on this planet and not by any Telco individually and cannot now be claimed as their own or controlled by them. Any action to wrest the freedom of the Internet and give any individual or company control over it, must be seen as a fraud perpetrated against our freedom and Humanity.

—Roger Hass, ,

Leave my internet alone. It is used for educational purpose and no one has a right to limit what I want to read or teach my grandchildren.

—Kerri Sullivan, Salem, OR

We all knew this day was coming. the fact that it was allowed to come is a scar upon the FCC. I am a Comcast customer and being so it really scares me as to what such a greedy and moral-less company like it is will do...and they will exploit it to the maximum allowed and then some under some perverse legal strategy. You MUST act now. It IS your job. Theoretically you do work for the American people and not the handful of companies that you are supposed to regulate and oversee. Hey, if you do good at this job maybe there is a future in government instead of having to go to work for the same companies that you are supposedly overseeing. If you do then you can feel good about your conscience instead of having to play head-games with it, to quiet or drown out that "inner voice"

—Michael Woody, Burlingame, CA

The internet already cost to much and where I live I have to use satellite, which is about as bad as it can get and is already over $60 a month, this has to be stopped. All internet should be affordable so all people can afford and use it.

—Wesa Keith Sweeney, Willisburg, KY

We need an open internet free of meddling by any company interference. Keep internet neutrality. Broadband internet access must be reclassified as a telecommunications service to remain open and neutral. Restore net neutrality rules and treat broadband internet as what it is, a communications service.

—Christine Stephens, Charleston, WV

We need REAL 4G internet...not more B.S. that protects giant corporations at the expense of their customers, and sticks us with higher costs. We INVENTED the internet. Why have we allowed money-grubbing corporations to give us an inferior product? And now they want to charge EXTRA for what we should have been getting all along? Not acceptable!

—Robert Mihaly, Lakewood, OH

Dear FCC: Protect us. We need the open internet and it is your job to see that we keep it open. Thank you

We are not China, nor are we Iran, so why are we starting to act like them?

—Chance Rearden, West Hollywood, CA

big money buys big problems; don't let them get away with it!

—Joe Bentley, Houston, TX

Equal access to all websites should be the goal of all ISPs. Unfortunately, it appears that US ISPs want to create a several tiered internet experience that will have varying levels of costs. Also, without net neutrality, ISPs could charge for access to certain sites or block them all together. The FCC needs to regulate these ISPs before the net becomes so expensive that students cannot do research, families cannot afford to help their children with homework and businesses cannot access each other or their customers.

—Lauren Wood, San Jose, CA

There should never be a position when big business can hold us to ransom: this cannot be allowed to happen.

—Mr L Reed, ,

Net neutrality could be the single most important thing the FCC accomplishes for the public good this decade. Please make it happen.

—Justin Simonson, Upland, CA

Aren't we beholden enough to these companies where we have little or no other choice but to accept their service and their ever increasing fees and charges? The internet has been free and open from the beginning, why should they now be allowed to control it and profit from it? Please take action on this to benefit the average users, not the corporations who receive more than their share of tax breaks and other benefits, that are shouldered by 'We, the people'. Thank you.

—Donna Andrews, Raynham, MA

We created the FCC to stop this type of thing from happening! If the internet is controlled by ANY special interest ---- it would be the beginning of the end of democracy.

—Ms. Marcia Fuller, Newport Beach, CA

An open, transparent democracy requires non-discriminatory media formats and technologies just as it would dictate a representative republic. Unfiltered communication and the receipt of information is only as good as its availability to all our citizenry.

—Mark M. Morden, Port Huron, MI

Please stand firm on Internet openness rules and reinstate them!

—, Coldwater, MI

How much money do you really need?? Be happy with what you have and leave something for the rest of us to nibble on!!

—Susan B. Lada, Philadelphia, PA

I expect the Internet to remain neutral!!

—Annette Spanhel, Driftwood, TX

Do not give for-profit companies control of access to information!

—Linda Kade, Berkeley, CA

Information is free, under any cost.

—Jerry Plumb, Charleston, SC internet and airwaves are public domain. no reduction in openness should be allowed. no private company should be given consideration. freedom of information is crucial. power to the people.

—David A. Gonzalez, Brandon, FL

Mr. Wheeler you work for all americans not just corporations, do your job!

—Judy White, Greensboro, NC

Until there is true competition in the ISP market place we must have net neutrality. Having internet service is now just as vital as having a telephone was 25 years ago and we cannot afford to be limited in who we can and cannot "talk to" by ISPs.

—William Alan Dishman, San Rafael, CA

Net Neutrality is NOT up for sale!

—Thomas Wilson, Holly Springs, NC

The internet is the brain stem of humanity.

—Dennis T, Brooklyn, NY

We should not limit the future success possible with a continued open internet for short term profits for the big carriers.

—Stephen Bohrer, Great Barrington, MA

this is an outrage, the legislators that can stand for the people need to do so. quit giving unneeded power to the government!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

—Harry & Pamela Perry, GENOA, WV

FCC 'em!

—Vic Anderson, Eagle Lake, FL

i am against this. we don't need government to keep taking our rights from us . they just wanting keep wanting to control everything about us.

—Harry Perry, Genoa, WV

Leave my internet access alone. Don't let the greedy big boys mess up a good thing. Do what you are supposed to do and protect the American citizens and their rights.

—Brenda Gass, Kernersville, NC

Internet neutrality is paramount, it cannot be allowed to be up to the profit driven motives of huge corporations as to how they will or wont let the internet be accessed. Protect the people and keep the internet out of the hands of the corporation. they have no right to be able to censor where we can or can't access on the world-wide web.

—John Meade, Jackson, NJ

OCCUPY FCC

—John McGloin, Staten Island, NY

What is the agency's clear mandate? A broker for Verizon and any other corporation? I don't think so!.

—John Morrison, Santa Rosa, CA

It is as Nikolai Tesla said: radio waves, electromagnetic waves, what God has created is free to all human beings, as a part of God's creation. TO ALL GOVERNMENTS EVERYWHERE: stop trying to control ALL the facets of the communications, the lives, the choices, the EVERY aspect, of the lives of human beings. STOP. You have no right to control that which God the creator of this earth, and of each human being, all radio & EM waves... These are not for govt bureaucrats, who serve the queen still over there in england, it's not the right or the privilege of the FCC / govt, to control what is not their's at all, to control...

—Jj Maru, Canby, MN

shame

—Nick Grigorenko, buffalo, NY

We expect the FCC to represent US citizens' interests, not those of the giant corporations that want to rule in order to increase profits..
—Charlene Woodcock, Berkeley, CA

Net Neutrality is essential to grass roots democracy!!!
—Shely F. Williams, Ann Arbor, MI

Keep the internet free - stop pandering to the Telecom companies and ISP's. The internet started as a free communication network at UCLA and Stanford to transmit scientific data, not some stupid advertisements, website exclusion and "user fees" for specific sites.
—Steven Robbins, Londonderry, NH

Please help keep a free internet! This is one of the greatest tools the world has. Don't allow anyone to control it.
—Jackie Connet, Wichita, KS

As an American I feel strongly that our government uphold the founding principals of free speech set forth in our constitution.
—Kenneth Glidden, Olympia, WA

Leave our rights alone.....
—Barbara Foles, Sumrall, MS

It's time that consumers are protected instead of big business putting the screws to us.
—Bill DeFelicio, Seymour, CT

This isn't to benefit mankind. This is the people we're supposed to trust finding a legal way to steal more money from the masses.
—Adam Sarver, Mount Morris, IL

Please protect our rights to open broadband networks because anything else will deny most people access to the Internet. Please start treating broadband like a communications service and restore its Net Neutrality rules.
—Deanna & Harold Holloway, Meridian, ID

SAVE THE OPEN INTERNET!
—William Sydnor, Gwynn Oak, MD

This is disgusting! Keep the internet free!
—Taylor Seger, Lakewood, CA

Our Internet, our rules!
—Ian Sherman, Columbus, OH

This is ridiculous! 3 u.s. District judges.. wow
—Jordan, ,

I attended a town hall meeting in Oakland recently and heard you speak. Please don't forget us.
—Annie Kane, Alameda, CA

Big companies so not own the internet and should not regulate or control anything other than their own products. Or are we going to start goose stepping to another layer of profit rape supported by weak administrative boundaries? Please place you action to support a free internet.
—Michael Denham, Portland, OR

People who lack technical competence should never be allowed to make decisions about technical matters.

—Hugh McGivern, Aldgate,

People THE WORLD OVER have come to TRUST the internet BECAUSE it has NO GATE-KEEPERS--GOVERNMENT---OR BUSINESS!!!!!!!!!!!!!! If ANY BUSINESS get's CAUGHT TWISTING the internet's information flow - - - MANY PEOPLE will OPT-OUT!!!!!!!!!! A BOOTLEG INTERNET CAN; AND WILL BE FORMED!!!!!!!!!!!!!! You THINK NAPSTER HURT the Record-industry????????????? WHEN GOOGLE & TIME-WARNER GO BANKRUPT--- ANY CONGRESSMAN WHO TRY'S TO BAIL-THEM-OUT--- WILL END UP UNEMPLOYED!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

—Thomas R. Holman, Lynchburg, OH

This is kind of like past government administrations getting America, and Americans, under the OPEC yoke. You know, letting the producers control production to artificially increase demand to inflate prices. How about a government agency getting it right for once?

—Ken Linderman jr, walland, TN

Please take the steps necessary to protect us, the American people. After all, that is the job of the Federal Government; to protect our freedoms from threats foreign and domestic. The freedom to communicate, and access any legal content of our choosing, is vital in 21st century America. We shouldn't be charged more for accessing sites not affiliated with our broadband provider, or blocked entirely. Establish solid net neutrality rules, and let everyone compete on a level playing field, with the best IDEA winning, not the one backed by the biggest corporation. Without Net Neutrality, everyday Americans will not be able to compete. Consider that of all of the online innovations over the past couple of decades, NONE have originated from the big telecom companies. Without the Net Neutrality protections that were there from the beginning, America would be a cyber 3rd world, while other countries innovate us into oblivion. I'm proud of my country, and want to see our freedoms preserved through actions like strong Net Neutrality rules, so the next great American innovator will be able to make his or her advancements in the free marketplace of ideas, and not be crushed by some telecom because those ideas are better than the telecom's. Please stand up for the American people. Use this opportunity to create stronger, legally solid Net Neutrality rules. Remember, history shows that freedom wins out eventually, and judges those who stood for or against that freedom. Thank you for your time.

—Brian S, Johnstown, PA

Limiting Internet access is akin to book burnings in order to limit truth and propagate lies. A telecom company has no right nor the intellect to decide what I should see, read or hear. They are in the business for profits. If they will make more money by someone deciding what they should allow for us is dirty pool. That would be like me telling them they can only go to the bathroom once a day and it has to be on the opposite side of town.

—J Boucher, North Adams, MA

I DEMAND ACTION!

—Steven Jones, Baton Rouge, LA

I believe this has already affected me. I can no longer load my AOL email on the IE browser. I have tried all the recommended fixes, yet nothing has resolved the problem. Yet, I can access it on Safari. Could I be a casualty of lack of net neutrality?

—Cynthia Davis, Longview, WA

WE MUST FIGHT THIS WITH ALL WE HAVE, OTHERWISE DEMOCRACY IS DEAD.

—Fiona Joyce, ,

Please ensure that commercial interests do not control the flow of information nad services on the internet. Small businesses, individuals, non-profits, and government all benefit from Net Neutrality. Thank you.

—William Laidlaw, whately, MA

The internet belongs to everyone. Do not allow corporations to own it and prevent its intended use by the public.

—Susan Blain, Gardner, MA

Thanks very much

—Jorge diaz, Miami, FL

This is yet another Corporation is Person law needing overturned immediately. We the People are people. If corporations are people, sentence them to death and execute them for all these crimes against us.

—Lynn Anderson, Youngstown, OH

They already take a good sum if my money. Please don't let them squeeze even more.

—Ed Hajenga, Omaha, NE

This country was founded on Freedom of all of our Constitutional rights. It's something our Democracy seems to be forgetting. Our democracy is being compromised by the corporations that are gaining more rights than the tax paying citizens.

—Briget Shields, Pittsburgh, PA

Please act to preserve the fair, open, affordable and equitable access to the Internet.

—Steve R. Marquardt, Lake Lillian, MN

This is such a vitally important issue, it seems impossible to overstate the need for immediate action on the part of those in the FCC who can make a real difference. We appear as a country to be losing access to information and choice on all fronts faster than the eye can see. We the people need your urgent attention to this matter.

—Laura Upton, Plymouth, MI

For too long, the internet has been in on tenuous ground, with various industries leveling attacks at it left and right. Now the very ISPs who serve the internet to us would slice it into pieces and force us to pay premium access for websites that are otherwise free, killing progress, degrading service, and making the internet a place where only the rich can "pay to play". If the internet was only an entertainment venue, then this would be more acceptable, however, more and more business, communication, and (presumably soon if it hasn't happened already) a way that necessary public services are carried out. As an example of the latter, I have heard that there is to be an infrastructure that hospitals and doctors use to share patient information set up through the internet. If something like this is allowed to stand as it is, chances are good that ISPs would attempt to charge a premium price to this service, or even block it already, forcing doctors and hospitals to raise the already absurd price of medical care, either to pay for their own network, or to pay the premium rate required by the ISPs in question. Further, websites which advocate for civil liberties could be taken down with a click of a mouse, simply because their statements affect somebody's bottom line. Please, don't let this action stand. Send a message to anyone who would butcher the internet to make money that you won't stand for it. Thank you for your time and attention to this important issue

—Bradley Reedy, Jefferson, TX

I won't hold my breath (we all know what lapdogs the FCC are to the media moguls), but we gotta try. The Internet is a communications network. It was designed from the outset as a communications network. And it MUST STAY a communications network.

—John Pulliam, Anna, TX

The Internet is the last free and open source of information and communication that is not controlled by corporations and financial elites. Please preserve and protect equal access for all!

—Ms. Cheryl Woerner, Dunkirk, MD

Be fair to small and new businesses! Keep the internet open and fair to all! Net neutrality is a must.

—Christine Snyder, Greenbush, MI

C'mon FCC! Take the internet OUT of the hands of big business!

—Roddy, Pflugerville, TX

Bring back net neutrality!

—Christian Hall, Heber Springs, AR

Please save the Internet! Restore and protect net neutrality! The Internet would have never become as powerful as it is today without net neutrality. We cannot take that away - it shakes the very foundation that the Internet was built on!!

—Peter Tummino, Wilmington, MA

Information is the currency of Democracy. Thomas Jefferson

—Frederick Ellsworth, Milwaukee, WI

I may have already sent in this same suggestion, but it is so damned serious that I hope you act and act soon to quash the sellout of our internet to corporate bullies.

—Douglas Russell, Scottsdale, AZ

"Telecommunications" means sending information over long distances. There's no reason that term shouldn't apply to computer networks.

—Ben H Sibelman, Redmond, WA

What happened to freedom in America?

—Liz Lambregtse, Lebanon, NH

Don't let the internet turn into the mindless distraction of television and gas station advertising!

—Robert Sullivan, Manhattan Beach, CA

Freedom of Speech is plainly stated in the First Amendment, The Federal Government has not' the Right to Stifle this Right in any way shape or form.

—George Arthur Veghte, Manchester Township, NJ

This is as blatant a threat to 21st century democracy as is possible. And if you let it happen on your watch, you're betraying your country in a more fundamentally damaging way than any treasonist. This has to be your first priority. Your citizens - and the rest of the world - are watching.

—Andrea Swift, Astoria, NY

Net neutrality is essential to maintain a thriving, open Internet for everyone--not just for those who provide the technology for us to access the Internet. In an ideal world, Internet access would be a right, but we can't even get the right to health care and education in the United States. The Internet is vital to reach out to our fellow citizens--and citizens of the world--to protect the freedoms we've fought for and move us toward an equal and just existence for all.

—Roberta McNair, Gig Harbor, WA

I know that I'm no citizen of the US, but threads against the WORLD WIDE web affect ALL USERS AROUND THE WORLD.

—Timo Weiß, ,

Please stop these monsters from stealing the American pay check every month.

—Eric Duff, Greensburg, PA

We are moving toward a corporatocracy. Democracy must have access to news with integrity and an open internet.

—David P. Margolis, Buffalo Grove, IL

Our Founding Fathers would be appalled at such actions against it's citizenry

—Bob Funkhouser, Chicago, IL

Uncensored access to the Internet and world wide communication is one of the most important achievements in the history of mankind, and it will promote international growth. Please do not allow corporations to dictate access to such a powerful tool.

—Michael J. Belford, New Orleans, LA

FCC is to protect wadio andTelevision accesability, and well as the internet. Take charge and protect Net Neutrality rules.

—Thomas H. Campbell, Littleton, NH

This is why there is an FCC, DO YOUR JOB!!!

—Lance A Silkes, Memphis, TN

Net neutrality is crucial for keeping the control of information flowing without restriction. Truth, justice and freedom of the press is dependent on net neutrality.

—Allan Young, Novato, CA

As a Verizon customer this PROFITS ARE MORE IMPORTANT THAN PEOPLE decision is downright disgusting! Just one more piece of evidence that the original values of the USA are rapidly being sold to the highest bidder!!!!

—Med Janet Florence McCormack, Santa Fe, NM people, this is huge, we cannot allow corporations to audit our cyber commons

—Mb Steisslinger, Pittsburgh, PA

I don't really understand what gives anyone the right to sell the internet. It's not for sale, it's a commons. I think you're job is to represent the taxpayer citizens and protect the internet from corporate takeover. Please do it.

—Erik Jacobson, Moscow, ID

Please stand firm! EVERYONE's freedom is at stake and this will have long-term consequences.

—Stirling Davenport, Poughkeepsie, NY

We have a RIGHT, by the Constitution, to have freedom of FREE SPEECH, the internet is free speech!!!

—Jeana Lawson, Rock Springs, WY

This ruling has the potential bring down unimaginable consequences on consumers, commerce, innovation, communication and culture. Telecoms, and the virtual monopolies they hold over the communities they serve are now positioned to be the gatekeepers of the future. They will be in a position to control market forces and unilaterally decide what services, products or technology lives or dies. They will wield unprecedented power to manipulate and extort whoever they see fit. I am in utter disbelief that the telecoms fight against net neutrality has been allowed to go this far. Unchecked, these monopolistic private institutions, accountable only to their bottom line, will wield a tremendously frightening amount of influence over of our future. The internet was developed as a democratic platform no one had any more or less opportunity to communicate. It became a place where ideas and innovation could finally trump capital. It became a platform for the advancement of our social, cultural and technological evolution. Please, do not allow these telecoms to destroy the limitless potential for progress that the internet offers the world.

—John Colter, Southington, CT

A big NO!. I want the internet free as it used to be.

—Nirav Rai, ,

The Federal Gov't & its' agencies are supposed to be there for the PEOPLE, not Corp. America.

—Morris Bartholomew, Bayville, NJ

I am a internet user

—tristen Robbins, Arvada, CO

This will change everything. Please insure that the internet stays free of corporate interests.

—Chris Klopp, Cross Plains, WI

Come on FCC, I know you guys want to do the right thing!

—Mr. David Hoover, Sioux Falls, SD

Keep the internet the way it's been. The internet is not a corporation and should not be handled by any corporation. The internet is part of free speech and any invasion of it is against our bill of rights, thus illegal.

—Kristian Brower, Denver, CO

If the internet becomes a spyware paradise and the onlu use is fro Big Brother then you may as well get rid of it altogether. Then you can spy on each other! Otherwise leave it alone.It does need your draconian attitudes and sick globalist mentality.

—Arthur Strong, ,

TIME TO MAKE A STAND. IT'S TIME TO DO THE RIGHT THING !@!!!

—Taylor Young, Scottsdale, AZ

Individuals are who pay for the internet. Use the resource for the citizens, not the corporations.

—Gemariah Borough, Brewster, MA

Please free my communication.

—Pierre, La Vergne, TN

Stop trying to take away individual freedom... Big Govt. is bad for everyone...

—Jerry Jacque, Phoenix, AZ

Does this also mean that if there is someone who operates an internet business that they don't like they can legally destroy them on a whim?

—Greg Chapman, Batavia, IL

Please Restore Net Neutrality !

—Lynn Victor, Flemington, WV

To preserve the open Internet, the FCC must reclassify broadband Internet access as a telecommunications service

—Shirley Hope, Bessemer, AL

Americans demand net neutrality be restored.

—Mark Boyd, Washington, DC

This is an extremely important issue. We will not stand for our rights being taken away.

—Mr Bret Stockton, Phoenix, AZ
