I feel the removal of the RFD TV from the DirectTV programming is an invasion of my right of choice. All people should get to choose what they wish to watch or listen to without anyone making that choice for themselves. Such a removal would be a determinant to our future generations.

There are a lot of family farms out there that are rearing continuous generations of farming. The younger and future generations watch these programs to learn and continue to make valuable use of the land, promote the farm community and seek enjoyment once the farm family view programming after an endless working day.

Don't force Americans to lose this channel and knowledge to keep the American family farms. Our future generations beg you.
