I've been running from AT&T going on 20+ years! Either their service provided is bad or it's overpriced. I changed my cell phone provider to get better price and coverage. And they buy the company. I change once more and AT&T does it again! They can't compete so they buy the competition. I've been a directv customer for at least 17 years and I've been very happy with their service and pricing. My friends with cable from AT&T, not so happy with outages and very expensive packages. Once this merger goes thru I guarantee my cost will go up, not down as they suggest. I also guarantee I will be an ex-DirectvAT&T customer once again and look for an alternative. Oh wait! There won't be any. AT&T monopoly is here once again. My hope is that you will not allow this to happen. Please!
