

7521734558.txt

Are you kidding! Allowing ISP's to control internet speed is a huge mistake! If approved, the rules would effectively give them the power to control the internet content we view.

The FCC must maintain Net Neutrality by reclassifying ISP's as common carriers. The proposed rules are not the answer, and will result in the loss of choice for internet users.