

7521736699.txt

I think that people, not corporations or program directors should be the deciding factor in what programming the people want to see. It is a shame that the corporations are making an attempt to indoctrinate people into programming that they see as "proper" or "important". With government having a much broader reach into our daily lives don't you think that you, as a private company would better serve the needs of the American public by becoming a friend and listening to what the people are saying? I sure do and would have much more respect for your corporation given you give me that same respect. Thank you.