The current monopolies trying to run small wifi businesses like mine out of business have apparently paid off the FCC Chair and enough Senators and Congressmen to try and push through legislation which will give them rein over the entire population of the World not just the communications in the U.S. By implementing restrictions for bandwidth usage and availability the ability of American to access the world and the world to be able to access Americans to share information rather than exist in secret sub segments of society will end. Secret societies breed contempt and insurrection. Allowing any further restrictions to the Interconnectedness of the World Society you help insure more misunderstanding and more WARS-.
