I reside in Memphis, tn but like many folks I have a family farm outside of town where I raise cattle, horses and timber. RFDTV is a great resource for learning and enjoying the country life. it is my favorite channel. Rural evening news, texas country reporter, cattleman to cattleman, American rancher... the programming is terrific.

I am in the logistics business and many customers and employees have relatives or property outside of Memphis.

there is a definite connect to RFDTV.

The urban folks need this connect to the rural life. the people in the country thrive on the programming. RFDTV links the city life to the country life and that's a good think...keep it going..thanks, cal ozier
