There are few things left in our country, supposedly founded on freedom of choice, that are free for everyone, of all classes, and all ethnicities, and all genders and ages and so on and so forth. As a small business owner, I know exactly what this would do to my business: crush it and many others. As a consumer I know that I want to make my own choices, not be fed answers and choices by giant corporations who dine with presidents and monopolize everything and have terrible customer service. Keep America free: save the open internet.
