Motion for Partial Summary Judgment

Plaintiff, Curtis J. Neeley Jr., honestly thanks Honorable Timothy L. Brooks for holding the Show Cause hearing despite one-hundred and sixty-seven (167) other active cases begun in the first six (6) months of 2014 and assigned to Honorable Timothy L. Brooks. Europe's highest court supported the privacy of wire communications this court considered denying "contemporaneously" to ensure America would always be the "land of the free" for online immorality regardless of the "Good Samaritan" indecent communications warning attempts made by authors like this Plaintiff at one time. Moral justice is difficult to pursue when res judicata was initially presumed in error. The biting Supplemental Brief of docket #14 with the attached complaint will be allowed by an honorable ruling and all claims therein were within docket #1 and are still supported in its attached exhibits. The short complaint attached does not pursue any Justices or Congressmen. The civil damages caused by crimes plead in the short, simple complaint can be seen in the exhibits attached to docket #1 and the concurrently filed supporting brief for this motion leaving guilt a matter of law. The only issue left for a jury to consider is the amount of damages required to punish GOOG and MSFT and compensate this Plaintiff. This Plaintiff prays for partial summary judgment with the issue of the amount of damages awarded being set for an Arkansas jury trial as is described further in the concurrently filed supporting brief pursuant to Local Rule 7.2.
