

7521750270.txt

On the matter of Technological Transition of the Nations Communications Infrastructure I beg protect the people it presides over. The communication infrastructure of current-day US is nothing less than a criminal representation of an monopoly selling a sub-par product at above reasonable prices. The US as a nation has known since the 19th century that a corporate monopoly on any necessary resource, especially one deemed by the UN as a basic human right, is dangerous and to allow the usury of a citizen. To in anyway allow a company or corporation to run on a diminished product in order to seek greater profit on the reasonable global access or perpetuate anything other than complete equality/neutrality is to show every citizen they are to be handed over to corporations to be stripped of hard earned money for a basic service.