

7521758919.txt

I have no doubt that this comment will garner no support from the head of the FCC. Or should I say the former lead lobbyist for Comcast cable. Have you no shame, how dare you take something that was designed to be free and turn it into the most monopolized thing in human history. This just proves for about the hundredth time that politics and politicians are for sale to the highest bidder.