Giving ISPs the power to control traffic to sites that can afford to pay more for better traffic and speeds will destroy the entrepreneurial, innovative power of the internet. Corporations have enough power in this country to make us pay more for a worse product. Stop giving in to the lobbying arm of the telecom industry and let the internet remain neutral. Also, could you people break up Comcast and TWC already? I thought anti-trust laws were a thing. DON'T GET RID OF NET NEUTRALITY!!
