

7521765448.txt

Don't let the two largest cable internet providers merge into one mega-corporation. Not only will it limit the options people have by making it even harder for start-up internet services to get a foot hold in the market it will drive up the prices of Comcast and Time Warner prices simply because Comcast will have the market cornered. It will also restrict technological innovation because Comcast will only do the minimum to remain the "leading" internet provider.