

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Karen Goldsbury
Mesa, AZ
queens770@msn.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bernice Harvey
Texarkana, AR
bharvey1954@windstream.net

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Daniel Taylor
Grand Terrace, CA
taylords91@gmail.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Kral
Green Bay, WI
okhunt2389@att.net

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shawn Thomas
Canandaigua, NY
guitars1267@outlook.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mannie Wilks
Culver City, CA
mbjkw@yahoo.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brent Blackwell
Scottsdale, AZ
kainmorpheus@yahoo.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

matthew daniels
Milford, IA
daniels615@msn.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

william bogart
Sun City, CA
wbogart454@aol.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

billy morrison
Vancouver, WA
frosti64@comcast.net

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paul McConnell
Denver, CO
paul.mcconnell@everest.edu

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Seth Graham
Carlisle, PA
edgraham75@gmail.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pat Avise
Augusta, IL
avise64@yahoo.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Stowe
Wilmington, DE
jrstowe@sbcglobal.net

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jenny Coleman
Saint James, NY
jennycoleman35@gmail.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Tomaras
Ames, IA
tomaras6000@gmail.com

7/31/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

PAUL KIRAL
Lexington, NC
pjkiral@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Katie Merrill
Spokane, WA
katiemerrill@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Walker
Hudson, FL
dallas0927@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cyndie Stiles
Chapin, IL
cynstiles@att.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paula Wyant
Blue Lake, CA
pmwyant@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mike sergio
Delray Beach, FL
lseagles@comcat.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kwok Wai Yeung
N.T., N/A
jason.carmelo@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

KEN CHINN II
Lansing, KS
CHINN411@GMAIL.COM

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Adam Ramos
Houston, TX
ramos19905@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sambo Or
Everett, WA
or.sambo@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bobby Phillips
Claremore, OK
bphillips3633@cox.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rashied Jones
Clearwater, FL
rashied.jones@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brandon collins Quincy, IL
brandongogo98@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

robert bonetsky
Springfield, MO
smokerpoker@live.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dee tray
Avondale, AZ
dcat12@mail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Darien Trahan
Rayne, LA
DTrahan38@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mike will Hanford, CA
crackbaby200@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tiffany Smith
Sandpoint, ID
Tiffanysmith1990@live.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Don Klingman
Canby, OR
doogus@msn.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

D.M. Gorski
Milwaukee, WI
coolerbear@att.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sofia Mar
San Diego, CA
marsofia45436@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Parsons
King George, VA
b40371@drdrb.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jessica Willett
Berkeley, CA
jessica@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brad Thompson
Cincinnati, OH
rhyrhydon@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bill Wheeler
Louisville, CO
qsj44032@doiea.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

nicole thomas
Pittsburgh, PA
icanfly323@Gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe
Miramar, FL
flprsun5@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jeffrey everett
Monroe, NC
marymier5@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Timothy Gabriel
Clarkston, WA
mitdaehtop@cableone.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Smith
Antelope, CA
pointsme@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Rottet
Blauvelt, NY
drewshhq@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jonny anyanwu
Colorado Springs, CO
jonnyanyanwu@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Dukes
Oxford, MS
john_dukes123123@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john fast
Bayonne, NJ
joespow25@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Edward Weber
North Las Vegas, NV
edwardweber929@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tamara Barker
Monongahela, PA
Barkerbellheirlooms@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

allen lieske
Springfield, MO
bert_lisk@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Allen Smith
Beaverton, MI
elitefew1984@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Gogo
Santa Monica, CA
weeger@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tim Fontaine
Manchester, NH
xelmersgluex@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Austin Myers
Los Angeles, CA
atlcproject999999@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Miller Froll
Minooka, IL
Danmanji@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Russell Davis
Lufkin, TX
ducktransfusion@mail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jack holler Mastic, NY
barrypacker6000@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ryan thompson
Chicago, IL
vmcmrdoozie@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tim mclaughlin
Choudrant, LA
timothymcl2@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

amanda kilpatrick
Union Springs, AL
KUZZY1074@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

peter andrew
Farmville, VA
PeterAndelvesuvu@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jamey Loren
Pompano Beach, FL
jimmylamarre45@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sam smitt
Philadelphia, PA
monicamfrench@jourrapide.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jackson O Reilly
Albany, GA
kiteloops@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jake Delemarter
El Cajon, CA
theking12@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Laura Riddell
Riverside, CA
ljrydell@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

taylor smith
Philadelphia, PA
rooseveltjhuber@jourrapide.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

robert brito
Fort Lauderdale, FL
justsurveyz8@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Trina D Turner
Henrico, VA
trinadturner@dayrep.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paul Slifer
Barnegat, NJ
pslifer3@comcast.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

William Wright
Meridianville, AL
dotun11@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jacky Karter
Newton, MA
Khaziggs556@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jay fogn
Alameda, CA
jamesfong3334355@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matt Burch
Canton, GA
hollywood524@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Edward Brucker
Covington, KY
tbruck81@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Judy Kane
Yucaipa, CA
goingtojoun@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Juan Garcia
Brooklyn, NY
popmantyke@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

chris jones
Stone Mountain, GA
rjbeast200@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mary Lusenta
Fairmont, NY
TheAlphaWOlf901@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ron Melton
San Antonio, TX
meltons1965@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Richard Natta
SOUTH FORK, PA
brhshhje@fastmail.fm

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

michael obbedire
Saint Cloud, FL
hltune234@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steve Bickford
Huntsville, TX stevebickford@greyboz.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john van dyke
Byron Center, MI
johnvan9112@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tom Brown
Philadelphia, PA
tombrown8359@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Wesley
Austin, TX
johnwesly88@mail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

steve yates
Hillsboro, OR
thornsrevenge@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jacob Borth
Sheboygan Falls, WI
borthsvids@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

karyn kadner
Antioch, TN
kylah8000@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steven McCune
Richmond, VA
greenlants12@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Smith
Royse City, TX
eremielr@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Miguel Polk
New York, NY
miguelmpolk@armyspy.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sue jones
Naples, FL
konnkd@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tim Mares
Los Alamitos, CA
tmares1983@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Justyna Bissey
Mount Laurel, NJ
JBits001@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

anna simpson
Philadelphia, PA
eadftrlc@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jenn matzi
Campbell, CA
tacoturtle@mail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Johan Luke
Springfield, VA
JmsVc92@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nikell Crump
Grand Rapids, MI
jjill6@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

edna Riddle
Santa Fe, NM
edna.riddle@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vintage Daisy
Fontana, CA
Vintage.daisy@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

anthony smith
Northfield, NJ
bcd85528@doiea.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Justin Guess
Salem, KY
assassin stigma@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Devin Rogers
Reston, VA
saoymejz@sharklasers.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jordan ellis
Newark, OH
sbryson7@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

gary shumate
Costa Mesa, CA
thous2000@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Frederick Landram
McKeesport, PA
landram@elgmetals.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jane Dansby
Minneapolis, MN
dansby.jake@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kevin lamar
Brooklyn, NY
Stanfordantoine@students.pttechnyc.org

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Underwood
Adairsville, GA
underwoodman1@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alice Rivers
Minneapolis, MN
alierivers@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cary Underwood
Memphis, TN
cary1597@gustr.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael James
Houston, TX
woozlebrother@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lester Hawkins
San Francisco, CA
lhawkins131@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Davis Jones
Mansfield, TX
americankids@monumentmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ron Ramirez
Spokane, WA
rgramirez32@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

cassandra sherrill
Charlotte, NC
lilsexyc06@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nadina Linthicum
Las Vegas, NV
nicadimus84@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Allie Null
Sussex, NJ
anull@reallymymail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mark warren
Chicago, IL l.collins.deneen@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Bishop
West Chester, PA
adventurecoins123@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

lenny gurnal
Farmville, VA
LennieGurneyggy@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paul LaGrange
Concord, NC
paulrlagrange@mac.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Martin McDan
Beaverton, OR
fire2214@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Justin Bacon
Noblesville, IN
bake8778@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Will Willson
Savannah, GA
proffers812014@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

al D'ortiz
Orlando, FL
allyal02forever@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Smith
Elk Grove, CA
vll712@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rosten bean
boulder, CO
angesaku752@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tim ruark
Wallingford, KY yugioh@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Teddy Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1180@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bobby Walker
Long Beach, CA
bobbywalker71@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

anthony herrera Pasadena, CA
bryan0573@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Hollon
Miamisburg, OH
robert.hollon@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

cindy yates
Hillsboro, OR
mlsallstarsgg@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

paul martin
Akron, OH
ipcmartin12@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kris Keimig
State College, PA
keimig@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jim bean
Hillsboro, OR
thorntimber@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Flanko
Pinellas Park, FL
draquadon@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

judy gentry
Flintstone, GA
judderbug43@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

steven hodges
Troy, MI
mrtrack64@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ken Doo
Westminster, CA
ihavecash3@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lionel Da Silva
Novato, CA
lioneldasilva@comcast.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sam Valore
Woodland, CA
Mal_chetan@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Lad
Brooklyn, NY
awesomeboy370@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tommy oliver
Hampton, FL
greenwithevil@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Todd Butts
Perrysburg, OH
b77435@drdrb.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anne Altus
Pompano Beach, FL
jimmyloren1@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Socrates Echavarria
Bronx, NY
matambo98@mail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

erik logan
New York, NY
drua245@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lindsay Bergh
York, PA
baconismyfavoritefood@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

carolyn sprague
Eastport, NY
cherrypie8990@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bobby Brown
Fort Lauderdale, FL
andellmonkhouse@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

cradn rcie
Montgomery, AL
eawgehef@thefreesite.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

pam bucanan
Spruce Pine, NC
pushygirl009@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rachel Evans
Phoenix, AZ
wowtime.legendary@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

frankie delee
Farmville, VA
FrankieDeleeteg@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rasheed amos
Philadelphia, PA
frizzkee31@inbox.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

austin st.john
Hampton, FL
mmpforeverred@outlook.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyle Stroud
Newark, NJ
zerodollartransfer@zoho.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mil Dailo
Minooka, IL
Danmaktc@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Home Owner
Clearwater, FL
Vietgirl727@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kwame frimpong
Hillside, NJ
hunterxhunter190@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Zach Finley
Oceanside, CA
zfinley89@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jake carly Broadview, IL
iwinwithstyle@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Larson
Los Angeles, CA
privader81@aol.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sam Koden
Sacramento, CA
txxsw@startkeys.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Beau Honig
Appleton, WI
b82191@drdrb.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Johnny Rodríguez
New Berlin, WI
rodmaljo@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dani li
Hillsboro, OR
ptfcdwnla@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

billy bob
Everett, WA
god0fmight61@inbox.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kopy kruster
Tacoma, WA
b84255@drdrb.net

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john jasdf
Springdale, UT
thestar854@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jagger Smith
Cerritos, CA
jaegresmiths@gmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jane meeter
Oak Lawn, IL
teg1@yahoo.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dfhgh gygh
Paterson, NJ
bryanmw3@hotmail.com

8/1/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tiffany Johnson
Las Vegas, NV
steveh702@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

holly zinck
Greenville, OH hollyzinck@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Adrian Ali
South Richmond Hill, NY
darktrini123@aim.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marla Billins
West Chester, PA
artixpoint123@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jeff hilly
Pompano Beach, FL
nascar2543@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack Baleson
New Orleans, LA
jackreese999@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Petra Louie
Lowell, MA
Penguin4510@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack Reese
Metairie, LA
jackhole7@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jessica steigerwalt
Womelsdorf, PA
maxbird871@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Wilson
Monticello, IN wilsonb452@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

andrew jones
New Bedford, MA
andrewjones2482@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeff Dansby
Minneapolis, MN
tornado96@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Balarko Banerjee
Los Angeles, CA
balarko24@yahoo.co.in

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lee Jones
Augusta, GA
randyviperlee@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brenden Walker
Franklin, MA
walkerbrenden101@monumentmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Someone Someone
Fairbanks, AK
AlexandraBeck1@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

billy kelly
Dallas, TX
jessie75098@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrew Hinton
Lynchburg, VA
andrew.hinton@comcast.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Henry Luo
Brooklyn, NY
jdeng1236@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Khoa Bui
Fort Smith, AR
nicolasbui30@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lee Chaudhary
Reston, VA
hxuyrabl@sharklasers.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Debbie Madison
Coshocton, OH
fanofonceuponatime.debbie@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Maciejewski
Simpsonville, SC
markmac8160@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paul Dang
San Francisco, CA
pauldang4@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ronnie Clarke
Absecon, NJ
Thoroughwon@icloud.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chris Rosa
Turlock, CA
fullmetal_chemist_chris@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Anderson
King George, VA
tfudp@droplar.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Janet Benter
Crestline, OH
peanutie44827@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jim lopez
Pomona, CA
failboi1get@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ckango man
Montgomery, AL
cariejdowning@rhyta.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tesla Williams
Los Altos Hills, CA
wilesllams@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shengmin Lin
Los Angeles, CA
rayandjfas@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeff Blackburn
Brentwood, TN
blackburns87@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rob Bailey
Clio, MI
rob5244@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffery Skipton
Davenport, IA
skipton319@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bunny bun
Long Beach, CA
dnbunny110@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jenny Luthean
Pomona, CA
chimp124@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ajani dashield
Davenport, FL
marioman700@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Willie Foster
San Diego, CA
williefoster567@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alfredo Valles
El Paso, TX
freddyvalles@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

star georiga
Cleveland, OH
astarisborn46@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anselmo Gallegos
El Paso, TX
chemogallegos@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steven Treat
Nampa, ID
mng14543@doiea.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tyler gove
Lewiston, ME
tyleragove96@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john bake Conshohocken, PA
kirby700@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

JUANITA REYES
Kyle, TX
juanita_r@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nick Smithers
Bellflower, CA
nicksmoke@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Irving
Forest Hills, NY
firestormer10@Yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

timothy lawrence
Choudrant, LA
timothymcl2@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Daniel Husselbee
Silverton, OR
dshusselbee@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

walter rodenbeck
pittsburgh, PA
rodenbeckrod@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ron Pelletier
Amherst, VA
ron1005@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jhonny Smithy
Chicago, IL
jhonny2316@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brandon bolton
Memphis, TN
melrose_star08@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Edna Ridds
Santa Fe, NM
bibbles23@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Bowns
Salisbury, MD
bbcace@ymail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john lockman
Manhattan, IL
johnnylockmanlockman@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

joyce hinds
Ann Arbor, MI
ma764283@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Luis Dawning
Los Angeles, CA
atlcproject0@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Javas Sanchez
Princeton, NJ
sordan.christopher1@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mcyolo faggot
Fullerton, CA
b96240@drdrb.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anne Holloway
Redmond, WA
oaokiwdl@sharklasers.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Terry James
Loves Park, IL
thawks26@sbcglobal.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Ronaldo
Dumfries, VA
realmadridfan221@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lisa hamel
Butte, MT
hamellisa294@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

hanaa abugabara
San Diego, CA
abooga@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Luke Stieve
Dodgeville, WI
ekul_16@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rowland Velez
Youngstown, OH
eskeloniarules@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Reeves
Brooklyn, NY
poprelicanth@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

drea fig
Lamar, CO
wittlewonster@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

fei xiang
sacramento, CA
kevinlee020@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kevin lee Sacramento, CA
kevinlee019@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Claude Bell
San Francisco, CA
claudedbell@rhyta.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jerome Even Bucharest, N/A
jerome.even@ymail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

charlie adams
Los Angeles, CA
charlieadams852@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Smith
San Francisco, CA
robertsm.599@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kim Talbert
Suisun City, CA
talbert@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mark henry Rialto, CA
stoutland5599@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeff Lavin
Fredericktown, OH
lavin_jeff@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

shade night
Gulfport, MS
ltgunzz37@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ann Marek
Collegeville, PA
apmarek@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bruno Lebron
Caguas, PR
bruno.lebron@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mat rodegsr
Othello, WA
rnr0043@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tammy Wright
Honolulu, HI
tw12193@mail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Miles Thomas
Philadelphia, PA
kevingcooks@rhyta.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Adam Landon
Warwick, RI
alandon8@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steven Boney
Clifton, NJ
Trini_prince15@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Tunis
Clarksville, TN
c_tunis13@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Linda Lyles
Port Richey, FL
the.pete@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

carl Thomas
Philadelphia, PA
YYous1980@journrapide.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Shaw
Westminster, CO
jashawviola@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Himmelsbach
Topton, PA
mhbach64@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gale Amacher
Granville, OH
gamacher@windstream.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chad Stewart
Cumming, GA
chad.stewart2@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dave Dahlberg
Ridgefield, WA
dld83@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Keith Zahn
Quinton, VA
keithz.kz@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mike Thomas
Philadelphia, PA
Nince1970@journrapide.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marie Clark
Uniontown, OH
mclark0131@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

treava clower
Fort Myers, FL
mythtic11@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hanna Kane
Yucaipa, CA
rottengoat@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

keith baker
Chicago Heights, IL
kbaker88@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

pulling miller
Brooklyn, NY
princess_mellybelly@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hanna Johnson
Yucaipa, CA
megastops@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chris Thomas
Miami, FL
buzzdixn@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Smith
Reynoldsburg, OH
steve.rogers095@mail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Roy Robertson
Moncks Corner, SC
saintroy27@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bryan busch
Leechburg, PA
sharky6520@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

stephan kelly
Flanders, NJ
sntkelly@optonline.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Aaron Stockton
Webb City, MO
stocktonaaron@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joseph Huerta
El Centro, CA
iskate_92@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mike smith
Yelm, WA
snookmonster09@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

erwin mackie
Pittsburgh, PA
sugoeps@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jacob Roland
Clovis, CA
amishfrog@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sam Jones
Macomb, IL
kings@justincasemail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Densmore
Fort Polk, LA
mddensmore@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dan Stumpf
Naperville, IL
djstumpf@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stanley Husereau
Westerly, RI
Gandalf3g1@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Todd Shoff
Hamburg, NY
wnysteelerfan@verizon.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kevin Nunn
Grand Rapids, MI
blankstates@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

lloyd richard Oldwick, NJ
newskinidklol@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack Erickson
Hope Mills, NC
jacke1956@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bernard wells
Hephzibah, GA
bernard71760@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kaley Templet
Saint Amant, LA
satemplet41@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Wales
Fort Wayne, IN
ryankwales@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Barry Osama
Boston, MA
Toontown123@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrea Hewitt
Blue Ridge Summit, PA
andrea.wivell@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Darren Baddorf
Palmyra, VA
darrenbadd@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyle Uberman
Tallahassee, FL kyleuberman123@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steve Roman
Waukesha, WI
romansa726@wi.rr.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

FRANK LAW
Glendale, AZ
filaw429@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tyler Broussard
Lockport, LA
tylermastermind@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

josh bowman Morehead, KY
pantera_44890@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Malek Griffin
Apex, NC
mgriffin27@nc.rr.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kksdg dtohh
Newark, NJ
wanyefrimpong@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Benny Jones
Las Vegas, NV
usskip@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

carlos naranjo
Manchester, TN
naranjo1865@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

DAVID IVEY
Coatesville, PA
POISONIV22@GMAIL.COM

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kenny roger Crescent City, CA
darkdustin619@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Miner
Waukee, IA
Chrissminer@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rob Mills
Perryville, MO
motelrob@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

rebecca arnhold
Abingdon, MD
rarnhold@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

david schultz
West Springfield, MA
daveschultz1@comcast.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

lisha Moore
Jackson, MS
lishamoore@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Katrena Saddler
Philadelphia, PA
ksaddler_12@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Vieger
Mesquite, TX
hturtle@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brittinni roll
Richmond, VA
lustpoints@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

leslie reed
Baltimore, MD
jamgeek821@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John leno
Boston, MA
john721@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David FosterNotaro
Ripley, TN
dei.gotokohe.riz@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jacob Neher
Colorado Springs, CO
jrneher@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

oscar james
Washington, DC
ozzyjames@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

henry bayliss
Farmville, VA
BelindaCarmoman@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeff Woehlert
Langley, WA
Jefwoe@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mario memo
Jersey City, NJ
mariomemo1234@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Josh Look
Lake Worth, FL
spongebobcute@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nicholas Lopez
Marina, CA
nickloloopez@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kcxm nncjzn
Hamtramck, MI
whyuniverse@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

thomas berkly
Salem, OR
petdoge2714@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matthew Currie
Snellville, GA
mcurrie4@icloud.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Thomas Russell
Twin Lakes, WI
davisriver1@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

felipe godoy
Phoenix, AZ
aces2552@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack dima
Philadelphia, PA
jackzhang721@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bob Smith
Philadelphia, PA
bob38443@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Terry DiCicco
Indianapolis, IN
teezmaxx@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Debra Howard
Fleming Island, FL
dbr.howard@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cherie Johnson
Cedar Rapids, IA
cheriejohnson5265@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Morgan
Idaho Falls, ID
brianglmorgan@msn.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jenny Smoth
Kennesaw, GA
joelyncute@mail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jack wu
Stockton, CA
559jackwu@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

fadrea fda
Boulder, CO
angelsaku@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Davis Hawkins
Jackson, MS
dhawkins483@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Warwick
Gladewater, TX
allinjim@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jamie Sund
San Diego, CA
jamiesund54@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

quanita conway
Fort Bragg, NC
quanitaconway@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Terry Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1182@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob jones
San Jose, CA
youthfuljackroblox@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jerry rodriguez
Watsonville, CA
jerryrodriguez831@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

stephen meredith
Bowling Green, KY
meredithfamilyrecipe@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Linda Harford
Crestline, OH
fredrick44827@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wayne Sharp
Troy, NY
w_sharp22@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hannah Yoder
New Braunfels, TX
hyoderrn@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mohamed hassan
Fort Wayne, IN
mohamedhassan1109@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jim McCoy
Los Angeles, CA
andrewbcurry@gustr.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob tim Modesto, CA
aaronchoa80@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Barry Day
Spring Grove, PA
thebuckster75@comcast.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Jamtgaard
Britt, IA
mangosteenmark@q.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Hyder
Chattanooga, TN
mikehyder@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Noel
Madison, WI
hfhfhf@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lonnie goates
Mesa, AZ
growallgood@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Patterson
Eatonton, GA
jpat67@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

William Senzee
Kansas City, MO
wsenzee@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

eugen simpson
Chicago, IL
e.simpson.deneen@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Barkley
Beverly Hills, CA
imothernogo@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eneji Alungbe
New Britain, CT
Thund3rDrag0n12@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

gregory mac
Houston, TX
yeagertyson@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

gorden smith
Spring Hill, FL
gordenhsmith@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dasfg hdfhdfg Bellevue, NE
dfasfasfas@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Hakes
Oxnard, CA
michael_hakes@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joseph Boi
Beverly Hills, CA
isthatthatguy@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

robert davis
Troy, MO
b140186@drdrb.net

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Donald
Brooklyn, NY
pophorsea@aol.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

robb millen
Buffalo, NY
k3pizzas@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gerard Gambino
Boynton Beach, FL
mrg@gambino.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Stornsten
Spring Hill, FL
kevinimprovo@live.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alex Woah
Hawthorne, CA
lrojas1.314@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Billy Kemp
Ingalls, IN
kempjr89@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Frank Gonzales
Grover Beach, CA
frankgonzo@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kenneth bass
Mesa, AZ
KenBass74@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sally West
San Jose, CA
Alinitum8017@dayrep.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

billy jeff sunrise, FL
jeff-gordon24@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob price
Port Saint Lucie, FL
waterdragon66@outlook.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jennifer bass
Mesa, AZ
jensmonkees@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ken Knecht
Murrieta, CA
kenneth.knecht@yahoo.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

julio cortes
Cathedral City, CA
homie99999@hotmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brandon Duda
San Jose, CA
alinitum8017@armyspy.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Keith Christlieb
Battle Creek, MI
keithc7070@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jennifer meredith
Bowling Green, KY
bd92185@gmail.com

8/2/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anthony Welsbacher
Shamokin Dam, PA
wels84@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Dingess
Kermit, WV
kad909@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Randy Cox
Fayetteville, PA
rcox2222@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chris Watson
Battleboro, NC
asmrftw1@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cristian Nevarez
McFarland, CA
cristiannvrz@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Saunders
Virginia Beach, VA
robertnvabeach@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Davidson
Syracuse, UT
nosdivad63@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

vicki scally
Idyllwild, CA
scallyvicki@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Darren Socie
Struthers, OH
LIGHTINGONEUP@AOL.COM

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Herbert Dreher
Natick, MA
gildasfabs@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

chris caro
Santa Clarita, CA
squeekmaster875@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Campbell
Pensacola, FL
gothoff@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kristen case
Cherokee, OK
kristencase14@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sheiknoor hassan
Memphis, IN
sheiknoorhassan@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Patrick Case
Cherokee, OK
pcase41@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shirley Landy
Newark, OH
proffers822014@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

marsha brown
Boynton Beach, FL
mrg711@bellsouth.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyle West
Burlington, NJ
khub1983@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob loo
Charlestown, MA
avocadosammich@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lil North
Riverdale, GA
kevinmadu2013@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Linda Kirsch
Arcadia, FL
pandaandwisper@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wilmur Johnson
Bronx, NY
iamahuman.21@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

william taylor
Rustburg, VA
wtwillbill@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marcus Miller
New York, NY
marcusemiller@armyspy.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Roman Wardlow
Las Vegas, NV
prizerebelpizza@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mark Frank Prescott, AZ
jacie500@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Stevenson
Lewistown, PA
davadep@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wayne Lachmann
Burlington, NC
wlach@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dakota Muller
Saint Paul, MN
dmuller2175@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

riley burczynski
East Amherst, NY
rileyburc80@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Condos
Champaign, IL
gogosocondos@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Greg Goerke
Smithtown, NY
goerkeg151@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Snowden
Frederick, MD
snowden.chris@ymail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tiana coleman
Buffalo, NY
tianacoleman415@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

alex la rosemead, CA
alexla911@Hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cor Peny
Bakersfield, CA
corddepeny@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Deborah Gold
San Juan Capistrano, CA
debigold@live.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chris Swonger
Mc Lean, VA
chris.swonger@smiths.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tom Martin
Cambridge, Ontario
tmtmtrn57@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mitch Milesen
Powder Springs, GA
mitchmilesen15@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeremy Harbolt
Louisville, KY
akawurm@twc.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Caleb Baker
Baker, NV packers-99@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shakira Plus
Lorain, OH
l_marie43@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jimmy punu
Fullerton, CA
lavaflea@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Daves Daces
fremont, CA
royalty8th@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gregory Ellis
Sharon Hill, PA
pastorgregellis@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eddie Bernard
Charlotte, TN
eddie@bernardlock.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carmelo Caceres
Philadelphia, PA
clcaceres4@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lydia Mayes
Henrico, VA
gamer.chick1290@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

scott barber
Manchester Township, NJ
wyrm@comcast.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Teares Csea
Fremont, CA
huan.lee9001@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Monroe
Palisades Park, NJ
jmonroejr@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Sewell
San Diego, CA
davidsewell87@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Fabio Santana
Eastvale, CA
santabioez@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Anderson
York, PA
zarakuga31@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

timothy mclaughlin
Choudrant, LA
timothymcl3@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Glenn Leonard
Avella, PA
stermlopea@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

danny crow
Los Angeles, CA
dannycrow741@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dawn Wheeler
Valencia, CA
dawnwheeler77@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

oscar williamsss
Atlanta, GA
pokepodt@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Pham
Kent, WA
druul_g_xm@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kevin Kevin
Brooklyn, NY
Kevin.KevinPR@Yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Reeder
Biloxi, MS
steptoe1942@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nancy Kotlowski
Bel Air, MD
nkot325@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Louis
Garden Grove, CA
docstunna8@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jim Piper
Wyoming, IL
jimpiperjr@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hugh Davidson
Delavan, WI
he4davidson@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brian earnshaw
Amesbury, MA
www.brianearnshawjr@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mobe Cave
Minooka, IL
Danmaktk@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

trot peltin
Plymouth, MA
steamy12@gmx.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrea Tomsov
Springfield, MA
andreartiz05@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Laird
erie, PA
Jdub174@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

im not Moody, AL
lolusucks@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

im4 not2
Denver, CO
lolu32sucks@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott Thomas
Brandon, MS
skt8@comcast.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pete Torge
Starr, SC torgep22@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Ditch
Ashford, AL clbeauty@live.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sean Commo
Newport News, VA
sean.commo@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Commo
Newport News, VA
Carnahank@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mike Hensdill
Gastonia, NC
hensdills@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stacy Jose
Yucaipa, CA
donotappeal@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tammy McCoy
Fresno, CA
ttckmac@sbcglobal.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jude Rose Kaspar
Glen Burnie, MD
Jr.kaspar@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gayle Akins
Oakland, CA
gayleakins1@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

gina cortez
New York, NY
koolaid6442@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nancy Kurczewski
Salt Lake City, UT
nkur22@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jorge Lara
El Paso, TX
jlara@du.edu

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Thomas R Washer
Gresham, OR
ss3967777@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Larry nyguen
Olympia, WA
randomstuffforhui@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sebastian Wolfe
Groton, CT
skwolfe29@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott Dobravolsky
Huntsville, AL
dobravolskys@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

harold gill
Carson City, NV
familyprotective@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joshua Adams
Miami, FL
immersed4christ@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Josen Francisco
Bronx, NY
jengayuma@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sisebuto loera
miami, FL
sisebutoloeragodoy26@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Josen Franciscon
Bronx, NY
xymphonia@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Parks jr
Bonnieville, KY
truriffraff@netzero.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Haynes
West Richland, WA
pictishusa@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Depa Villa
Russellville, AR
depavilla@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Nawn
Auburn, MA
account1818181818@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john brown
Atlanta, GA
kidsonic45@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Golledge
Newport Beach, CA
SubmarineFig79@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sean Bean
Dequincy, LA
seanabean08@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kid kid
Lowell, MA
kidxkid6515@mail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anna Thurmes
Saint Paul, MN
annathurmes@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Mccrory
Fredonia, NY
Bboy1594@aol.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ron grubb
Effingham, IL
iwantron@msn.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Todd Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1185@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

chris keil
Horseshoe Bay, TX
ck1keil@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Greg Stark
Sandpoint, ID
GStark@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

FREDDY GARCIA
El Paso, TX
DEMETRIO_B14@LIVE.COM

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

david adkins
Sonora, TX
coronas05@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dellisa sharpe
Port Reading, NJ
b193338@drdrb.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Roger Werries
Cookeville, TN
rcawerries@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jane Cole
Gwynn Oak, MD
tinuoluka@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Mahofski
Pocomoke City, MD
Mahofski@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jesus Garcia
Brownsville, TX
whatever6352@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brett wallace
San Jose, CA
Verthe8665@fleckens.hu

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Wells
San Antonio, TX
charles.wells71@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Saul Torres
Buffalo, NY
Saultorres1@live.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

waylin mcmillen
Monroe, NC
waln24@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Janet Carr
Montgomery, TX
pinkplums54@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Paul McCartney
Lake Havasu City, AZ
darkride1967@netzero.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jade doyle
Farmville, VA
JadeDoyleoly@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nicholas Williams
Norfolk, VA
nwilliamsv1@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrew Stuckey
Fresno, CA
foreverjesuslove@outlook.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hgans dasfas
Roseville, MI
fedsfgdsgds@hushmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Helen Kelly
Blackfoot, ID
bootscootinnana@hotmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Riverera
Fairfax, VA
johnprizes001@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gary Gassaway
Atwater, CA
gwjogass@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matthew Cermak
Fridley, MN
matt.cermak@gmail.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Phillip Schettler
Stow, OH
Fildo@sbcglobal.net

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bobb jullia
Bolingbrook, IL
bobbyjullia@yahoo.com

8/3/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Zach Rice
Valley Center, KS
kufans83@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Omar Ramirez
Los Angeles, CA
omie209@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ben Ziegler
Seaside, CA
bziegler68@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Sullivan
Tucson, AZ
bfsullivan01@cox.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian McGarry
Port Saint Lucie, FL
dbldice@bellsouth.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Werner
Albany, NY
b204562@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kelvin Hartley
Sneads Ferry, NC
Kcoknf17@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christine bogott
Grand Junction, CO
christine@myhealthinsurancebroker.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Greifenstein
Cleveland, OH
Jgriff1962@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Sinclair
Pittsfield, ME
briansin58@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Patricia Fairbrother
Concord, CA
pattifairbrother@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack Rybarczyk
Minneapolis, MN
jtrybarczyk@mac.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

william weiss
La Crosse, IN
buddyweiss@ymail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Raymond Weil
Latonia, KY
airdog231@netscape.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dustin Howard
Washington, NY
b204979@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wayne Lopez
Pomona, CA
SteamUser@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Greg Mahon
Montrose, MI
gregorymahon@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bill moss
Lake Wales, FL
rhm33@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dan Grafton
Florence, KY
danny34@fioptics.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

matisse witherspoon
Winston Salem, NC
mwith0729@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tom van Glendale, CA
andreamashby@jourrapide.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ed macko norridge, IL
emacko@norridgepd.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

heber villavicencio
Chicago, IL
villavicencio1@att.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sandra barr
Fort Collins, CO
sandybarr52@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kenny Moore
Sedro Woolley, WA
kenny.earl.moore@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sherman smith
Spokane, WA
shermansmith96@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Peters
Bonney Lake, WA
repete51_02@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cody Lasg
Bakersfield, CA
theknight.cody@live.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bob Swanks
Buffalo, NY
bobbyhmd2@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Henry
Bakersfield, CA
henryjohn467@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

malachi williams
Lancaster, CA
malachiiw29@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

vance russell
Nampa, ID
v56outlaw@ymail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Kurokawa
Kahului, HI
jykimo2000@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Corey Merrell
Belvidere, IL
CMVikings@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Pitcher
Syracuse, NY
bigness123@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Crooker
Hope Valley, RI
robert_crooker@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steve Duarte
Dixon, CA
crazedcook@ymail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Aero Jack
Windsor Mill, MD
whispylol@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kimmy doe
Long Beach, CA
kings562@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jill Wolf
La Vista, NE
amberajasmom@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ben Villar
Wichita, KS
kvblue87@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Louis King
Jackson, MS
michelangelosmithengin@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Janet Roberts
San Diego, CA
janetrobert655@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jesse Herrera
Los Angeles, CA
jssherrera076@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Willie Brown
Detroit, MI
williedb79@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

artem dadashev
Brooklyn, NY
tpzrt@droplar.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

travern Smith
Florence, MT
mimzmimz1977@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kenneth Butler
Salt Lake City, UT
kennethb807@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kwasi Fahie
Miami, FL
kwasifahiemast@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Luis Montley
Los Angeles, CA
atlcproject000@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john lee Wilmington, DE
basedkazusa@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kane isriko
Brooklyn, NY
tbimp@imgof.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gloria Estefan
Baton Rouge, LA
kinghillsucks@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chad Goldsmith
Beverly Hills, CA
nikolamojsoski169@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anna Lundberg
San Leandro, CA
lundnaerg@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tamura Lee
Oklahoma City, OK
tamarawhite475@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eric Williams
Redford, MI
erichawilliams1@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pete bering
Las Vegas, NV
vommens2@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tim timmy
Geneseo, IL
raycey72@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Heather Madison
Calhoun, GA
madisonman3@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jim paul
Philadelphia, PA
seansmiller@jourrapide.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

scott froehlich
Fullerton, CA
frofourdeuce@aim.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stephen Alexander
Los Angeles, CA
stevoe_eve@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Katie Grissom
Benicia, CA
grissom@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Doe
Garden Grove, CA
docstunna9@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tobin Maule
Saint Petersburg, FL
tobytech@msn.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john shawgo
Clyde, NC
rickshaw1f@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stefan Mark
Askov, MN
stmark100@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Deaton
Valley Park, MO
Slipknot@fidmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Merissa Hughes
Cleveland, OH
hugheslords@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ruby Greer
Ripley, WV
sammiejuly23@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ivan Angouda
Dalton, GA
b237387@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mel burke
Brooklyn, NY
snake_eater_twin_snake@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Danielle Esham
Lake Worth, FL
Dke5490@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tammy fitzgerald
Athol, MA
tammy.fitz579@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

meghan mae Anoka, MN
uglylilac@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian West
Midlothian, VA
west.br70@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Bro
Galveston, TX
spammeplease440@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marcos Garcia
Los Angeles, CA
marcosgarcia_45@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Amber Lowe
Dayton, OH amberlowe56@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kirstie guy
Jasper, TN
kirstie2308@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Landon Justice
Mystic, CT
javchucka10@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

david rankin
Morgan City, LA
musicman@teche.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sam Stegall
Morgan City, LA
samson68@att.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kristen Hauge
Point Pleasant Beach, NJ
bfd9966@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jamie Marsh
Irving, NY
Bbmac679@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mineva Zabi
Manteca, CA
b248337@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gary Alan
Wichita, KS
lolpointsforairspenser@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Johnson Butler
Wilmington, NC
johnson@beswilmington.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john thomas Liberty, MO
johnnyfootball2005@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kelsey Mathis
Woodstock, IL
dkmathis2009@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

paris everard
Farmville, VA
ParisEverardliv@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brad Windham Center, TX
desmond9w@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nathaniel Hughes
Cleveland, OH
merissaface@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Daljeet Singh
Stockton, CA
d.singh@cynux.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

rick medeiros
Fall River, MA
viper.rjm1@comcast.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tommy Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1188@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Raymond Hughes
Cleveland, OH
hugheswrongz@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tyler granger
Beaverton, OR
theworm519@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michele Zeigler
Mechanicsburg, PA
psp192@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

eric zeigler
Mechanicsburg, PA
psp2202002@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jack power
Pittsburgh, PA
whirledplayer2@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kevin Williams
Huntsville, AL
tlbwi@startkeys.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john stamos
Cherry Hill, NJ
dinnerdinner@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Suddarth
Dayton, OH
lilinsu.13@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mark harris
Miami, FL
beardgangnation@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stephen Lee
Boerne, TX
stwlee@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joan Corrigan
Cudahy, WI
joancorri@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joe Reyes
Albany, NY
b260430@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Richard Dickerson
Jonesboro, AR
473lacrosse@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bilbo Baggins
Brooklyn, NY
b259975@drdrb.net

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joshua Dowell
South Amboy, NJ
joshua.dowell1@aol.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Burns
Kokomo, IN
rburns0022@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rachel Nona
Moorpark, CA
rachelesco1@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

allan brown
Rialto, CA
klinkklang555@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

wevqwd wevwevwe
Morrisville, NC
fbr54@spamherelots.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

J C Calloway
Hickory, NC
transam79ccnc@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hsjs Ydd
Quincy, PA
smoothboy0@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rj Ross
Yorktown, VA
rjross300@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ileane ontou
Aurora, IN
womackb13@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

lara julez
Cathedral City, CA
homie111111@hotmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matt Soper
San Francisco, CA
msoper3056@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tom Mazerik
Mercer Island, WA
tom.mazerik@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matthew Mitchell
Colorado Springs, CO
matthew12mitchell@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyle Griffin
Antioch, CA
griffinkyle2690@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christina Conklin
Stanley, NC
Nutto118@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bubba smith
Battle Ground, WA
scar2hand99@outlook.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dustin Barnes
Uniontown, OH
dbarnes226@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Mackle
Poolesville, MD
jmack753@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jordan michael
Colorado Springs, CO
jordanmichael590@yahoo.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Miltan Escobar
New York, NY
jimmy203@teleworm.us

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

alan miller
Shavertown, PA
wwegoday@gmail.com

8/4/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jamie hyatt
Denver, NC
jamiehyatt123@att.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Edward Skalitzky
Windsor, WI
rickskal@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

gust carter
Youngstown, OH
jonsmifty22@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Patrick Smith
Jacksonville, FL
trtbj@pwrby.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lawrence Williams
Stone Mountain, GA
o0topdog0o@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

art garrelli
Las Vegas, NV
garthgoe35@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

laura voelkel
Las Vegas, NV
mcclainm38@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tina voelkel
Las Vegas, NV
ag.g11@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

geo manio
Brooklyn, NY
geomanizero@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vincent CASALE
Oldwick, NJ
Casalev1@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Grant Glasscock
Lakebay, WA
rhaubin@gmx.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Granillo
Mesa, AZ
jonathangranillo81@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carlos Del Angel
Port Arthur, TX
cda433@ymail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James wefqew
Texas, TX
james.esters@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mahooger Flahooger
Marietta, GA
Sharod08@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Danny Glover
Martinsburg, WV
bucketdroppers@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

thanks thanks
Devine, TX
fabil@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

raymond terranova
Cocoa, FL
rterra2439@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alexis Chaidez
Chicago, IL
Weent1952@jourrapide.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bailey grabooski
Marion, IL
bailey944@monumentmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bailey grabowski
Marion, IL
bailey944@reallymymail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

stephanie rose Horseheads, NY
stephrose13@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marie Darin
Rockton, IL
Retiredmarie@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Debra Jacintho
Snohomish, WA
diazzm6@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Sibrel
Nashville, TN
dsibrel@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Seibel
Fairview, OR
oregonduckcowboy@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Austin Pereira
Portland, OR
austin.g.pereira@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Billib Bruce
Lawson, MO
thedreider@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Johnny Cage
Bellevue, WA
maplestreetfanlove@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jean Miller
Macomb, IL
jmiller@justincasemail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dylam LAGRAVES
Kingman, AZ
spanishtide@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jimmy Cohn
Bellevue, NJ
rengaradisbeast@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jhon lenon
Tucson, AZ
xavier_034@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

chris jakobson
New York, NY
chrisjakobson33@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Victor Marques
Oakland, CA
marctorq@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ken DePastino
Phoenix, AZ
depastino88@gmx.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Manar Fiscus
Redondo Beach, CA
TrickerGaming@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Leonard Wright
Aurora, CO
Lman61@centurylink.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cindy Keresztes
Jackson, WY
tetontravel@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

moobliar billy Orland, CA
sodiumclorate@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Harold Dobson
Orlando, FL
michaeldcepeda@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

moobliar bradsucks
New York, NY
bmoobliar@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

eli talley
Sparta, MO
elitalley331@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shiela Franks
West Fargo, ND
shielabiegler@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jessy sy
Cincinnati, OH
jeskane123@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob gibes
Wethersfield, CT
arupdas2@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gia Monic
Austin, TX
aniyha.aurgia@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sam kesha
Frederick, MD
samkesha123@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Ashcraft
Tacoma, WA
chuck21454@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cordell Smith
Slidell, LA
cordellsmith86@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hay Bubbles
Omaha, NE
dndorbit@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sean Edwards
Modesto, CA
seanedwards580@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

johnathan lang
Jacksonville, FL
noonie_jordan@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bill Nye
Chelsea, MA
banaas2@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bryan Armijos
Hemet, CA
bryan.armijos@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ha lu
Kahului, HI
lilynguyen808@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rowland Tavares Sr.
Hilo, HI
rt07025@hawaiiantel.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mcyolo swag
Fullerton, CA
b281876@drdrb.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

heather marie
Fort Mitchell, KY
heathermarie001@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rolando Tejeda
Brownsville, TX
rolteje@msn.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

samuel powel
Fontana, CA
offerboi@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrew Berhold
Las Vegas, NV
theandman@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

daniel james
Los Angeles, CA
offerboi@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Purbo Tanda
Flowood, MS
dcgravitycat@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott johnsan laporte, IN dogelord@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark Mango
Hamilton, OH
Merlymangoo@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

brian larez
Pittsburg, CA
mw2multiplayermega@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

victor sanchez
Pittsburg, CA
mrtech@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mandy thomas
Reno, NV
mand.yn.v200.2@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Deborah Hawthorne
Temple Hills, MD
chelley449@aim.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

madeluyne marie
San Leandro, CA
madelinsoilytits@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Todd Jensen
Brookfield, WI
jensen0914-info@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

keage cliftof
Nashville, TN
schtlerspam@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Randi Key
Tazewell, TN
llovefreestuff09121990@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alex Nyugen
Houston, TX
rainbowkumas@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sandy Aubin
Houston, TX
digitalsatan666@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Emma Bourne
Franklin Square, NY
gracieg187@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jean Alourdes
Queens Village, NY
fredogainer@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Vorhoff
Harriman, TN
vtscomputers1@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wendy Link
Evansville, IN four.cats.ssol@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

adolpho birch
West New York, NJ
adolphobirch@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

rheannon easter Kevil, KY
rhealoves86@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bill jill Clarksburg, WV
milkol146@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ashy Rashy
Peoria, AZ
michaela.elsword@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Larry Mills
Carpentersville, IL
lmills68@comcast.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Daniel Tizzan
Clearwater, FL
dtizzani@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ashley Moore
Lavergne, TN
Aasam06@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ken Baxter
Ocala, FL
kbaxter6@cox.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ray Bennett
Harrisonburg, VA
bamarwb@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

martin cirilo Greenbelt, MD
martinn.cirilo1@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chao Dai
Flushing, NY
daichao2@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john gonzalez
Hialeah, FL
lambo99s@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

felicia payton
Monroe, LA
columbia12@comcast.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jean Garcia
Akron, OH
nerdager@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jeff black Livermore, CA
j2becustom@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kim Jethro
Cocoa, FL
kim3dickey@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

linwood Jethro
Cocoa, FL
ljethro829@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Aruka Alka
Tampa, FL
arukabns@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Matthew Ganser
Kansas City, KS
mganser@uwalumni.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chelsea Koster
Breda, IA
chelsea.j.koster@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Miriam Richardson
Moreno Valley, CA
thegift@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jade smith
Battle Ground, WA
scar2hand5550@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

angie howard
Mount Vernon, KY
ahoward324@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Goodall
Seattle, WA
big-bro-j@comcast.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Hatfield
Danville, NH
bunky102971@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john wright
Bakersfield, CA
johnnypaulwright@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyee Shina
Baton Rouge, LA
maieyyune@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

wade lierman
Glendale, AZ
sanelynutz@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Greentree
Nampa, ID
jdgsges@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mary Rossman
Jacksonville, IL
MaryBRossman@armyspy.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john duncan
Columbia, MO
mber9112@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tommy wilson Williston, FL
tomwison6@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cathy Song
Revere, MA
songcathi@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Dugger
Glasgow, KY
jdugger4@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Drew Davis Westfield, IN
davisdre@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vince Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1191@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob billy Winter Garden, FL
good4up2s493@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Loka Pika
Dania, FL
sunchild0505@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Leah McComb
Cincinnati, OH
motherofpraise@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Henry Mottu
Houston, TX
texhen11@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sohaib jamal
Henrietta, NY
sohaibj123456789@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

christopher dejesus
Hartford, CT
applesauce4life10@usa.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

frank anderson
Miami, FL
frankster181@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

micheal swegmen
Las Vegas, NV
matrixvenom01@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jaime Mulder
Byron Center, MI
skyangels82@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

greg jones
Monroe, MI
haroldsteward@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dominic Santos
Somerville, NJ
ethernet42@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Darius Miller
Springfield, IL
dam917@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Duck
Salt Lake City, UT
domenick55@live.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alex Zawadsky
Parrish, FL
azawadsky@tampabay.rr.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

henry lo
San Francisco, CA
xrumblee@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob hilly
Fort Lauderdale, FL
bob_hilly@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rodney Pauley
Shalimar, FL
itsmecoon@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kenny detrick
Pompano Beach, FL
bodopayne@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrew Levesque
Caribou, ME
offdeadsomewhere@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

anthony burth
Hugo, MN
anthonyburth1@msn.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Jones
Johnson city, TN
macehand@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

amanda adams
Melbourne, FL
waynesamanda89@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Donna Tollinchi
Belleville, NJ
donna_tollinchi@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

manuela garcia
San Francisco, CA
personal1@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tommy Johns
Sunnyside, NY lej38498@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john hawkins
apopka, FL
hoohio66@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Donald Nelson
Temple, TX
donaldnelson33@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Treasure
Phoenix, AZ
radioryan1@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

janine embrey
Rushville, MO
jembrey1963@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Diane Kalnas
Ottawa, IL
Dimarck99@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hanes Poin
Roseville, MI
theyouter@hushmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

doris holliday
Sheridan, WY
hollidaytd@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jong wong
Rosemead, CA
nighthikaruxox@aim.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Erica Morrison
High Point, NC
ericamorrison45@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Thomas Boyle
Arroyo Grande, CA
raiderlea@charter.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Susan Alles
Bernalillo, NM
pooka1953@msn.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Taylor James
San Leandro, CA
jamayloe@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rich Chambers
Monroe, NC
genurich@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

pam wright
Pasadena, CA
pasapdub@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Reilly
Kissimmee, FL
creilly20@msn.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Gary Steele
Sparks, NV
skeksisnv@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

riley sagerty
Saint Charles, MO
rileysagerty@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

William Froment
Chamois, MO
frostyfreak40@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Minta DeVore
Harrison, AR
atnim2730@windstream.net

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Haruna Leasie
Tampa, FL
twilightrose@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tracy lopez
Saint Paul, MN
rlop66@frontier.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dylan Rodriguez
Houston, TX
Dylan32rod@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jett Emms
Albuquerque, NM
jettc101@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jani Howell
Susanville, CA
matesgatepay@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

wayne packett
NE Palm Bay, FL
amandaswayne89@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Diesel Digger
Phoenix, AZ
fxxkboysgetmoney@outlook.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Angela Johnston
Delta, OH
amj7321@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

fred jAS
Charlotte, NC
soccerkid@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jay Chen
Coralville, IA
actjosh123@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tonya Bangart
Neenah, WI
tyrneathem@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

regina hobbs
Mount Juliet, TN
ginahobbs774@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER MORAN
Devon, PA
CWM6726OGONTZ@HOTMAIL.COM

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sam taylor
Cutler, IL
sam12@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Griffin
Columbus, OH
dyantefoster34@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Margarito Booher
Frenchburg, OH
proffers852014@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

patricia fuller
Fort Smith, AR
pfsweetpea1@aol.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dajuan Turner
Colorado Springs, CO
muffinman22@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mikaele Haile
Austin, TX
mikaelehaile@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tom Clancy
deerfield, IL
jimmytherunner@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jamie quwan
Las Vegas, NV
jamiemcrawford75@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Fredo tururu
Devine, TX
ganzo@hotmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

scott bellows
Syracuse, NY
kcchiefs23@yahoo.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

linda garcia
San Francisco, CA
unite@gmail.com

8/5/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kuttty Lucky
Norristown, PA
kirankumar1@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Becky Guidry
Nederland, TX
bguidry71@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Laura Mcguire
Hopatcong, NJ
lmcguire812@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

marcus stephens
Toledo, OH
painima5@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Barbara Burley
Lake Panasoffkee, FL
injuredkitten@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lola Lawrence
Peoria, AZ
stephen.elsword2@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Bonacci
Sanford, FL
mb3287051@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

delly sharp
Woodbridge, NJ
a26853@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rahmon Grevious
Cincinnati, OH
heatweindiz08c79dc0@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Don A Burnsville, MN
Don.Ackerman@juno.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Richard Faigal
Palatine, IL
warlitor@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carole Dukette
Manchester, NH
duke6665@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

christine xander
Nanticoke, PA
cma18704@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Isaiah Briggs
Columbia, SC
dymandabes@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Susan Grove
Columbus, OH
grovebaby77@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Clifton Soler
San Diego, CA
cliftonsoler446@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sharon Starin
Millsboro, DE dl904t@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carmonia Draper
Bridgeport, CT
mdraperct67@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

yanetsie games
Cape Coral, FL
yanetsiegames@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hanbak Kwak
Hoffman Estates, IL
kwaksea@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David lu
Cary, NC
baldnoob@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bob Boomer
Batavia, OH
riotpoints7@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jo bi Lancaster, MA
jb_jr007@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Manraj Bhinder
Secane, PA
manraj.bhinder@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ken Julian
Madison, WI
kcjulian@charter.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vera Whiler
Vancouver, WA
Wheeler65@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

britt roll
Richmond, VA
siredeieme@live.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tim Ghormley
Schertz, TX
tghormley@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

barb beatty mount union, IN harryasz@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Abdikadir Hassan
Louisville, KY
Megaabdikadir@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

BILLY FISHER
Pineville, LA fisher.b345@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eugene Walker
Birmingham, AL
eywalker@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kennia richards
Bronx, NY
kendricha2229@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rod Gracia
Ontario, CA
rsg41826@sbcglobal.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kismet Smith
Greensboro, NC
Cakismetsmith@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

SARAH WHITE
Saint Petersburg, FL
sarah1sarah@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Richard Harris
Louisville, KY
miles14@att.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bodo zuschlag
Huntsville, AL
zuschlag@comcast.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

faith linear Williamstown, NY
puffyum@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

RAGHUNATH NAIDU
Houston, TX
raghunath4u@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lily Hartnell
Ketchikan, AK
withintemptation7@live.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tye feng
Lewiston, ME
govet2@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Isabella Giardina
Apex, NC
Blairwaldorf29@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

nah ber
Yuma, AZ
a36379@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Penny Alderman
Milwaukee, WI
penloafer_2006@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christi Newsome
Elk Grove, CA
gatherings_on_demand@frontier.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Derran Jay
Los Angeles, CA
przfire@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Days
Los Angeles, CA
prz5180@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

abe mannah
Dearborn, MI
abemannah8@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

maci haney Loup City, NE
haneymaci@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jake ryan Pearland, TX
johncarlologaviola@ymail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Deborah Meade
Huachuca City, AZ
mdeborah23@Yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sandra Weber
Sacramento, CA
sztailor411@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

scott forgen
Carmichaels, PA
kal.el.82@live.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Iacobelli
FORT LAUDERDALE, FL
kongboya@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Nadeau
NAPLES, FL
otmorozok56@rambler.ru

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kerry Wagner
Lewiston, CA
lewistonhotel@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Truly Waaji
Bakersfield, CA
henryjohnop@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vicente Magana
Maywood, CA
vince.magana12@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Equante Bolt
Boston, MA
equalbottle@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eva McNally
San Mateo, CA
mcnally@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

hugo hoderlein
Santa Rosa, CA
hugohoderlein@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ivan Ari
San Diego, CA
ivanari817@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Crow
Oxnard, CA
crowman5150@netscape.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ava Wyman
Camino, CA
finalfantasy21692@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

joe pena
Albuquerque, NM
joepena160@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

andy scott
Vandergrift, PA
wambam7@inbox.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Teresa Malcolm
Carmichael, CA
malceres@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

louise berger pioneer, OH
louiseberger1@yandex.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott Gomes
Las Vegas, NV
blugeblue124@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mindy Sutherland
Madisonville, LA
Mflower25@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Desmond Jones
Stillwater, OK
TrulyMagic33@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Autumn Carter
Lake City, FL
autumnraincarter9@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jo marin Trenton, NJ
polarjo@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kareena Mullens
Crosby, TX
kareenalmullens@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Dean
Dallas, TX
avutexas87@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Woodson
Litchfield, IL
roadtrip_35@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kelly smith
Joliet, IL
a54840@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Flippen
Port Huron, MI
jim.flippen101@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bill jones
Monroe, MI
lennon48162@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrea Hoehman
Buffalo, NY
h00ked0napimp@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nick Kane
Pittsburgh, PA
jackman56782@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nasus Miller
Flagler Beach, FL
carlmiller18@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Porter
Longmeadow, MA
dporter413@juno.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brent Mozak
Milo, IA
Mrmoz2u@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dalek Lee
Wichita, KS
daleklivesfood@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Li Ba
Birmingham, AL
a57648@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pamela Cathey
Parker, CO
pamela.c.cathey@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kim Ryan
Crosswell, MI
kimryan@ronaldreagan.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

katy flint
Mount Pleasant, MI
a58924@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Hol Tac
Birmingham, AL
a59340@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lin Hol
Birmingham, AL
a59854@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stefanie Robinson
Marietta, GA
skamryn@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

glenn tippett
Mamaroneck, NY
gglennn@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

hel ter
Oceanside, NY
1234zo@zoho.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Evan Shorrock
Camp Hill, PA
chichisbud@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kendra riddle
Pikeville, KY
krowe5@mail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rose Taylor
Cleveland, OH
kendrasimples@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

steve angle
Pataskala, OH
s.angle@hendersonarieal.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jeanette brown
Burgaw, NC
jeanetteb915@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Shafer
Stratford, NJ
shaferj@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Erin Madigan
Long Beach, MS
erin.madigan@eagles.usm.edu

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chris Luttrell
Cincinnati, OH
c_luttrell@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Candice Davis
La Crosse, WI
candice.davis61@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

cheryl lebeck
What Cheer, IA
cherilebeck@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Andrew Scott
Vandergrift, PA
wambam7@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jay ertet
Alameda, CA
jamesfong2333@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michelle Lane
Hempstead, NY
emmabourne187@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rice King
Dearborn, MI
riceking592@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jake Swanson
Akron, OH
erorwildaer@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lisa Van Conant
Crosswell, MI
lisavanconant@ronaldreagan.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

frnkie anderson
Miami, FL
frankster1818@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tiara Robinson
Baltimore, MD
tiaracrobinson@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Amanda Jones
Chandler, AZ
amandajns@live.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Micah Morgan
Minneapolis, MN
morganmicahtyler@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ian sanford
Saint Petersburg, FL
ian.sanford73@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rosa Westlake
Dayton, OH
westlakerightz22@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sunny hunt
Winston Salem, NC
sunnyhunt248@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wendy Williams
Dalton, GA
a72133@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kareem Moye
Brick, NJ
kmoye1@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Landelius
Bartlett, IL
weatherstation5@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Asana Hasana
Rockford, IL
shikhakhik@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Roberta Mann
Jackson, NJ
literati_hierarch@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Lucky
Hagerstown, MD
lckybl2@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tammy Deering
Medford, MN
jdeering_7@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Yasuo Hasaki
Brooklyn, NY
a74515@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob bui
Freeport, NY
brosbefore12@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Armi Sindayen
Northridge, CA
armi4angel@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Patty Hapke
Corona, CA
phapke44@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steve Jackson
Lockport, IL
tklpv@pwrby.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vladimir Stolichnaya
Brooklyn, NY
a76815@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Stacey Wartell
Pompano Beach, FL
staceyrobyn1@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dan daniel Park City, UT
sealvslc@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Simoes
Garden City, NY
JeffreyKSimoes@rhyta.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Haugen
Bismarck, ND
jonathanhaugen@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lalada Loopsey
Peoria, AZ
michaela.elsword3@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Doreen McAlister
Berkeley, CA
serenedeity@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Thuc-Nghi Truong
Oklahoma City, OK
ttruong@ossm.edu

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jace Lidano
Winona, MN
jacelidano@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kelli Packwood
Avondale, AZ
kdragonfly72@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jessica Kuhn
Phoenix, AZ
jessica.kuhn@cox.net

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Trenton Brown
Bradenton, FL
offerderp@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Johnny Bravo
Fort Mill, SC
tvizk@6paq.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vance Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1194@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dan Booth
Dwight, IL
boothdan30@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Vicky Tasker
Omaha, NE
hawkdover1195@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chech Smith
Monroe, LA
a77649@trbvm.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sarah trevino
Santa Rosa, TX
excludedsarah@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jon Red
Collinsville, IL
muffintater8@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Susan Welz
Dayton, OH
ForBrookeSeen@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

MISTER LOPEZ
Port Richey, FL
HOMERJS1869@YAHOO.COM

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jack dixon
Whitesburg, KY
acoasco@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tiom ryuk
Wallingford, KY
ellen@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Merry Hailegeorgies
Silver Spring, MD
jfhw419@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tom Adams
Whitesburg, KY
jacksoaly@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

non sy
Cincinnati, OH
devincole4000@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john don
long beach, CA
hammerjones@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Amber Pietrowski
Monmouth, IL
rshsjc563@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

THERESA ALMANZA
San Bernardino, CA
msalmanza@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Leodis Jefferson
Houston, TX
six4domino@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Banks
Kansas City, MO
christopherbanks90@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Clark
Waxhaw, NC
clark_jta@lowes.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

manny lin
New York, NY
mannylin9874@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Catherine Hughes
San Leandro, CA
Catthead@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dominic osborne
San Angelo, TX
os.dominic@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey Barrette
Indialantic, FL
jsb3521@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

russ romann
Annandale, MN
romannruss@msn.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marcy Machen
Mesa, AZ
marcyaz1@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sarah adams
Logan, WV
sarahadams89@Hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mary McKee
Hale, MO
cannedquilter@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Donna Cohoon
Reedsburg, WI
chatcat0891@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shekeila Williams
Bethel, NC
keila85@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Flecha Jr
East Providence, RI
fkingkool8303@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott Kinzler
White Plains, NY
Rw0206@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Campbell
Franklinton, NC
james@tunerpreferred.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wade Eutsler
Herriman, UT
wadeeutsler@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Wayne Braxton
Long Beach, CA
waynebraxton@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Cesinki
Pepper Pike, OH
J.Cesinki207@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sam Field
Granada Hills, CA field.sam@mail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Lotto
Sunbury, PA
shikrules09@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Roger Goins
Apopka, FL
stonesstang69@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

scott wilhite
Yuba City, CA
scott_piggum@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Akki Aro
Danville, VA
Arav.singla4@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dre Smith
Brooklyn, NY
football11@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Szuch
Redding, CA
robertszuch@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tasha kinder Pahrump, NV
vak504@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Tochterman
Chicago, IL
btoch23@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Nat Woo
Hebron, KY
nabdul2014@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Antoniette Barber
Chicago, IL
antoinebarber76@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Aaron Chabot
Palm harbor, FL
mochafresh@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marcus Moore
Fountain, CO
M.moore9455@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tim Meyers
Plano, TX
justoverwhelmme771@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

michael schneider
Alfred Station, NY
nascarfan6502@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sylvia Dotson
Arlington, TX
sylad777@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

edwin cacero
Escondido, CA
appleusuck1@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sherry Sergent
Baxter, KY
Sherry.sergent2@aol.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Leon Ruiz
Mendota, CA
soraxkairi80@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john walker
Harvey, IL
jonjondon56@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tak Mak
Southbridge, MA
tadashimakoto@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tia trask
Hillsboro, OR
tiatrask@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mary mitchell
Vermilion, OH
rogiermary@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Chad Corl
Port Matilda, PA
chad.corl@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sarah Connery
Fairfield, CT
sarah_connery@live.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

miguel salcedo
Calexico, CA
salcedo_013@hotmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL ORTEGA
Flushing, NY
ODMCHU@YAHOO.COM

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jake Hill
Camano Island, WA
squareskittle@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

coretta weathers
Coal Creek Canyon, AZ
corettaweathers@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

josh long
Washington, DC
jlong@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ronald Hernandez
Nottingham, MD
ronaldh1996@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kenny Farnham
NYC, NY
kennyfarnham34@yahoo.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dale Peters
Scottsbluff, NE
peters090610@outlook.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bethany Miller
Kittanning, PA
idontplayfair@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

paul d lindstrom
Weymouth, MA
boot7507@gmail.com

8/6/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

rosie Valenzuela
Selma, CA r_tablas@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jordan Monroe
Aldie, VA
jordan.s.monroe@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ngina Porch
Warner Robins, GA
domeasolids@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brad Schumacher
Milton, WI
bschoe@charter.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ken richards
Bronx, NY
kendricha2229@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

linda roupe
Atwater, CA
mrs2806@att.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

joshua kimchi
Rockville, MD
hanheureugo@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

shelby dove
Elkton, MD
ibelieveacts238@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

martin gessner
Rocklin, CA
a98756@trbvm.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jenny Miller
Creston, NC
mjmk1993@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kendra Taylor
Cleveland, OH
westlakelinez98@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

george hakas
Chino, CA
juggalosarescumbaglosers@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sammy Wright
Gaithersburg, MD
SammyWright177@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brock Lesnar
Glendora, CA
MyClientbrocklesnarconquered@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Joan Cospers
Toledo, OH
a99419@trbvm.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

keisha james Mays Landing, NJ
gyrlkelli@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bruce Holt
Houston, TX
beor52@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Abigail Torres
Miami Beach, FL
foreverinlove23@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Patrick Bowen
San Diego, CA
patrickbowen75@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Francis Meade
Charlotte, NC
fmmeade5148@att.nett

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jonathan torres
Bronx, NY
jonathan.torres55542@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Prince
Hanceville, AL
cnpsc@hotmai.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rachel Elizalde
Boston, MA
rdang11234@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Scott
Coarsegold, CA
mwscott@sti.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kevin Shavon
Washington, DC
Kevinshavon4@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dave childress
Fort Smith, AR
a101978@trbvm.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ashley McGraw
Bethlehem, PA
Ashley21799@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Zaleski
Placentia, CA
rnzaleski@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Melinda Nelson
Tacoma, WA
msommer4444@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Moore
Chicago, IL
michaelpmoore@armyspy.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

elvis gonzalez
Anaheim, CA
elvisgonzalez999@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Belinda Walker
Brasstown, NC
earlandbelinda@frontier.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Dale Dingman
Monmouth, IL
gajvhq845@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Baatz
MELVINDALE, MI
robertbaatz319@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kate howe Nicholasville, KY
katehowe.howe@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michele Russo
Wantagh, NY
Lexie33205@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jay jone
Columbus, OH
belairpromo@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

ramiro saldana Aurora, IL
ramiro4883@att.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lizzie Thompson
Oklahoma City, OK
lizzie851125@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Damon Perry-Outlaw
Hamden, CT
Damonoutlaw@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Troy Grammer
Kokomo, IN
elementtroy@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

john wall
Sebring, FL
djquest2q@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Fernando Balderas
El Cajon, CA
balnandde@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Montgomery
Bakersfield, CA
Ryan.montgomery48@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

leslie ramirez
Philadelphia, PA
leslieramirez215@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ivan Rock
Indianapolis, IN
irockindy111@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Mesis
Beaver, PA
raber1943@cuvox.de

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

James Baker
Greensburg, PA
jenniferwinrick@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Shania Bagwell
Norfolk, VA
sshania.bag@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

asha delane
Bellwood, IL
delanex123@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

whitley stanley
Lumberton, NC
mzbaldwin22deep@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Phil Donger
Wrightstown, NJ
davensteve1@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

TAISHA RAHIM
Murfreesboro, NC
taisharahim@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

John Mulvihill
Kingsland, GA
s7drum23@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tre ladson
Laurinburg, NC
treladson17@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Erin EK
Homestead, PA
allsmilesnow1@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jake teir
Delray Beach, FL
jaketeir@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tim Johnson
Las Vegas, NV
avacodo1946@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

raul selk
brooklyn, NY
raulselk@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jason Curtis
Pasadena, CA
curt1600@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Angela Hamon
Hickory, NC
houdiniphile@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Michael Lund
Tigard, OR
nwpeddler@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Evelyn Gravatt
Irvington, AL
evelyngravatt1@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Maggi Williams
Keystone Heights, FL
Nicholasreaganjames@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Anthony Henry
Miami, FL
warrenwelds@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Manzo
Naples, ME
Valboski80@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

beren derah
Little Rock, AR
lauren.isaderp@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

SA Miller
Bellingham, WA
samiller192@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kristin belding
Saint Joseph, MO
kbelding92@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kay aye
Skokie, IL
kayaye2225@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kataya Yvoski
Las Vegas, NV
yalublue@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Christopher Biles
Grand Prairie, TX
cmrkbiles@sbcglobal.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Toriano Decuir
Hemet, CA
nieshalewis@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

michael nzeribe pembroke piness, FL
oblahotf@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Janice Lewter
Chesnee, SC
ballet55@mail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

julia mendelson
Casper, WY
julia.m.mendelson@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Juanita Pisswates
El Cajon, CA
primplup626@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

kerri hughes
Tacoma, WA
freebs4ever@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jon Silva
Brooklyn, NY
t.neym@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tracy Morrison
Greer, SC
redchip1@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Krystal Davis
Oklahoma City, OK
krystalxdavis@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mary Hefner
Lincolnton, NC
Dwarfsley@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mary Kirkland
Las Vegas, NV
me8acat@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ferguson Hirth
Hendersonville, TN
jolincoyne38@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pamel Welsh
Cedar City, UT
pjwelsh59@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

katie woodward
Valrico, FL
swagger87@dr.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

David Siverly
San Diego, CA
dsiverly@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lillian Arias
Peoria, AZ
ashyrashyissodashy@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ronnie Ibara
ASPEN, CO
rosaquezadaz@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Haynes Colter
Norfolk, VA
mehrenroderic@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

sam smith
Garden Grove, CA
ineedagopee@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

matt vance Crestline, OH
balboa44827@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alex Dane
Chicago, IL
hp1990480@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

alan peralas
Spring Valley, CA
happygoluckycheese@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Larry Richter
Pembine, WI
prichter1@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Susan Wheless
San Diego, CA
susanwhele966@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

corey kamkoff
Anchorage, AK
superflycape@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Brian Jones
Reynoldsburg, OH
browns422001@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Lori Mai
Racine, WI
loricmai@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robert Farrow
Dallas, TX
robbyriverside@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Domingo Luna
Houston, TX
domlun@msn.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jon Smith
Red Bluff, CA
preet982010@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

aaron Jessey jamestown, NY
bengal5651@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jerry Wells
Grovetown, GA
jerrywells@ymail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Arin Beddingfield
Appling, GA
Mylightandmyloveforever2000@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eileen Kyriacou
Tarrytown, NY
eileenkyriacou@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

michelle guess
Toledo, OH
mguess@bex.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dennis gelsomino
Boca Raton, FL
dgelsomino@msn.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

mellisa eubar
Arlington, VA
wolfsummoner82@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Timothy Ellis
Butlerville, IN
jensh01@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Carole Bys
Windsor, CT
carolebys@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

stephanie lorenz
Greenville, WI
stlore01@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

deanna cobb
Sanford, ME
gram_e1965@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Charles Earp
Galesburg, IL
rjbfsn563@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ryan Starks
Darby, PA
ryanstarks19@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Douglas Lewis
Philadelphia, PA
DougieMLewis@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ferri Harmon
Pikeville, NC
cuthoe@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Ricardo Maldonado
Meriden, CT
richychabo@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jesse Lugo
Steger, IL
iac6969@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

robert joy
Columbus, IN
bob45joy@gmx.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

karen murphy
Spanaway, WA
kk6758@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Mark McAllister
Brooklyn, NY
shamer4@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

tyler mcclatchy
Williamston, SC mm@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Asanal Hasana
Rockford, IL
legilimshabashkii@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Scott Price
Lancaster, PA
scottrichardprice@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Soledad Birge
Topeka, KS
iceking92@pigmail.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

dean altman
Andrews, SC
daltman54@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kyle Huckelberry
Carrier Mills, IL
no_rules5@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

steve terrell
Atlanta, GA
rosalyn1955@comcast.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

amanda aguillon
Burnet, TX
amandaaguillon80@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Eric Freilich
Boynton Beach, FL
ef2001@bellsouth.net

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

timmy sines
Chillicothe, OH
timmy1919@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rolando Middendorf
Grifton, NC
ellwood16@fausports.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Allen Zheng
Brooklyn, NY
atoz@Live.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

syeg oak
Tampa, FL
sueboxer@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Marc Jones
Monroeville, PA
marc8jones@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

bob snuffer
Anchorage, AK
superflycape1@hotmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Adrian Arriaga
McAllen, TX
spursfan3x@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

jacob zamora
Chillicothe, OH
server349@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Tyler Grim
Barto, PA
tyler.rko.grim@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Monroe Whaley
Mesquite, TX
monroe.whaley@yahoo.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Alyssa Thurston
Rome, NY
awesomeazine1996@aol.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Bitty Kitty
Wichita, KS
bittythekitty@outlook.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Pamela May
Tulsa, OK
pam610am.pm@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Rhonda Woods
Freeport, TX
rhondalwoods@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Steven McNichols
Janesville, WI
sjmcnic@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Jeff Person
San Diego, CA
jeff.person@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Sandy Segur
Defiance, OH
tbone71@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Kendron Eaglin
Katy, TX
shadowclone62@gmail.com

8/7/2014

Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
Office of the Secretary
445 12th Street, SW
Room TW-A325
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners:

Re: MB Docket No. 12-3

I write as a football fan to strongly urge you to maintain the FCC's current broadcast rules now under review. The Sports Blackout Rule has been in place for decades and keeps NFL games on free, over-the-air TV. The NFL, my local community and fans like me all win when home games are sold out. Under the current system, I have access to all of my local team's games on free TV.

I object to the cable and satellite company lobbyists who are trying to change the rules in order to charge exorbitant fees for football games that I can watch right now for free on local television. The current system works – over 99 percent of NFL games were available on local broadcast TV in 2013. Let's keep the current rules and keep the NFL on free, over-the-air TV.

Sincerely,

Robin Thomaston
Double Springs, AL
rlangston25@yahoo.com