Gentleman and Ladies, it would a true loss to television programing if RFD TV were to be removed from your list of programs. It seems to me it's getting harder and harder to find a television channel that the whole family can watch. As violence and sex are on the rise, wholesome programing for the entire family is almost impossible to find, with the exception of public television. I can assure you I an a viewer of both of these channels. Not only do I find RFD TV enjoyable but also very informative and important tool. Yes I am one America's dying breeds, a farmer. But let me tell you the city folks, I understand when you say but we are a urban based company and see no need for rural television programing. But yes remember next time you have a meal or put on your clothes, it was us old country farmers that may that possible! Once again I would ask before making any decisions regarding the removal of RFD TV please take a good hard look at it and remember the impact it will have on rural America.

Respectfully Yours, Peter C. Huff Sr.
