Dear Sirs,

I wish to take a few moments of your time and try to explain the importance of television broadcasting like RFD.

I'm recently retired, but I've partnered with kids and ultimately families through the Big Brothers program for the past 20+ years.

Of grave concern to me is the slippage of values these young men have to encounter.

The advent of cable tv in and of its self is good for certain programming. But, on most mainstream channels it routinely allows drugs, violence, fowl language, degradation of women, and the use of weapons as a solution to routine daily problems.

We as a community where I live and a country where I minister solid family values for as many young people as I can need great broadcasting formats like RFD.

I'm just one voice, but there are many, many more mentors of boys and girls out there that feel this same way.

Please help us, keep RFD broadcasting on as it is.
