

7521771972.txt

Why can large companies not realize that the people that do not live in major cities have different interests than those that do?
If a count was done there is a bigger number of small town people in the U.S. total than in the big cities and even some of them only live there because they have to work. They are still "country" people. KEEP RFDTV AND THE PROGRAMS THEY OFFER.