

7521785926.txt

.The last thing we need is another big media merger. We will end up with higher prices, lousy customer service and lack of competition. If this goes through Comcast will have huge power over what we see, when we see it and what we pay for it. That kind of corporate control is something very concerning.