.The only "innovation" I have seen coming from Comcast is constant increases in my bill with no improvement in service. Given the dependence we all have on internet access and TV for personal communications, news and entertainment, there should be more competition in supplying these services. Today there is virtually none. Allowing a small group of Comcast executives, fortified by an army of lobbyists, to have this control over an ever greater segment of the population is unacceptable. I'm against the Time Warner Cable merger.
