. Time Warner just raised my standard Internet from $34.99 to $57.99. What else went up 66% over the last few months? One year I had 4 increases, one every quarter. I'd go to U-verse except it is not available where I live and because of trees I can't get Direct. These two companies trying to do merger are terrible. Last problem I had required 7 phone calls to finally get my service operating correctly. Seems line was leaking about a block away. This is after I got new HD box and rebooted every time I called to try to get certain channels fixed. Finally third service called fixed problem Cable needs to be cafeteria style as now I'm for a bunch of crap I never watch, don't need and don't want. I might want a total of 12 channels. I should be able to buy what I want instead of having a package deal for $8.95 when I only want on particular channel. One pissed off customer, William B Sauerman
