I live and ranch in the San Francisco Bay Area. I regularly watch many RFDTV programs for entertainment and as a business resource. Research tells us that a significant number of urban consumers are curious about agriculture and RFDTV helps them learn. There are fans all over the country of the music provided by RFDTV, and horse lovers follow the equine shows. TV audiences need diversity in programming, and RFDTV is a wholesome option for the whole family. Should disappear, I will watch TV less and read more.
