RE: MB Docket No. 14-54

Dear Chairman Wheeler:

As the vice president of communications & fund development for the Boys & Girls Club of Tucson, Ariz., which aims to provide programs, professional staff, and a safe environment to help youth develop self-esteem and values, I am thankful for the support which we have received from Comcast and look forward to sustaining this relationship when Comcast and Time Warner Cable merge.

I have firsthand knowledge of Comcast's interest in equipping Tucson's youth with the skills for college and career success. The company has partnered with the Boys & Girls Club for years, and more recently, it supported our technology labs, complete with up-to-date computers and software. In addition to digital literacy, our young members also learn computer safety skills — key for optimal and safe Internet use.

In Arizona and across the country, Comcast is helping to narrow the Digital Divide by providing low-cost, high-speed broadband service to underserved children and families. I understand that the program — Internet Essentials — has already benefitted more than 1.4 million Americans.

Here in Tucson, residents can register for in-person training, provided by Comcast and housed at community-based locations. These free sessions provide information on Internet safety, finding and applying for jobs, and an introduction to Microsoft Office software. The best part is that everyone is eligible — participants do not have to be Comcast customers to take advantage of Internet Essentials.

The Boys & Girls Club of Tucson is proud to partner with Comcast, an exemplary corporate citizen that is addressing the needs of our constituents through the provision of innovation and technology, community-focused programs, and a deep and genuine investment in the communities it reaches.

So that future communities in Arizona and elsewhere can also benefit, I encourage the FCC to approve the proposed transaction between Comcast and Time Warner Cable.

My very best regards,

Lorraine Morgan
