Please continue to carry RFD and Rural TV as channels in your service. Rural America has very little options of programming available to them. These two channels provide valuable information to agricultural producers that enable them to produce their crops more efficiently in order to provide food and fiber for our nation and beyond. The family farmer is still the backbone of American agriculture. Until we started receiving these channels my husband watched very little TV. Now these are the most watched channels in our household. He is willing to use what ever provider will give him these services.
