Please support rural television and do not allow the proposed mergers to eliminate the RFD-TV family of channels from their schedules or change them to premium channels.

Comcast claims that they are primarily for the urban population, but perhaps that urban population would do good to watch a little rural TV, and maybe they would learn what it takes to put a steak on their plate, or that potatoes indeed grow underground! And dropping RFD-TV in Colorado and New Mexico? These Western states are not what I would consider urban.

RFD-TV provides quality programming that does not need censored and that anyone of any age can watch. Please do not let the mergers take them away from us.

Thank you.
