It has been brought to my attention that due to a merger between ATT and DirecTV, I may lose the pleasure of RFDTV viewing. I am not liking this idea at all! RFDTV is a very pleasant place to spend some viewing time. I am very pleased with the fact that they don't have shows that are full of foul language and "adult" situations. I am pleased with the fact that they are truly a family station. It is extremely important to me, and my family, as viewers and subscribers to DirecTV that we continue to have access to RFDTV and rural television. Please see to it that a merger between big companies doesn't take away something really good from us, the individual subscriber and viewer.
