RFD TV is my most watched station by far. As a disabled veteran, needing to live close to a V.A. Hosp. RFD TV is my only connection to my former life...and I am not alone in that feeling. It is the highest rated station for those 50 and above, and its ratings are good overall. I know that you pride yourselves in inclusiveness, diversity, and lack of discrimination; but what about those who are 50 and above who make RFD TV the highest rated station in that age group? What about ALL of the rural people? To call them flyover, or not deserving of a TV station that represents them when most groups of people do have one or more speciality TV stations for their group, is doing them an injustice. City and subarb. people watch RFDTV too. There are horse people, and former rural people who want to stay in touch with their roots all over this great country!! I know people in my V.A. Hosp. Would love to have RFD TV!!!
Thank you so much for your time, I know that it is important.
Respectfully. Heather
