If this merger is allowed it will be just like other big businesses. i.e., Exxon/Mobil, and the banks. Just a couple of businesses will completely control the market, setting the prices and in this case having shows that serve the metropolitan market, not the rural market. The rural people like rural programs. If RFD TV disappears from Comcast, I will no longer be using Comcast, and will use whoever has it, as I am not interested in old reruns of 1960's programming. Thank you.
