The merger of these media companies and the threat to RFD TV is of great concern to me. My husband and I raise cattle and we depend on the information we see on RFD TV on a daily basis. No other news station or network provide the information that we find on RFD TV. Many ranchers and farmers depend on this station for market updates as well as valuable information that helps them to do their job better. The farmers and ranchers of this country are a very important group who are vital to the well-being of our nation. We feed the nation as well as the world. I encourage you to keep RFD TV alive for this great group of people.
