The thoughts of losing a vital channel like RFD-TV is preposterous. If a channel that is losing viewership like Al -Jazeera is kept then RFD-TV with positive and educational programming should be placed on a pedestal in comparison. The nation as a whole needs the opportunity to learn where and how their food is produced. Way too many city folk are ignorant of the contribution that RFD-TV presents. In this era of constant repetitious dialogue a voice of singular importance needs to be heard. I know because I live in the city and most folks are ignorant of where and how the production of the food they consume comes from. I find RF-TV most important!
