I urge you to consider the long term effect this change will make. Please see past partisan politics, personal interest, and the current state of the world, and think to the future. The internet is an amazing gift for humanity, and one that is only in its infancy. How will allowing companies to shape the internet look in 100 years? Are we really in a position to dictate how the internet should work, when it really belongs to human race?

Thank you for opening up comments to the public, and your hard work and service. I sincerely hope you find a solution that doesn't set a dangerous president for tampering with free speech, and the spirit of innovation our country holds so dear.
