

7521825363.txt

I am worried about the portability of cellphone numbers. It seems that more and more people nowadays have cellphone numbers with area codes that do not match their present locations. There seems to be no requirement that people who move to a new area permanently get a new cellphone number.