I am of the opinion that access to the internet should be a basic right. Additionally EQUAL access to the internet should be a basic right. Traffic should be anonymous and no traffic should be privileged above other traffic, regardless of the source and destination.

It is the responsibility of Communications Providers to connect endpoints with an absolutely minimal amount of interference. Content providers and consumers already pay for the bandwidth we use. Additional gate fees for the internet will only stifle creativity and raise the cost of existing in the virtual space.

Additionally a non-open internet sets a dangerous precedent for censorship. All information on the internet should be freely accessible, no matter how controversial. Prohibiting access with high fees or strangled rates of transmission is tantamount to physically denying access.
