There is no matter of more importance before the FCC than the matter of a free and non-throttled internet. To allow the cable companies and phone companies to further solidify their monopoly is to allow corruption to rule the day. The internet was not put in place by the cable companies and phone companies. It was put in place by the government to allow for the FREE exchange of ideas. It has evolved and become the greatest way to exchange ideas among the WORLD not just the US. If you are to allow the monopolistic Cable and phone companies to get their way and put in place a layered scheme then you might as well just quit as you aren't even doing the job you were put in place to do. Frankly I and others like me have lost faith that you will not do the right thing and will instead give in to the cable and phone companies.. For proof we only need to look at history.. ONCE BEFORE UNDER THE TELECOMMUNICATIONS ACT OF 1996, WHEN CABLE AND PHONE COMPANIES WERE GIVEN OVER 3 BILLION DOLLARS TO UPGRADE INFRASTRUCTURE. Not one single dollar was spent to upgrade infrastructure. NOT ONE! Nothing was done then.
