Net neutrality should be a basic human right and not something which can be bought out and/or sold for a profit. These large companies already have the resources and are being greedy for more. The government should not become more privatized and favoritism shouldn't be shown to those who are already super upper class and wish to be even higher in the social strata. The government was made by the people for the people and the net neutrality should to be maintained. It wont just affect certain parts of the country, it will affect all parts. From the president to the homeless and repercussions could be alot more than a few angry protesters on the street. It is really not a wise decision and should not be passed.
