I'm an e-book author dependent on an open and equal internet where readers are able to easily find my books, website and blog. My web host is a small company, not one of the giants, that would not be able to afford to pay for faster access. Many small businesses will be hurt if the telecoms and cable companies get their way in this matter.

Please decide in favor of We the People, not the handful of large companies that would be the only ones to profit.
