

7521838566.txt

The NFL is an immensely successful private organization that no longer needs the support of the federal government for it to continue to operate. Blackout rules are an anachronism. If the NFL wishes to continue to enforce them, it should have to do so in a modern market.